Asthma, and Consumption.
Probably n tetore in the whole history of medicine, has enything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints.
Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known.
Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for inciplent communition, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attack of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to sold and coughs, all should be provided with this an tidote for them.
Although actived Consumption is thought incurs Coughs, Colds, Whoopin: Cough, Bronchitie, and coughs, an should be provided with this an tidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurs ble, still a great number of eases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the par iont restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So ec. plue is its mastery over the disorders of the Lunga and Throat, that the most obsituate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
