Y. Herald. ----

PRESIDENT JOHNSON sent word to the South Carolina Convention that he would not recognize that State as in the Union until the Convention repudiated the rebel debt. The Convention refused to do this. And now Andrew Johnson declares that Congress is treasonable because it refused to admit her delegates with the other traitors, into Congress. Isn't Andrew the most consistent gentleman in all this world ?.

Is one rebel soldier entitled to as much power in the Government as two boys in blue? Andrew Johnson thinks so: Let all who have the same opinion sustain the Pres-
