Speech of Secretary Seward. Washington, Nov. 10.—The several Lincoln and Johson Clubs of the District of Columbia called on President Lincoln tonight and gave him a serenade in honor of als re-election. There was in addition an immense concource of spectators of both salute was fired from a field-piece near by, which added to the spirit and enthusiasm of

The President appeared at an upper window, and when the cheers with which he was greeted ceased, he spoke as follows. It has long been a grave question wheth er any Government not too strong for the liberties of its, people can be strong enough to maintain its own existence in great emergencies. On this point the present rebellion brought our Republic to a severe test; and a Presidential election occurring in regular course, during the rebellion, ad hed not a little to the strain.

If the loyal people united were put to the numer of their strength by the rebellion, must they not fail when divided and purtially paralyzed by a political war among themselves? But the election was a necessity. We cannot have free government with-out elections; and if the rebellion could force us to forgo or postpone a national election, it might fairly claim to have already conred and rained us!

The strife of the election is but human nature. Practically applied to the facts of the case, what has occurred in this case must ever occur in similar cases. Human nature will not change and in any future great national trial, compared with the men of this we shall have as weak and as strong, as silly and as wise, as bad and as good. Let us therefore study the incidents of this as philosophy-to learn wisdom from them, and none of them as wrongs to be revenged. [Cheere.] But the election, along with its incidental and undesirable strife, has done good too.— It has demonstrated that a people's Govern-ment can sustain a national election in the midst of a great civil war. I Renewed cheering.] Until now it has not been known to the world that this was a possibility. It shows at once how sound and how strong we still are. It shows that even among the candidates of the same party we who are most devoted to the Union and most opposed to treason can receive most of the peo-ple's votes. [Applause.] It shows also, to an extent as yet unknown, that we have more men now than we had when the war began? Gold is good in its place, but living brave, patriotic men are better than For my own part, I have striven and shad here I have not willingly planted a thorn in | the whole.

any man's bosom.

While I am deeply sensible of the high compliment of a re-election, and duly grateful, as I trust to Almighty God, for having directed my countrymen to a right conclusion, as I think, for their own good, it adds nothing to my satisfaction that any other man may be disappointed or paiend by the re-Cheers.

May I ask those who have not differed Kansas, severely wounded: 1st Mo Cav., 2 with me to join with me in this same spirit men severely wounded, 3d Mo. Cav., 2 men toward those who have? And now let q e close by asking three hearty cheers for our brave soldiers and seamen, and their gallant commanders.

The three cheers were then given, accounpanied by music and the sound of cannon. - i men. The crowd then, in part, proceeded to the residence of Secretary Seward, who, in the course of his remarks, said he came on the stage of action some years after the Revolutionary War, and used to hear his parents talk about the wast number of Tories who were opposed to the war, and what surprised more. where they had gone to! [Laughter.]

During the war of 1812 the Federalist used to carry intervening elections juts as the Democrats carried the election in New York in 1862. But when the war came to a close, and ended in victory, we had the most of good feeling, and from that time till now we cannot find an old Federalists. In his judgment, when we all come together, and when the "Stars and Stripes" again wave over Richmond, in two or three years you will have to look right sharp to find a Secessionist or a Rebel sympathizer. [Laughter and applause.]

After referring to the assertion that the war was a failure, he said: During the first year of the war the African slave trade in and in the fourth Slavery was abolished in Maryland! If the Democrats think the war is a failure thus far, when Congresscomes to-gether they will adopt a Constitutional mony, and resume our bright career among the notions, and advance the interest of the men from his ship, in charge of Lieut. Dowcountry, and freedom, self government, and humanity. All men will come to see in the charged upon Fort Bateman, capturing as lead to a charge of both sexes President a thoroughly loyal, devoted and bout forty prisoners. The rebels finding patriotic and benevolent man; and he will things rather too severe, evenuated the town immediately. We took forty pieces of light Adams, and Jackson, among the benefactors artillery, together with a large quantity of the human race! [Applause.]

Secretary Welles was next serenaded. and, in the course of his remarks, said that the gallant men of the army and navy, whether in the storm of battle, or the night-watch, or the bivouac, would rejoice with those who had paid him this compliment on the result of the late election which had endorsed the President, who had firmly stood by them.—

In the engagement one of the rebel magazines was blown up by our boats, and set fire to the town. All the houses on water In the name of the officers and men of our gallant navy he heartily joined in these congratulations, and, in response to his suggesn, three cheers were given for the navay. Maj.-Gen. Ord being called for, appeared and merely said that while fighting armed Rebels they had achieved a victory over their foes at home, and now with a strong pull, and a pull altogether, we will soon knock down the rebellion.

The people next proceeded to the residences of Secretary Fessenden and Secretary Stanton and Secretary Usher, but they did not make their appearance. Attorney General Bates made a brief congratulatory speech, and thus ended the night's proceedings.

Sharp Cavalry Fights on Friday and Saturday .- The Rebels Driven Back with Severe Loss .- They are Pursued Beyond Front Royal.-2Guns and 150 Prisoners Taken. HEADQUARTERS SIXTH ARMY CORPS, MID-DLE MILITARY DEPARTMENT, NOVEMBER 12.—A cavalry skirmish took place yesterday afternoon, between our cavalry under Custer and Merritt, and the rebel cavalry. Custer and Merritt, and the rebel cavalry. The heaviest firing was on the left of our line. Acting under orders previously issued, our cavalry commenced fulling back very rapidly when the rebels came suddenly upon our reserve, when they were received with several heavy volleys and hastily retreated.

The object of this reconnoissance on the part of the robels was doubtless to the strength and ascertain our position on the new line taken up by our troops on the 9tn instant.

General Sheridan's army now lies encamped near Kearnstown, about four miles south of Winchester. The ground we now occupy is the same on which General Shields ought Stonewall Jackson, and finally drove him back to Cedar Creek.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTH ARMY CORPS, in the Field, near Kearnstown, Virginia, No-vember 12.—General Sheridan's change of position from Cedar creek to Kearnstown has induced the rebels to gain advance down the valley. At an early hour this morning skirmishing was resumed with great briskness along the whole cavalry line; but the rebels were rather weak in numbers or spir-it; for they could not be induced to follow up our pickets, who in obedience to orders foll rapidly back when the firing commenced. This system of tactics not seeming to draw the enemy on to our main lines, General

Sheridan sent off a large force of cavalry for the purpose of coaxing a fight out of the re-bels. Our men are in high spirits at the prospect of having another fight before the campaign closes, and hope that the rebels have brought a large number of guns down

MARTINSBURG, VA., November 13,-Im bortant news is just in from General Sheri-dan, up to midnight. The strategic reconnoissance by our cavalry on Friday caused the enemy's cavalry, under Lomax, to advance against our lines on Saturday morning. Considerable fighting ensued, during which the enemy were repulsed with great loss. General Sheridan then ordered Coloral Special to the state of the same through the sa nel Powell to pursue them in their flight: this he did with the greatest vigor and suc-

He drove them through and beyond Front Royal, and captured two guns, one hundred and fifty prisoners, several wagons, and a large number of horses. Our losses are said to have been considerable, as the fighting was extremely warm for short time. No infant-ry was engaged, but Generals Sheridan and Torbert were both at the front in person, with the cavalry, and made very short work of the fighting.

Colonel Powel conducted the pursuit very handsomely, and fairly merits the success which attended it. The escort which came in with dispatches from General Sheridan last night was fired on by guerrillas, when just beyond Bunker Hill, but they fled when the fire was returned by our cavalry. The escort was composed of some twenty five of the 17th Pennsylvania Cavalry, under command of Lieuten-

RAILROAD SMASH UP.—Two freight trains on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad collided in the neighborhood of Dixmont, about half past nine o'clock on Tues-day morning, wrecking the engine and smash-ing the caboose car of one train, smashing several stock cars and killing a number of cattle on the others. The first train had checked up on account of the engine giving out, and the other train, which was running very close and with considerable velocity, ran into it, causing the damage above noted. The trains that followed were detained a short time while the wreck was being cleared.

Supplies were also promptly forwarded to the scene of con-flict, after each of the great battles which burg—on the 12th and 13th to Danville Va. courred near our border. Since the establishment of the hospital all their energies have been required to meet its wants. One of the very largest in this country, with accomodations for twenty-three hundred men, now has over sixteen hundred patients needing attention, with the prospect of fresh arrivals daily. Five hundred additional were expected from Gen. Sheridan's army. Its close proximity to the border has made it a receiving Hospital for many wounded, just from the battle-field, and that valuable lives have been saved to their country and their loved ones at home, by the care bestowed upon them at York.

Of eight thousand three hundred patients under treatment since the formation of that Hospital, (of whom it is a remarkable fact 135 have died,) nearly all have shared the benefits of this Society, and many would have suffered without it. With the best arrangements possible, and best intentions, there is a point in every such institu-tion which Government provision does not each, and where some other agency is need-Especially is it so in an active campaign like the present, when officers have not time to attend to descriptive lists and necessary papers, and consequently men can draw neither money nor clothing. While the number of patients has doubled, receipts from abroad have greatly

The author has unfolded new beauties in the doctrine of the Gospel, and has shown how much there is in the "Voice of Blood," to allure men from the paths of sin and folly to those that lead to Eternal Life. He advances no new theories, nor does he discuss any of the perplexing questions that have done so much to produce apparent differences in the Christian Church; but in a simple and beautiful style he points out the many precious truths which adorn the pages of Holy Writ. Those who love the poetry of the Gospel, and who believe that a christian's life should be full of the joys that spring from pure and holv thoughts, will read with delight this muchneeded contribution to our religious litera-

THE VOICE OF BLOOD. Y THE SPHERE OF NATURE AND OF THE SPING.
IT WORLD: ITS TYPICAL AND PROPHETIC UTTERANCES AS THE MOUTHPIEDS OF GOD AND OF MAN: ITS OUTCRIES AGAINST MAN AND IN HIS BEHALF.

By Rev. Samuel Philips, A. M., Pastor of the Reformed Church, Carlisle, Pa., Auditor of "Genthsemans and the Cross," "The Christian Home." Cross," "The Christian Home."

The object of this work is to popularise the theory of of fituman Redemption through Blood from a new standpoint; to present its historical and practical anspects in an attractive form, suitod to the laste of the general reader. The subject is movel, yet eminently is Berjutural, and adapted to that age of strife and bloodshed in which we now live. The Contents of, this volume will convey an idea of its character, and design. The following are the Chapters of which the book is composed:

Chapter 1.—Yoloca.

"II.—Blood.

RECOMMENDATION. From Rev. Dr. S. R. Fisher, Editor of the Massenger:
The style is pleasing and attractive, and the tone of plety, which prevades it deep and eminently practical.
The tendency of the work is decidedly good.
From C. H. Balsbaugh, Esq.
The more I read your work, the more does the beauty and wonder of the subject whold. I am stunned with the terrific denunciations you burl against the sinner, but much more charmed with your sweet poetic representations of human desting through Blood.—
I love the book because it not only makes me tremble, on account of my sins, but also gladness and inspires me with the hope of a complete and eternal emmodpation from sin through the Blood of atonement.—
