VOL. 70. NO. 52.

THE present issue of THE HERALD com pletes its seventieth volume, and closes needless to recapitulate the events which its pages have chronicled within the year, which is so nearly closed. Less important in their effects upon our own country, than those of the years in which the Nation struggled with treason for its life, or even those of the years which prepared the way for that struggle, they have yet made their lasting impress on our history. During this year the newly enfranchised citizens first exercised their right of suffrage, and thus completed their title to all the privileges of citizenship. It was the full consummation of the hopes of those who believed that liberty was the birthright of all human beings, and the disappointment of the predictions, and wishes of those who had prophesied tumult and bloodshed as the fruits of equality before the law. The Nation has now fully learned the lesson, that the path of duty never leads to danger, and that the howls of demagogues deserve the contempt of all who seek the right. This knowledge will stimulate us in the direction of justice and honor in all future actions, and will be a land2 mark from which we may surely reckon our way. In Europe events of the greatest moment have crowded on each other rapidly," but their consequences cannot be foretold or estimated. The great struggle between Prussia and France, has not even indicated its result, further than immediate victory for the Prussians. Whether it will close with the complete subjugation of the French people, and the appointment of or whether out of it shall grow a government of the people, for the people, and be have ordered otherwise. by the people, cannot even now be guessed. France may emerge from it a abject remnant of what was once a powindications of what may come, and therefore we can only wait the coming events, trials will bring to mankind wisdom, forbearance, and greater goodness of

Among the other nations great changes have been wrought, but they have been almost unnoticed. Spain has a King. Rome acknowledges a temporal government that is not administered from the Vatican. Russia gives decided indications that she is not averse to aggression. All these may be but indications of, coming struggle, which may involve nearly every civilized nation in the world. before another year has run its course. How all these changes may affect humanity none can tell. Whether a bright dawn or a deeper gloom comes with the New Year, will only be revealed as the plans of the Ruler of the world unfold themselves to our view.

Thus we leave the old year, and pre pare to meet the duties, and trials of the minister to England, to succeed Mr. Motnew. What we have suffered as individuals, and as a race during the past year we know. What remains to be endured in the coming year we will-know the country. Gen. SENATOR McCREERY, of Kentucky, re vived some of the old issues last week. by introducing a resolution to give back | columns. to Gen. Lee's family the Arlington estate, and also to remove the bodies of the soldiers which have been buried there. To make the performance more disgraceful, if that were possible, he delivered a carefully prepared enlogy on Gen Lee, in which he spoke of the traitor in the highest terms. The Senate very properly refused to receive the resolution, and Senators Sumner, Nye, Morton, Scott and others, denounced in the severest terms, both the resolution and the culogy on the murderer of the soldiers of. the Nation, who now sleep at Arlington. Only four Senators voted to receive the resolution. The Northern Democrats gave it no countenance, though whether this was from any other consideration than that of policy may well be questioned.

THE CHANGE OF THE GARRISON. itizens were greatly surprised last week, at the publication of an order from the War Department, making St. Louis the headquarters of the Cavalry recruiting service of the United States, and constituting Carlisle Barracks a rendezvous for but four eastern recruiting stations. This place has been for so long a time military post of importance, and the ippearance of the order was so unexected, that very few at first realized that it was any more than a joke. It is, owever, a fixed fact. The garrison is

The location has always been regarded by military gentlemen, as peculiarly favorable. The health of the soldiers, which is one of the main considerations in the location of troops, is admitted to be better here than at any other interior post. Some years since, we believe, in GEORGE HAYWARD, the distinguished geographer, was murdered by a band of the chief Meer Wate Kahn, of Yassim, the lotter benief the same experiment, and after great expense had been incurred in the removal of the headquarters to St. Louis it was found necessary to abandon that point on account of the sickness of the men while there, and return the headquarters to Carlisle This experiment it was hoped had made the headquarters a permanent fixture for this place. We are inclined to believe that unless there be some very especial reason for the removal of this denot to the west, that a very short time will

No Paper Next Week .- In accord ance with a rule established in by-gone days, there will be no HERALD published next week. This is done in order to aford our employees an opportunity of enjoying themselves during the approaching holidays. According to an old saying "Christmas comes but once a year" and it is right and proper that, all should have the privilege of indulging in the estivities of the holidays.

EXTENSIVE ROBBERY .- The dry goods store of James Bentz, (formerly of this place,) in Market Square, Harrisburg, was entered on Thursday morning last, and goods amounting to $2,500 taken therefrom. The articles stolen consisted of silk dress patterns, silk velvet, about 40 dozen of kid gloves and only $10 in nency. Mr. B. offers a reward of $500 for the detection of the thieves and the recovery of the stolen property.

An Excursion Train -On Thursday vening last, an extra train, having on poard members of the order of Knights of Pythias from Fayetteville, Chambersourg, Shippensburg and Newville, numpering about 120 persons, accompanied charge. His stock is the largest to be by the Silver Cornet Band of Chambersurg, passed through this place. We to recognize the villain who halted him.

> MANY of our subscribers will, no doubt, be in town during Court week. This would afford quite a number that are in arrears for their paper, an opportunity of paying the small sum due the printer. We are at a heavy expense, continually, for paper, ink, materials, and labor performed, for which we must pay cash. The sum asked for is a trivial sum, yet where there are several hundred delinquent subscribers, it foots up a very respectable sum. Don't-forget then, to call in and see us. We are always glad to welcome our friends.
