DRIGGS' NEW PATENT.

ARE the only Instruments constructed on a truly scientific principle. They have gre t er strength and will remain longer in sune than any other Piano. The construction is simple and natural all the extranecus lumber in the body of the instru ment is dispensed with; the sound boards are mere y two arched planks of thin wood, like the front and back of a violin; the strings are attached to a strong from frame, which is separated and entirely independ ent of 'he case, thereby dispensing with the old harp form of stringing, by substituting straight bridges, preserving at the same time the Over Strung Bass, which Mr. Driggs is the inventor. By these improv ments we gain much more vibratory power, at the same time preserving all its purity and richness of I bey have received the highest testimonials from th

Its principle, by which great increase of vibratory power is obtained, being very simple and perfectly pholosophical. Gentlemen:—I have recently een laboring under the distressing effects of indigestion, accompanied by a prostration of the nervous system. Numerous reneities were recommended by friends, and some of them tested, but without relief. Your Heofiand's German bitters were recommended by persuins who had tried them, and whose lavorable mention of these bitters induced one to try them. I must confess that I had an aversion to "atem Medicines from the "thousand and one" quack "Bitters" whose only aims seems to to pain off sweetened and drugged liquor upon the community in a siy way, and the tendeucy ci which, I lear, is to make many a confirmed drunkard. Upon learning that you, swas really a medicinal pripriation I took it with happy effect. Its action, not only upon the st mach, but upon the nervous system, was prompt and gra lifting I feel that I have derived few bottles.

Very respectfully yours.

Very respectfully your W. D. SEIGFRIED,

No. 254 Shackamaxon Street, From A. M Spangler, Editor of the Culturist, No 25 North Sixth Street. PHILADELPHIA, July 15, 1865. Some eighteen months since I was a sovere sufferer from propepts. I was not only unable to take plained without uffering great distress, but has been go debiitated as to be almost unfitted for active buffor debititated as to be almost unfitted for active bush uses of an kind.

Atter trying a variety of sis-called remedies, all of which prived worthises. I was induced at the suggestion of a medical friend. to tive Hoofland's German Bitters a trial. I accordingly purchased six bottless which were taken in accordince with your directions. The result was complete removal of all distressing symptoms, after ealing or drinking, and a full restoration of strength, so that I now eat all ordinary kind of nod with impurity, and amush to attend to all the actives duties of a large and arduous business as inters were manifested velors I had taken the first bottle.

I have also used it in my family with the happiest resuits, and take great pleasure n adding my testinory to that of the many others who have been benefitted by them. I find great benefit from the use of a bottle in the pring and fall. They not only create a vigorous appelite, but give a health one to the stomach who the strengthen in its die astive powers.

If the above testimony will be the means of inducing any who suffer from dyspepsia to give your bitters a trial (when it, I feel confident will give them relief,) it is at your service:
