

PHILADELPHIA GAZETTE

CARLISLE, PENN'A., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1871.

CARDS.
J. M. WEAVER,
J. M. WALLACE,
A. B. RANK, & CO.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
Wholesale dealers in all kinds of
FLOUR AND SALT FISH
No. 210 North Wharves,
Above Race street,
PHILADELPHIA.

COYLE BROTHERS,
NOTION & HOSIERY
Having received a large line of Woolen
Goods, such as Undershirts and Drawers,
Kilt Jackets, Scarfs, Woolen Linenry,
Buck and Sheepskin Gloves, Gaiters,
and Mitts, Hanover Gloves and Gaiters,
Woolen Merino, Cloth and Berlin Gloves and Gaiters, would call the attention of merchants.

DR. J. S. BENDER,
HOMOEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN,
Office in the room formerly occupied by
Dr. J. S. Bender, No. 1209
Market street, Philadelphia.

F. E. BELTZHOVER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in South Market street, opp. Boston's dry goods store.

H. H. KIRKPATRICK & WHEATMAN,
Wholesale dealers in
MANUFACTURED TOBACCO,
No. 5 Court House Avenue,
Philadelphia.

G. F. HURMICH & W. H. PARKER,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Office on Main street, in Market Hall, Cor. 11th & 12th streets.

JAMES H. GRAHAM, JR.,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
No. 14 South Market street,
Philadelphia.

JOHN CORNHAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office No. 1, Second street, in the Court House Building.

JOSEPH RITNER, JR.,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SURVEYOR,
Highway Surveyor, Office at 11th and Market streets, No. 11 of the Bank Building, Philadelphia.

JOSEPH G. VALE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Practitioner in Dauphin and Cumberland
Counties.

J. W. LOAN AND COLLECTION,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
107 North 2nd street, Philadelphia.

M. C. HERMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office No. 9, Second street, Philadelphia.

M. C. CLARKE & M. K. KEELAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
144 South 3rd street, Philadelphia.

P. H. SHAMBERGER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in the Court House Building, Philadelphia.

W. F. SADRER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in the Court House Building, Philadelphia.

WILLIAM KENNEDY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in the Court House Building, Philadelphia.

Cheap John's Ad.
CHEAP JOHN
OFFERS FOR SALE
THE BEST AND CHEAPEST
STOCK OF CLOTHING,
For Men's and Boy's Wear!
Boots, Shoes,
Hats, Caps,
Notions and UNDERSHIRTS!
Come and See
Cheap John
The Poor Man's Friend,
No. 5 Court House Avenue,
FRANKLIN HOUSE ROW.

Dr. Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
For all the pains of a laxative. Medicine which does not give the least uneasiness, and which is perfectly safe in all cases, is a great desideratum. It is a great benefit to the human race, and is now being sold in all the principal cities of the world. It is a great benefit to the human race, and is now being sold in all the principal cities of the world. It is a great benefit to the human race, and is now being sold in all the principal cities of the world.

IMPORTANT
Correspondence.
LETTER FROM COL. E. JORDAN.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18, 1871.
Hon. Francis Pickens, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF THE
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA,
HARRISBURG, Sept. 20, 1871.
To N. B. Brown, North 11th Street,
Philadelphia.

PREPARED BY
J. B. HAYES, Agent,
CARLISLE, PA.

HOTELS.
MONTGOMERY HOUSE,
No. 611 and 623 Arch Street,
Philadelphia.

FARMERS AND PROVERS'
THE "BENTZ HOUSE,"
(Formerly Curran House)
NO. 17 AND 19 EAST MAIN STREET,
CARLISLE, PA.

COURT PROCLAMATION.
J. H. WEAVER, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of York, Pennsylvania.

PURE DRUGS, CHEMICALS, &c.
FOR PURE DRUGS, CHEMICALS, &c.
J. H. WEAVER, Proprietor,
No. 5 South Market street, Carlisle, Pa.

LEARNING TO PRAY.
Reading, fast in the twilight gray,
A beautiful child was trying to pray;
He checked on his mother's knee,
His heart was full of holy joy,
His little soul coming nigh,
And his face a beautiful glow,
"I want to pray, is it naughty?"
"O mamma! I've had such fun today,
I don't feel just like praying;
I want to go out and play."
"And run, all increased, down stairs,
I can see the flowers in the garden bed,
Shining so pretty, and sweet, and red,
And sunny as anything, I guess,
I want to put it all in the prayer."
"When you mean I can do it by 'Voc'!"
"O mamma! I've had such fun today,
I don't feel just like praying;
I want to go out and play."
"And run, all increased, down stairs,
I can see the flowers in the garden bed,
Shining so pretty, and sweet, and red,
And sunny as anything, I guess,
I want to put it all in the prayer."
"When you mean I can do it by 'Voc'!"
"O mamma! I've had such fun today,
I don't feel just like praying;
I want to go out and play."
"And run, all increased, down stairs,
I can see the flowers in the garden bed,
Shining so pretty, and sweet, and red,
And sunny as anything, I guess,
I want to put it all in the prayer."
"When you mean I can do it by 'Voc'!"

ly by a joint vote of both branches of the Legislature. Experience has demonstrated this to be a most unwise provision; and it should be so changed as to make the office elective by the people. This is regarded as the most probable office in the State; and a consequence great efforts are made to secure it. When the Legislature meets, and long before the members elect are besieged by the candidates and their friends, and it is notorious that legislators are bought and sold, in the unseemly and disgraceful manner which occurs at Harrisburg at the annual election of State Treasurer. The Legislature is demoralized at the very commencement of the session. The people of the State are humiliated; and the whole performance is a scandal upon the fair fame of our old State. Let us save ourselves from all this by a proper constitutional amendment, making the office elective by popular vote; and for a longer term than one year, and the person elected to be thereafter ineligible.

IMPORTANT
CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM!
LETTER FROM COL. E. JORDAN.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18, 1871.
Hon. Francis Pickens, Secretary of the
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

has prepared one, some member of a school board another, the officers or directors of some corporation want some special privilege, or exemption from some burden imposed by general law, or some sheriff or constable wants the general fee bill amended, or some legislator, and hundreds of others of about the same character are prepared, often by persons without knowledge of existing laws, or of the most elementary principles of legislation, and are read in place by their titles and referred to the proper committees. Among these are reported, and in the routine of legislation placed on what is called the private calendar; and when it is under consideration every member is expected to look after his own local and private bill. If no objections are made, they all pass as if by common consent. If any member undertakes to object to or propose any private bill not from his own district, he is reminded that he is violating the well established rule of courtesy in the House, which prohibits any member from interfering with the local bills of any other member. If any member reports a bill, or a host of other things, he is reminded that he is violating the well established rule of courtesy in the House, which prohibits any member from interfering with the local bills of any other member. If any member reports a bill, or a host of other things, he is reminded that he is violating the well established rule of courtesy in the House, which prohibits any member from interfering with the local bills of any other member.

early a day as is consistent with a respectful regard for the due forms of law. The evils of which we complain are palpable and alarming, are becoming more and more aggravated every year, are inflicting great wrong and injustice upon our people, and are fast eating out the vitals of the republic; and unless speedily and effectually arrested may yet kindle the fires of revolution and involve us in untold calamities, as the outgrowth of erroneous principles imbedded in our organic law.

Why, bless me, Fanny, you are growing more old-maidish every day you live. I wonder what your next idiosyncrasy will be?
"I wonder what it can be, mamma?"
"Mrs. Belle Lindsay laughingly looked up from the fanciful on which she was reclining, to take part in the arrangement of her sister."
"Was ever mother so vexed as I am?" continued Mrs. Lindsay, frowning on the object of her displeasure, who was standing meekly before him, with folded hands, and a look of submission. "Here you are, Fanny Lindsay, the daughter of a rich and honorable house, running all around the city, among the lower classes, seeking out your charitable 'objects,' as you call them, which 'objects' are generally old women and ragamuffin children, whose feelings are so susceptible, expecting you shall feed and clothe them, in which lies buried the Chicago of the past, shall be resurrected the Chicago of the future, to stand re-created and re-adorned, foremost among the cities of the land; and re-commencing the full, trade mark in the heart of the continent, which its inland commerce, and location by the shores of the beautiful waters of Lake Michigan, point out with infallible certainty."

CORRESPONDENCE.
CHICAGO, Monday, Oct. 16, 1871.
This day terminates a week of ceaseless anxiety. At this hour during the week, meeting in the heart of the city, in the midst of smoke, fire, falling walls, indescribable misery and death; to-day, out of chaos, as by the might of an invisible power, the sunshine of hope beams upon us, and the fiat of a people whose worldly losses are not to be estimated by the aggregate sum of money paid by insurance companies, is meted out to us. The city in which lies buried the Chicago of the past, shall be resurrected the Chicago of the future, to stand re-created and re-adorned, foremost among the cities of the land; and re-commencing the full, trade mark in the heart of the continent, which its inland commerce, and location by the shores of the beautiful waters of Lake Michigan, point out with infallible certainty."

"What are you laughing at?" demanded Belle, who knew it was some mistake of hers.
"I was only thinking I should like to see the Lord Mayor, Oh, Belle, I fear your education has been neglected."
"It has not, I neglected so that I am only in my chamber and my trunks, and trunks," was Belle's spiteful rejoinder.
"Fanny, you are very rude," said her mother, with severity. "Belle's nerves are very delicate, and ought not to be jarred by the least. Dr. Wallace says."
"Fanny smiled. She knew the doctor's private opinion on the subject, but as it was given sub rosa, she did not then repeat it.
"What are you laughing at?" demanded Belle, who knew it was some mistake of hers.
"I was only thinking I should like to see the Lord Mayor, Oh, Belle, I fear your education has been neglected."
"It has not, I neglected so that I am only in my chamber and my trunks, and trunks," was Belle's spiteful rejoinder.
"Fanny, you are very rude," said her mother, with severity. "Belle's nerves are very delicate, and ought not to be jarred by the least. Dr. Wallace says."
"Fanny smiled. She knew the doctor's private opinion on the subject, but as it was given sub rosa, she did not then repeat it.