From the Greenville (Ohio,) Democrat The bargain, sale and transfer of the Democratic party, to a few designing and truckling Liberal Republicans, having been ratified and completed by the action of the so-called Democratic Convention held lately at Baltimore, it be comes the right, as well as the duty, of every firm and consistent Democrat to make a careful examination of the course pursued by said 'Convention, as well as' the political principles that have always actuated the Presidential candidate, i is endeavoring to force upon the mem bers of the Democratic party and to abl himself the following questions: Has the Convention been actuated in its pro coedings by those pure and patriotic motives that have ever characterized the actions of the Democratic party Has it not been influenced by motives of policy and a desire to share the patronage and spoils belonging to the Presidential office? Has it not destroyed the old party landmarks and effaced the true and tried principles of said Democrati party? What has been the political antecedents of Horace Greeley? Has he ever taken back one of his political heresies or ever expressed a regret for having committed or supported them? He has ever been foremost in 'the ranks of the party that was arrayed against and opposed to Democratic principles no matter what name it assumed. He has edited the venomous and scurrilous paper called "The Tribune," which paper has never been surpassed by any other in the country, in its low, vile vulgar, dirty, mean, ungentlemanly, scurrilous and vindictive attacks upor the private and political characters o our most illustrious Democrats as well a in its slanderous and false representa tions of the principles of the Democratic strongly advocated all the oppressive and tyrannical measures that were enacted and carried out during Lincoln's admin istration. He praised, cajoled and flattered Gen. Grant's administration until he ceased to control the New York appointments, and has advocated every mean and obnoxious act passed by Con gress during said administration. He was not only one of the earliest, but he was also one of the loudest brawlers in behalf of Abolitionism, negro suffrage and negroequality. He not only praised, but even gloried in the course pursued by Wm. H. Seward in tinkling a certain little silver bell, the sound of which caused the arrest and imprison ment of some of our purest patriots and most illustrious Democrats in the dreary and loathsome cells of our military forts. Horace Greeley has advocated and used his influence in support of every ism that has ever cursed this country, and has never gained an unenviable reputation for consistency in his advocacy of them He advocated the right of secession, and no man exerted a greater influence or did more, either by his writings or speeches, to prepare the minds of the Southern people to enter into the late rebellion. Believing that he was honest in his views and entertaining the belief that a large portion of the people of the North indorsed him in them, for at that time he was an acknowledged leader in the Republican party, and they believing that their course would be sustained by hon and a large number of his followers in the North inaugurated civil war amongst us. Scarcely had the tocsin of civil was sounded before Horace Greeley swallowed his own words, recanted his often expressed views on the subject, and advised that the Government should procoed to the most extreme measures in order to punish the poor, deluded and infatuated people whom he had induced by his writings and specious arguments to rebel against our Government, and whom he afterwards denounced as traitors of the very worst kind. ("Consistency, thou art a jewel.") For over forty years I have devoted my time and what little influence I possessed in the support and maintenance of Democratic principles as laid down and interpreted by such leaders as Jefferson and Jack son, and I can not now, at this late didate presented by the Baltimore Con- other make in use. vention, I can not, conscientiously, support him, nor will I do so under the circumstances already enumerated. Party organizations are nothing but subordinate agencies by which a certain number of persons seek to carry certain principles into effect. When the subordinate agency ceases to act for the purpose designed and for which it was created, o is preverted by certain political tricksters to a different purpose, such as the nomination for the Presidential office of an open, declared and ruthless enemy to the principles of the party, it ceases to exist as party authority. Allegiance is only due to principles and note to a cer tain individual or a Convention. The Baltimore Convention by its late action has virtually dismembered the party, if it has not destroyed it, by relinquishing its functions for the purpose of organiz ing a new party under the auspices of a few unscrupulous and designing Liberal Republicans, who do not profess to have abandoned the principles and measures of the old Republican party, but having become disappointed and exasperated, simply because they could no longer control Gen. Grant in his appointments and thus secure for thomselves and friends the largest share of the speils and plunder apportaining to said offices, have determined to supplant him, and have arrayed themselves in opposition to his administration, for the purpose of placing a man in his place whom they can more easily and certainly control. The action of the Democratic Convention at Baltimore, therefore, leaves the members of its or ganization prefectly free to act as to each individual seems fit. The nomination and endorsement of Greeley relinquishes all persons honestly entertaining Democratic principles from the slightest obligation to vote for Groodo not wish to be misunderstood. I ask you to publish them in your paper. Very respectfully,
