

was born, and the marble slab which is laid in the place of the manger. When I saw, throughout the country, how the Arabs now use the caves of the hills to bed their goats and cattle, this belief of the friars appeared less absurd than it would with us; but still, it is so improbable that the precise spot of these transactions (whose importance was not known till afterwards) should have been marked and remembered, that I felt little interested in them in comparison with the landscape, outside about whose leading features there could be no mistake.

From the bottom of the garden, we overlooked the great valley which expanded to the north-east; and one enclosure there—a green spot now occupied by olive trees—was pointed to us as the field where the shepherds were abiding on the night when Christ was born. Behind it, to the east, lay a range behind range of hills, stretching off to the north; and among these, we knew, lay the Dead Sea, and the Jordan, where it pours its waters into that lifeless and melancholy lake. As we left the convent and village, and descended the rocky road, with terraced vineyards and olive groves on either hand, we knew that Joseph and Mary must have come by this way from Jerusalem when summoned to the census; and this was more to us than all the sights the friars had shown us in their zeal and kindness. We looked in at the tomb of Rachel, and at the convent of Elias; but our eyes and thoughts were bent towards Jerusalem. I remember, however, that here I first saw the waters of the Dead Sea, lying blue in a little gap between the hills.

As soon as I had mounted my ass before the convent of Elias, I saw from our ridge some buildings on the rising ground which now showed itself before us. I was not immediately certain what they were; but the news soon spread among us. That rising ground was Zion, and those buildings belonged to Jerusalem, though they stood outside the wall. Immediately after, the walled city itself came into view, lying along the hills. Most of the party were disappointed. I was not—partly because I knew that we were approaching it from the least favorable side, and partly because my expectations had much underrated the size and grandeur of the city. What we now saw was a line of white walls on a hill side, with some square buildings and small white domes rising within.

I walked the rest of the way. On our right were hills, the summit of one of which was Acladema, bought by the priests with the money which the wretched Judas returned to them, when he found too late what he had done in his attempt to force his Lord to assert his claim to a temporal sovereignty. On our left was the plain of Rehaim. When we arrived at the brow of the high ground we were on, we were taken by surprise by the grandeur of the scene. Zion now appeared worthy of her name, and of her place in the hymns of David, and in history. We were now overlooking the valley of Gihon, more commonly known by the name of Hinnom. From its depth, and its precipitous rocks on our side, I should call it a ravine. This deep dell contains the Lower Pool, now dry; and the aqueduct from Solomon's Pools is seen crossing it obliquely. Its opposite side is Zion, rising very steeply, still terraced for tillage in some parts, and crowned by the city wall. To the right, sweeping away from the ravine of Gihon, is the deep and grand valley of Jehoshaphat, clustered with rocks, relieved by trees, and leading the eye round to the slope of Olivet, which, however, is best seen from the other side of the city. The black dome of the tomb of David was the next object; and after that, the most conspicuous roof in the city—the great dome of the Mosque of Omar, which occupies the site of Solomon's Temple.

By this time, there was silence among us. I walked behind our cavalcade, as it slowly ascended the beautiful rocky way—glad of the silence permitted by each to each; for it was not possible at the moment—nor will it ever be possible—to speak of the impressions of that hour. We entered by the Jaffa gate; and every echo of our horses' feet in the narrow, stony, picturesque streets, told upon our hearts as we said to ourselves that we were taking up our rest in Jerusalem.

A native of the Emerald Isle was asked the other day how he could tell when a man was drunk. Faith, answered Pat, "I'd never be after saying that a man was drunk at all, without I saw him try to light his pipe at the pump."

PORTER RUN MAD.—The Boston Times says:—Our correspondent 'Q' is heartily thanked for his lines on the battle of Buena Vista—but a terrible inequality in their length prevents their insertion. We will, however, give one stanza as a sample:—Did you ever hear of a place they called Buena Vista!

'Twas there a very brave old Kentucky gentleman gave Santa Anna and his yellow skinned myrmidons a confounded twist.

The battle was fought in two days, and though his force was weak.

This fine old Kentucky gentleman, who I forgot to mention was named Zachary Taylor, with a force of forty-five hundred men, knocked, at the lowest estimates, twenty thousand Mexicans into the middle of next week.

"Wal, wife," said a countryman yesterday, "I don't rec, for my part, how they send letters on them are wires without tearing 'em all few bits." "La me, they don't send the paper, they just send the writin' in the fluid state." "Oh that's the way, hey?"

Some difficulty have arisen between the captain and crew of the Chinese Junk, at New York, an examination before one of the Courts has elicited an expose of the manner in which these unfortunate men were enticed to leave their native country. Through the medium of an interpreter, it was proven that the captain got them on board on pretence of making a voyage to the Island of Java for a cargo of sugar, which voyage was, by the agreement entered into between the crew and the captain, not to last over eight months. Instead of going to Java, the Junk came to New York, and there she remains. The cause of these unfortunate men has been taken in hand by some gentlemen, who are determined that justice shall be done in the case.

A new mode of dispersing mobs has been discovered out west, which is said to supercede the necessity of military force. It is, to pass round a contribution box.

EXPENSES OF GOVERNMENT.—By the official return of the Secretary of the Treasury it appears that the expenses of the army, for the three quarters which ended on the 13th of June, were $16,572,694, and the whole expenses for the Government for the same period were $22,475,505.

ANSWER TO A CHALLENGE.—Through some mistake, a gentleman in the south of Ireland led off the dance at a country ball out of his turn. The person appointed to the post of honor, challenged the intruder, and received the following reply: "I cannot understand why, because I opened a ball at night, a ball should open me in the morning."

SHAKESPEARE'S BIRTHPLACE was lately offered for sale. In consequence of a great meeting took place at Stratford-upon-Avon, to take measures to preserve it from destruction, and to erect some worthy memorial of the great dramatist in his native town. A large number of the nobility and gentry were present, and great enthusiasm prevailed. Another meeting took place in London, and subscriptions have been commenced; and it is pretty certain that the old habitation of the bard will soon become the property of the nation. Among the literary active are Jerrold, Ainsworth, Knight and Vandenhoff.

BAD BREATH, a disagreeable taste in the mouth, and most unpleasant symptom, are always the result of indigestion. When the food, instead of being properly dissolved, remains in the stomach until it becomes in a manner putrid, a deleterious fluid, called Septic Acid, is generated in the stomach, which, mixing with the fluid of the mouth, is certain not only to give a bad breath, but is also the true cause of wasting of the gums, a deposit of tartar, and decayed teeth. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills not only cleanse the stomach and bowels of all bilious and putrid humors, and purify the blood, but they also restore the digestive organs to a healthy tone; and are therefore certain to remove a bad breath, and prevent a premature decay of the teeth.

Beware of Counterfeits of all kinds! Some are coated with sugar; others made to resemble in outward appearance the original medicine. The safest course is, to purchase from the regular agents only, one or more of whom may be found in every village and town in the State.

The genuine for sale by FRY & SPANGLER, and Jos. M. Watts, who are the only authorized Agents for Columbia. Also, by agents advertised in another column. Principal Office, 109 Race Street, Philadelphia.

The Ladies' Faith in Radway's Chinese Medicated Soap.

"I know my face is sadly speckled With pimples, tan, sun burn, and freckles, Erysipelas, scurvy and salt rheum Upon my cuticle assume To reign with full authority. These blemishes I soon will cure And make my skin both fair and pure, By a soap of superior quality. The soap I've spoken of, as here stated, Is Radway's Chinese Medicated, For toilet purposes 'tis said To be better than any other made; So now my friends I will buy A cake of Radway's soap and try."

The lady fair she spoke the truth She found the soap the friend of youth, And beauty once more took its place And shone with faith upon her face, She ever after held her hope In Radway's Medicated Soap.

Its wonderful effects in speedily removing tan, sunburn, pimples, blotches, pustules, bites of mosquitoes, tetter, &c., softening, purifying and cleansing the skin from all impurities, and adding beauty to the complexion of all who use it, places it beyond the reach of rivalry. It is cheaper and warranted better than any other toilet or medicated soap ever offered to the public.

Sold for 12½ small, and 25 cents for large cakes, by Zahm & Jackson, George A. Miller, and John F. Long, Lancaster; Bell & Son, Harrisburg; Morris & Co. York; R. Williams, Columbia. J. & R. G. RADWAY, No. 2 Courtland street, N. Y.

DIED. On Wednesday, the 1st inst. (after a short illness) at the residence of Mrs. Rachael Swartz, in Columbia, Mrs. MARRIA WALKER, in the 75th year of her age.

She was born in the country of Donegal in Ireland, and emigrated to this country when young. She had been a widow for some thirty years, and being left without children, she has since enjoyed the society and attention of her friends and relations; she was a member of the Presbyterian Church for many years, and, we trust, from her unoffending disposition and character, she has made a happy exchange from a world of trouble, to one of peace and rest.

FIRE, FIRE, FIRE. A meeting of the Good Intent Fire Engine and Hose Company will be held in the Public School House, Second street, this (Saturday) evening, to transact some very important business. A. W. LEADER, Sec'y.

INFAMOUS PRACTICE. FEVER AND AGUE PATIENTS!! IS it not an Infamous Practice for Wholesale and Retail Druggists, and other Merchants, to buy up Spurious, Adulterated, Reputated and Counterfeit Rowand's Tonic Mixture, at auction, from irresponsible and swindling medicine vendors, for two or three dollars per dozen, and then sell it to the ignorant and unwary, as the genuine Rowand's "Improved" Tonic Mixture, for one dollar the bottle! and when they well know besides, that this counterfeit trash has been universally pronounced worthless and inert, and that NOT ONE of the thousands of men laying any claim to respectability or honesty.

Look carefully for the "written signature of John R. Rowand," on a paper label across the mouth of every bottle, without which "guard" it never can be genuine, however knavish medicine-vendors may faintly and try to deceive.—Agent for Columbia, W. A. LEADER. au14'47-4f
