PHILHARMONIC ASSOCIATION. On Monday evening last, the Philhar nonic Association gave one of their most brilliant entertainments in Good Will Hall. The large and appreciative audievidence of the popularity which this asciation has acquired. Being composed of ladies and gentlemen of our own borough, it has come to be considered a eading characteristic feature of our own pleasure, the fact that we have in our own midst, made up of our citizens, one of the most accomplished musical associations in the country. The programme on the occasion was as follows:

1. Overture—Zampa, Mrs. Hall and Miss Julia C. Noble. 2. Away, away, the morning freshly breaking. 3. Under the Daisies, Miss Sue Rhey. 4. Quartette—Where are the bowers, Miss Annie Ogilby—Messrs. Ogilby, Landis and Woodward. 5. Solo and Chorus.—Come, Woodward. 9, Solo and Chorus.—Come, O, Come. (Massauiello), Solos, Mrs. Weakley and Mr. 9: Stewart. 6. Noble, were most handsomely executed, Attorney. and the instrumental solo "Pas Redouble" by the latter bespoke both taste in the selection and culture in the execution of it. "Under the Daisies" by Miss Sue Rhey. "Hear me Norma" by the Misses Ogilby. "M'appari" by Miss Whitman, and "The Future Shines so Brightly" by Miss Conlyn, deserve special notice. These ladies rendered their parts with most superior ability.

Indeed they cannot be excelled, this is

Miss Conlyn was called out the second time by the audience, her reputation in this community is well known, and it was sustained certainly on this occasion, with the most accomplished skill.
