"I am a chreful cender of the telegrams, and find that for the last three months—ever since Lincoln was re-nominated—the Federals have won fifty-nine battles, while during the same period they did not admit a sing everse! The solution of this curious militar problem is easy. Mr. Lincoln is simply car rying out General Halleck's celebrated max ims, and it will therefore be utterly impossible to get at the truth until the President election is over. Your readers would there fore do well to receive the despatches which will be punished between this and the 8th of November, with very great reserve, the truth just now being fatal to Mr. Lincoln's chance of re-election. 3: ::

and other words, political party bases its hopes of success upon reverses to the Union armies in the field! And this is Democra cy modern Democracy! The party that claims to be the successor of the grand old organization of the days of Jefferson, Madison, Jackson and Decator! They insult the cause of the Union by making its damage their gain, and they insult the whole American people, by the assumtion that it is neces sary to deceive them by false stories of Federal vidtories in order to keep them firm in their loyalty. being THE MAN OF SIXTY.

Ten years, more or less, and what boots i to him whether he shall have rolled in wealth or crept along up the hill of life; whether he shall have been mostly a foot-man in the jour-ney, or else have been driven by his liveried coachman in a carriage all burnished and bright, drawn by his stately and chafing steeds; whether he shall have met Dame Forune at once on his entrance into life's pageant, and followed her train to the exit, or first opened his eyes in the humblest cot, and toiled and struggled all the way through!

Not that these opposites in condition make no difference to the man whilst he lives, for they do, in various ways, enhancing or abet-ting the pleasure and comfort of life; but that, on the one hand, he is about surfeited with the foibles and fashions of a vain, fleeting world—on the other, he feels that his toils and trials are soon to be over, and he shall know no more weariness or sadness. The years, over sixty, how fast, like the last sands in the hour-glass, will they run out? "How soon," says the man to himself, "alas! how soon shall I be doomed to say, with the preacher, 'Vanity of vanites, all is vanity!' Yes, I feel it even now as I look back on the past, and begin to feel that I am trembling on the verge of a vaster state of being, an eternal mode of existence, spiritual and higher than this. what to me, then, is it that all my luxury, and pomp, and power had no fitting relation to my new state of being; that, though I wore a crown here, I annot take it yonder; though thousands bowed at my beck in this world, none so poor a to do me reverence in that to which I am go ing; though I possessed houses and lands here and called them by my own name, not an acre of the one nor a stone of the other can I carry with me across the Jordan, to set up there as a monument of the past! No: must cross that lone river naked and alor "And I, too, poor man that I am, struggling with life's tossing billows, toiling hard for daily bread and finding almost none, ruffled by many a disappointed, baffled in many a scheme, hoping against hope, yet bearing up-manfully against it all, though the mountains shake with the swelling of the sens, what is it all to me! Soon the swelling seas will subside, the billows will sink into quiet calm, better hopes will be realized, the dreary past and present will have become passing shadows, and the future an endure substance."

GENERAL PHIL. SHERIDAN.-General Sheridan being the "hero of the hour," the following description of him, given some time since in one of Mr. B. F. Taylor, s letters from Washington, will be interesting at this time : "There is no waste timber about Sheridan not much of him, physically, but snugly put together. A square face, a warm black eye, a pleasant smile, a reach of under jaw, show ing that 'when he will, he will, you may depend on't ;' black hair trimmed round like a garden border; no Hyperion curl about him, any more than there was about Cromwell's troopers, and altogether impressing you with the truth that there is just about as much enerergy packed away in about the smallest space you ever saw in your life. Men ranging down from medium size to little, with exceptions enough to prove the rule, seem to earry the day among the heroes. Moses was something of a general, but no Falstaff; Alexander the Great and Peter the Great were little; Cromwell was no giant, and as for Napoleon-why he was but the 'Little Corporal!' Sheridan is a capital executive officer; perhaps he would be hardly equal to planning a great campaign, but Jehu!wouldn't he drive it! With a good piece of his head behind his ears, and hardly reverence enough for a Mandarin, he is not afraid of the face of clay. As Chief of Cavalry, he is indeed chief among ten thousand.

contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the veneral infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and "from parents to children, unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which pro-duce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, cruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz. purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is compounded from the most effectual anti-dotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known-and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in Ayen's American Almanac, which is furnished to the druggists for granitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the cure of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more effectual than any other which has ever been available to them.
