" "OLD GRUBER." dist ministers was "Old Gruber." He was a real 'Hard shell.' On one occasion, he assisted in divine worship, where a young Presbyterian olergymen preached violently against some of the doctrines of Methodism. Brother Gruber was asked to close the services with prayer, which he did, and as is customary, prayed for the minister. "Oh Lord" said he, bless the preacher who has preached to us this morning, and make his heart as soft as his head is, and then he'll do some good.' The above from the Sierra Democrat brings to mind a dozen stories about that good old eccentric man. We remember him from our earliest boyhood; every dog and cat, and every tobacco chewer and over-dressed lady has had reason to remember 'Rather Gruber,' and wee Le to the unfortunate youngster whom he undertook to reprove. Arriving at the house of one of the brethren, his first business, was to drive out the dogs and cats, and then see that his horse was taken care of. Once, at a camp-meeting, a rather flashily ed lady entered the altar-gate while the old man was preaching, and walked back and forth, seemingly afraid to sit on the rude benches, for fear of spoiling her finery. She had an ostrich feather in her head dress, which was a sore abomination in the old man's eyes, and stopping in the midst of a pathetic passage, he exclaimed.

goose fly out!" Poor old Father Gruber! He once laid a grape vine over our shoulders, with no very gentle hand, for smoking in the at camp-meeting. The good old soul didn,t know that we had "dismissed from divine service," and were waiting on a bright-fellow-worshipper whom we had left there on the anxious bench!-Sierra Citizen.

"Brethren, open the gate, and let that WAR Horses.—General Washington had two favorite horses; one, a large elegant parade horse of a chesnut color, highspirited and of a gallant carriage; this had belonged to the British army; the other was smaller, and his color sorrel. This he used always to ride in time of action; so that whenever the General mounted him, the word ran through the ranks.-"We have business on hand."

At the battle of Germantown, General Wayne road his gallant roan, and in charging the enemy, his horse received a wound in the head, and fell, as was supposed dead. Two days after, the roan returned to the American camp, not materially injured and was again fit for service.

During the battle of Waterloo, some of the horses, as they lay on the ground. having recovered from the first agony of their wounds, fell to eating the grass about them, thus surrounding themselves with a circle of bare ground, the limited extent of which showed their weakness; others of these interesting animals were observed quietly grazing in the middle of the field, between the two hostile lines, their riders having been shot off their backs; and the balls that flew over their heads and the roaring behind and before caused no respite of the usual instinct of their nature. When a charge of cavalry went past near to any of these stray horses, the trained Skirts, animals would set off, form themselves in the rear of their mounted companions, and though without riders, gallop strenuously along with the rest, not stopping or flinching when the fatal shock with the enemy took place.

An Enterprising Agent.—An enterprising travening agent for a well-known Cleveland tomb-stone manufactory, recently made a visit to a small town in a neighboring county. Hearing in the village that a man in the remote part of the township had lest his wife, he thought he would go and see him, and offer him consolation and a gravestone, on his usual reasonable good terms. He started; the road was a horribly frightful one, persevered, and arrived at the bereaved man's house. Bereaved man's bired girl told the agent that the bereaved man was splitting rails, "over on the pastur, "about two miles. The indefatigable agent mounted his horse and started for the "pastur." After falling into all manner of mud-holes, scratching himself with the briers, and tumbling over decayed logs, the agent at last found the bereaved man. a subdued voice he asked the man if he had lost his wife. The man said he had .-The agent was very sorry to hear it, and sympathized very deeply with the man in his sorrow; but death he said, was an insatiate archer, and shot down all, of both high and low degree. He informed the man that " what was his loss was her gain," and would be glad to sell him a gravestone to mark the spot where the loved one slept-marble or common stone. as he chose, at prices defying competi-tion. The bereaved man said there was a slight difficulty in this way. "Haven't you lost your wife?" inquired the agent. "Why, yes,—I have," said the man, "but EYRE & LANDELL, a gravestone ain't necessary; for you see the curied criter ain't dead—she scoot-

DIETING .- Dieting is usually considered to mean the same thing as a kind of starvation. The idea which the educated physician attaches to the term is a judic-ious regulation of the quantity and quality of the food, according to the circumstance of each case. A healthy man may diet himself in order to keep well; an invalid may diet with a view to the recovery of his health; yet the things eaten by the two will widely differ in their nature, , bulk, and mode of preparation. A vast multitude are suffering hourly by the horrors of dyspepsia; no two are precisely alike in all points, since there is an endless variety of combinations as to age, sex, occupation, temperament, etc. Yet, dyspepsia is always brought on by over irregular cating; it could be banished from the world in a generation if the ennorm world in a generation will be a supplied to the end of the end cases out of four, foster idleness, gluttony, and every evil thing. As the rich can get anything to eat or drink when they want it, they with indulged children; bring on dyspepsie by eating irregularly and with-out an appetite. The poor—those who have to work for a living—induce the horout an appetiie. The poor—those who have to work for a living—induce the horrible desease by eating too rapidly and at unseasonable hours; mainly by eating heartily at supper, and going to bed within an hour or two afterwards. In the heyday of youth and manly vigor there may not for a while he noticed any special ill effect from such a practice—in truth, it is at first inappreciable; but it is cumulative, and impossible not to manifest itself in due time.

multitudes of men. It either produces or, is produced by an enfectled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes interest to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, fifth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver comduce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver com-plaints; on the skin, cruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, nffections. These are naving the same origin, require the same remedy, viz. purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" licalthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is compounded from the most effectual antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tu-berculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitu-tions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human tions has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sursaparilla in alterative power. By its aid you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood; purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any lurk within the system or burst out on any part of it.

We know the public have been deceived by many compounds of Sarsaparilla, that promised much and did nothing; but they will neither be deceived nor disappointed in this. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the curo of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more effectual than any other which has ever been available to them.
