Yours truly, B. Howard Rand. Also letter of 'Mr. Maglaughlin to Ir. B. H. Rand, in which he informed the chemist that he was informed a certain physician in Carlisle would swear he had given Mrs. Kiehl arsenic medicinalty.

WM. SMITH, sworp.—I made the information against Mr. Kiehl in this case. Mr. McGlaughlin sent for me to come up to him, he explained what the doctor's brought down, and some other things about the case, then asked me if I believed that Kiehl had anything to do with the case. Told him yess Then I sworo to information. Heard, some talk around about the case, didn't amount to anything. Inthe case, didn't amount to anything. Information submitted, I know nothing about this case but what Mr. Maglaughlin read to me. I am not an American cut zen. I have been in jail for a year, seict there as a vagrant first. such symptoms as effect sensibility, and produces pasmodic convulsions. Where-upon I would make a difference as to the stage. Even in the second stage I don't think she could have thrown her arms around her husband's neck. Every organ should have been examined. The opening it; and examining each valve by itself; it should have been tested to see if it would hold water; that would see if it would hold water; that would show whether the valves were good. If a person would die in second stage of arsenical poisoning, there would co a considerable quantity of blood in the right aurole of the heart; and by the quantity of blood remaining around, the heart;, the person could pretty much judge with what riolence the convelsion existed. From the lunes and heart it stomach must be examined, for with-out that a man couldn't say anything, couldn't draw a conclusion, because there is the many, the lesion, and it couldn't possibly be omitted. That ovary is a process, the time of the lapse of the party, the time of the lapse ease might pass through the uterus, and form some pseudo membranes, they would naturally obstruct the tubes. By a full examination these pseudo membranes could be detected. And as the fallopian tube showed an enlargement, it would have been well to try as to how far it was extended. These marks or spots could have been caused by the ovarian disease for which I treated the woman, by absorption of that collected fluid, by passing into those absorption vessels and glauds all over the stomach. I am speaking of those spots on the outside of the intestines.
