The frame stable attached to the property of J. and J. Bosler, situated on the alley running parallel with North street, between North and Penn streets, was entirely destroyed by fire on Tuesday evening last. It was discovered about half-past eight o'clock. The firemen were promptly on the ground, and thus provented what would otherwise have been a terrible conflagration. The loss is about $700, on which there is an in surance. The stock had all been safely removed; there were about five tons of hay consumed.

And that they are bogus, is plainly proven from the fact of their failing in every instance, to cure this dreadful malady. Whilst, on the other hand, there are scores who will testify to the true merits of the original Stoey cure. It may be remembered, however, that Dr. William Stoey, in his time, had this discovery patented, after which, we learn from mily connections, he offered it to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, for the benefit of the State, at $12,000. He was, however, refused this amount, but was offered $8,000, which sum he refused to take. We are informed by some of the family, that the proceedings of this transaction can still be seen on the records at Harrisburg. If this be an infallible cure for the bite of a mad dog, $10,000 or $15,000 would be a small sum to pay for it, for the benefit of the State, that all might have it at hand in the hour of emergency, and affliction. Money is spent, and appropriated for purposes that are not half so beneficial to the people as a remedy like this would be. Scores of valuable lives might be saved, annually, as well as oceans of trouble averted. It would be no more than just and right, for our Legislature to approthe divulgement of this secret, and the right to publish it for the benefit of any who may fall victims to this alarming malady. If there be a certain cure, one not be purchased, at any price, for the temporal salvation of those who may fall victims: RUN OFF.

Mr. Jesse Zeigler, sr., of Middlesex township, met with an accident on Monday, which might have resulted seriously. Mr. Zeigler and-son were driving in a sleigh, and when not far from Mr. T. W. Chambers', esq., a large black dog jumped up on the fence which gave sudden fright to the horse, causing him to run at full speed, and to become unmanageable. He did not go far, however, until the young man was thrown out, but very fortunately received no injury. Father Zeigler was then left glone to take care of the frantic horse. He did not go far, however, until Mr. Z. was also thrown out in the snow feet foremost. with the lines securely 'wrapped around his ankles, thus dragging him a considorable distance, when luckily the sleigh struck a post and the old gentleman was

The remarkable success which attended our ne intion of the Loans of the Central Parific Railcon nd the popularity and credit which the ave maintained in the markets, both in this coun ry and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage ry and Europe, intre sawn that the First Morings Souds of wisely Iccated and hoporthly managod Inliconds are promptly recognized and readily taken is the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of vestment, vielding a more liberal income than can reafter be derived from Government Bands, and avsilable to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior railroad loans, we are meeting a grea public want, and rendering a valuable service-bot to the hold-rs of capital and to those great national works of it ternal improvement whose firtules motit and substantial character entitle them to the use of capital and the confidence of invistors—we
