THE COMING FOURTH OF JULY.-In various localities efforts are already being inaugurated for making extensive preparations for a grand celebration of the anniversary of the Declaration of our National Independence. It is suggested in some places to make this day the occasion of a celebration of Peace. No day has yet been designated for that purpose, nor has the President officially declared a peace. The few miserable remnants of the rebel hordes who are hiding and skulking in the mountains, or prowling in hidden inlets of the ocean, will soon be smoked out of their hiding pleces, when the nominal peace we are now enjoying will be confirmed by an official edict of the President. There is some reasonable assurance for indulging in the belief that the coming Fourth will be the eventual day fixed upon by President Jourson. It will then be doubly venerated as a holiday, for the two most momentous events that ever rose in the history of our free Republic.

In view of the importance attached to the coming Fourth of July, our citizens should | country lives! Many have returned to us forthwith make some active preparations for the celebration of the day. We owe it to our returned soldiers to give them an appropriate welcome home, and no more fitting day could be selected. These men have risked life and limb in our defence and in the defence of the Un.on, and certainly a glorious reception should be given them. Now is the time to consider the matter maturely, and devise mple preparations.

CURRIDEN, editor of the Hagerstown Herald and Torch, to Miss KATE ALTICK, of Shippens. that the great want of the town, a suitable place for interment, is likely to be supplied. Our present grave-yard is already filled to such an extent, that we are informed, it is difficult to dig a new grave without disturbing the remains of those who have, in the course of time, been placed there. This, if true, seems sad, and shows that a new location is required. We are pleased, therefore, to know that new ground has been selected for a Cemetery, and that the location promises to be what the public are in need of. The lot selected is the beautiful piece of ground on the eastern side of the borough, now owned by WM. M. PENROSE, Esq. A competent engineer has examined the place and pronounced in its favor, above every other site in the vicinity. His report and plot will be ready for the public in a few days. The design is to make the cost of interment low enough to justify almost any terment low enough to justify almost any one in buying a lot. Mr. A. B. Ewing, of TALLOW, Carlisle, whose energy and enterprise are well known, is at the head of the project.
