DEATH OF CAPT. I. S. WATERBURY -The Harrisburg Telegraph, in speaking of the death of Capt. I. S. Waterbury, who was formerly a citizen of Carlisle, Says:

"When war was declared against Mexico he was one of the first to join the ranks of the meron Guards, in which company he held a lieutenaut's commission. He was engaged in all the conflicts, from the taking of Vera Cruz to the entrance of the army into the Grand Plaza of the city of Mexico, and never received a wound of any kind, and even es caped the diseases incident to the country and imp life, which have sent to their long homes all but a few survivors of that memorable war. When the present rebellion broken out-the very day the flag of Fort Sumter was fired upon-Captain Waterbury was in the street recruiting and drilling men. He served as Adjutant of the Second regiment of three months' men, and we are credibly informed that during a greater portion of the time the regiment was in the field he performed the duties of all the field officers. As soon as his regiment returned, he commenced recruiting a company, and succeeded in getting the full complement of men in a very short time, and was attached to the Rif fifth regiment, Colonel Richard White. For upwards of two years he endured the burning sands of the Southern sea shore, and escaped the ills produced by the malarious swamps of South Carolina, only to be stricken down by the rays of a sun less vertical, and die while the loud huzzas of victory were ringing in his cars. He did not fall as the her wishes to fall-with his face to the foe-but he died in the service of his country, beneath the waving of its banner borne on to certain victory; and, with these surroundings, is .it not probable that he passed away.

"Like a glorious roll of drums. In the spirit of a dream?

> For the Herald. A Scene in my College days. FOR THE BOYS AT DICKINSON.

It was a lovely morning the sun arose. splendor, flooding the earth with a stream of nellow light; myriads of birds made the cam pus of old Dickinson ring with their; melody but within those walls was sorrow, for a kindred spirit, a boon companion, was about to take his departure to mingle in the busy scenes of active life. To go out upon the broad stage of the world's drama, there to act his part for good or evil. His college days were fled, and with a sad heart he arose on that beautiful morning.

But time and tide wait for no man and the hour draws nigh when he must bid farewell to Dickinson and all its joys to Carlisle and all its cherished memories. His companions gather around him, the brave, true hearted—each is there, and as they grasp his hand, tears start to his eyes in sorrow. And when the train drew near, thundering over the rail, waking the mountain echoes from their quiet sleep, with a shout they rushed towards him, and bore him aloft in triumph, upon their shoulders to the cars, so soon to carry him a-way from the loved scenes of his youth. But the shrill whistle warms him of the departure of the iron horse; one last grasp of Friendship, one last look, and he is far away from Dickinson.

What memories crowd upon his soul! thousand tender recollections of boy hood's careless, joyous hours! He remembers the time when the sound of Doctor's ominous voice struck terror to his beart, when he doffed his hat to Freshmen green, and trembled, when a Senior passed. He thinks of the time when ne has joined the merry dance, or the festive scenes of mirth, where Bacchus ruled and the jovial bowl oft passed around, or to a moon light converse sweet, held with some fair maid whom he cherished with youth's ardent love.
All these are gone—gone; and with sadness he gives farewell to Dickinson, thus;

Tarewell, farewell my college home, In other halls I soon shall roam, And, perhaps, I never more may come

Farewell, I leave thee with regret; The happy hours I'll ne'er forget, When youth, and joy, and pleasure met

At Dickinson. Farowell companions, chosen few ! A place, fresh as the morning's dew, In memory, I'll have for you.

And Dickinson.

Registered bonds are re-corded on the books of the U.S. Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bone are payable to bearer, and are more convenient f commercial uses. I subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their bonds draw incerest from March ist, by paying the accrued interest in coin—(or in United Slates notes, or the notes of National Banks, adding fifty percent for premium,) or voceive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit. As these bonds are EXEMPT FROM MUNICIPAL OR STATE. bonds are EXEMPT FROM MUNICIPAL OR STATE TAXXTION, their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts, of the country.

At the present rate of premium on gold they pay OVER EIGHT per cent interest in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment.

It is believed that no securities offer so, great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of U. S bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties or stock companies or segurate communities only is pledged for payment, while for the dobts of the United States the whole property rate communities only is piculae to hayment, white for the dobts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to occupe the payment of both principal and interest in coin.

These bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest.

Thus be useful to state in this connection that the total Funded Debt of the United States on which interest is payable in gold, on the 3d day of March, 1864, was $708,905,000. The interest on this dobt for, the coming fiscal year will be $45,871,126, while the customs revenue in gold for the current fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1864, has been so far at the rate of over $100,000,000 per anum.

June 30th; 1864, has been so far at the rate of over $100,000,000 per annum.

It will be seen that even the present gold revenues of the Government are largely in excess of the wants, of the Treasurer for, the payment of gold interest, while the recent increase of the tariff will doubtless raise the chinual receipts afrom customs on the same amount of importations to $150,000,000 per ainsum.

Instructions to $150,000,000 per ainsum.

Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued from the U.S. Treasury until March 25, but in the first three of April the subscriptions argained more than Ten Millions a week. Subscriptions will be received by the First National Bank of Carlisle, and by all National Banks which are depositaries o Public money, and all respectable. Banks and Banker throughout the country, (acting as agents, of the Na-tional Depositary Banks,) will furnish further Infor-mation-on application and afford every facility to sub-scribers.
