

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

Arrival of the Caledonia.

Boston, Oct. 12—noon.

The steamship Caledonia has arrived here, bringing one week later intelligence from Europe.

The Cholera.

The deaths from all causes, in the London districts, for the three weeks of Sept. ending 22d, were 3160, 2842 and 1984—thus showing the cholera deaths decreased from 2026 and 1682, 839. In the same period, the deaths from cholera, which were, at the beginning of the month, 400 daily, fell, on the 19th, 110, and declined on the 26th, 102; and on the 27th, a further satisfactory decline appeared, showing the much greater diminution to 77, for all London; 331 for all England, and 57 for Scotland.

Austria and Hungary.

Nothing has transpired in relation to the resolution of the Porte, not to yield the Hungarian refugees to the demands of Austria and Russia, except that a Russian officer of high rank has arrived at Constantinople, to demand their extradition.

There is no doubt that the chief leaders are still at Weiden in Wallachia, and the probability is, that as soon as the requisite facilities can be furnished to get them out of the Turkish dominion, they will be allowed to go where ever they please.

Comorn not Surrendered.

The latest intelligence from Vienna extends to the 22d inst., inclusive, at which time Comorn had not surrendered, and nothing of any importance appears to have occurred around that fortress.

A colored man was seen to fall shortly after the firing of a gun in the hands of one of the rioters; he is supposed to be killed.

Thomas Hunt, of No. 20 La Grange street severely if not fatally wounded; he lies at the drug store at Lombard and 3d streets.

Two others were taken into the same store badly wounded.

Thirteen policemen were more or less injured.

Twenty-one received serious injury.

Annexation of Canada.

The Montreal Herald, in an able article on the comparative advantages to Canada, of annexation with the United States on the one hand, and on the other of a Federal Union of the British Provinces, with independence both of Great Britain and the United States, pronounces the former to be the only probable remedy for the evils of its present condition.

If we should establish a federation tomorrow, in order to find some business for the General Government to do, in order to prevent such an institution from becoming as useless a mockery as that of the Governor-Generalship, under our present system, we should have to obtain from Great Britain the right to treat with independent nations as an independent State.

We say, then, that a Federal Union and Independence are inseparable, and we proceed to show, how much less advantageous that arrangement would be, than the Union with our Southern neighbors. The expenses of Government, in case of a Federal Union, would be divided into two parts—that which belongs to the cost of Local or State Government, and that which belongs to the Federal Government.

As we write this, at 10 o'clock, our city is again the theatre of a most disgraceful riot, which commenced about one hour since by an attack of the Killers upon the blacks of St. Mary street.

11 o'clock P. M.—As we write the riot has become alarming in the extremes. Six firemen had already been shot in attempting to extinguish the flames.

12, P. M.—The State House bell is striking eight. This is the alarm for the military.

So far, then, it is evident, that the items of increased expense, rendered necessary by a change, would be incalculably greater in the case of a Federal Union, than in that of Annexation.

There has been more trouble working in the State Department, as far as I can learn. The Spanish Minister, M. Calderon de la Barca, had a smart correspondence with Mr. Clayton, about a Spanish lady, abducted from Cuba, by an American vessel, in September last, and brought to Philadelphia.

The contrast is succinctly stated; but we think it is sufficiently striking to induce any one who reflects upon it to give up the Federal Union, and cleave to the larger, and better measure.

From the London Examiner.

Switzerland Menaced with the Fate of Hungary.

During the last fortnight, the ulterior views of Russia and Austria, hidden as long as the Hungarian struggle remained doubtful, have become more fully known, and we have reason to believe that France has received cause for distrust and alarm.

When the Russia troops lately approached the frontier, the Swiss raised an army. It being agreed amongst the great courts, however, that they would hereafter settle the Swiss question in common, Russia withdrew for the time.

That the fugitive chieftains and leaders of Hungary have no mercy to expect, if they fall into Austrian clutches, is evident from the writ now issued for catching them, if possible, with a description of their persons.

Kossuth, Ludwig, once a lawyer, journalist, minister of finance, president of the Hungarian committee of defence, and at last governor-president of the Hungarian republic, 45 years old, born at Jass-bereynyal in Hungary, of the Catholic religion, married, above the middle height, tolerably strong, thin, has an oval face, pale complexion, lofty open brow, chestnut hair, blue eyes, strong dark brown eyebrows, smooth compressed nose, handsome mouth, good set of teeth, round chin, black moustaches and beard, speaks German, Hungarian, Latin, Slovak, some French and Italian.

But what do to? The Austrians with the Russians at their back, menace Switzerland. Even the smallest of their demands will not be complied with by the Swiss, who will raise troops and menace war.

These are questions that seriously occupy the consideration of French statesmen. And they are more serious, because Prussia joins Austria and Russia in the demand to rescue Switzerland to at least homogeneity with the conservative government around her.

now it is too dangerous an example, and great efforts will be made to blot out all such. The difficulty lies in the attitude to be assumed by France, and on that depends the future fate of Switzerland and the peace of Europe.

Much will depend, too, no doubt, on the conduct of the British ministry. It will be appealed to by the Swiss, and defied, if it should remonstrate, by the powers of the East. If England and France think as one upon the question, it is decided, and Switzerland is safe.

Another Flare-up in our Foreign Policy.

Washington, Oct. 9.

As far as I can learn, the lady's name is Senora Zarba, or Zarga, or Zavallo, or something beginning with a big Z.

The Captain General of Havana communicated the facts to M. Calderon de la Barca, at Washington, and a terrible rumpus has been raised. It is called an insult to the Spanish laws, committed by the American brig.

These are the leading facts of the case. The Captain General of Havana communicated the facts to M. Calderon de la Barca, at Washington, and a terrible rumpus has been raised.

Among the wilds of Lake George, in the northern part of this state, there is an old man who makes his living by catching rattlesnakes, pulling the teeth of those he wants to sell to showmen, and making oil out of others—an oil which ignorant people have been quackized to believe in its superior virtues for rheumatism and sprains.

Austrian Hue-and-Cry after Kossuth.

That the fugitive chieftains and leaders of Hungary have no mercy to expect, if they fall into Austrian clutches, is evident from the writ now issued for catching them, if possible, with a description of their persons.
