

MOUNTAIN SENTINEL

EBENSBURG, PA.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1850.

THE SENTINEL, has much the largest circulation of any paper published in this county...

A. DRUM, Esq., our Senatorial Representative will accept our thanks for a valuable public document.

The able publishers of the Harrisburg Keystone have made arrangements to publish that paper twice a week during the session...

The Democratic Union will also, as usual, be published semi-weekly during the session of the Legislature.

These papers are both ably conducted and are worthy of extensive patronage at the hands of the democracy of Pennsylvania.

Governor's Message.

We this week lay before our readers the message of Governor Johnston. It is not very long, yet it excludes our usual variety. It will be seen that the Governor endeavors to make the people believe that he conducted the affairs of Government with unexampled economy...

Pennsylvania Senate.

The report which we published in our last relative to the election of a speaker of the Pennsylvania Senate turns out to be correct. The whigs united on Valentine Best, and with the assistance of his own vote, he elevated himself to the Speaker's Chair.

In his anxiety to get into the Speaker's Chair, Valentine Best has disgraced himself, betrayed his constituents, and deserted his party, and rendered his very name hateful in the eyes of all honest men.

It is to be regretted that such political scoundrels can occasionally worm themselves into the confidence of the people and be elected to posts of honor and responsibility...

Let him be kicked out of the party, no less, and let him find his proper level, among men destitute of principles. The man who would sell his constituency for a mess of pottage is unworthy the association of honest men, no matter to what party they belong...

committees in the Senate, and it will be seen that Best has performed his part of the disgraceful contract. The whigs are placed in italics.

For the Sentinel. Tariff Duties and Protection. No. 5.

It is said that the price of labor is determined by the relations of demand and supply, and that a heavy demand, compels high wages. Here then appears an important difference between the ways in which capital and labor are respectfully protected.

Employers in general furnish merchandise and provisions for the use of their laborers, and employ none to labor, but those who will agree to take their living in trade from them. This trade is invariably sold to the laborer at a price dictated by the employer, and this is from 25 to 50 per cent dearer than the current price of the articles sold and purchased.

At a meeting of the friends of domestic industry, held at the Court House in Ebensburg, on Tuesday evening Jan. 7, 1850, Peter Livergood of Johnstown was appointed President, and Thomas A. Maguire, John B. Onslow, Wm. Douglass, James Ross and James Litzinger, Vice Presidents.

The following are the Committee:—David Spielman, R. P. Linton, John Bell, W. Foster, J. B. Onslow, A. Kopelin, Reuben Harris, Geo. Hildebrand and Richard Doncaster.

Resolved, That we, as citizens of Cambria county, located in a region of country abounding with mineral resources, inexhaustible, upon a proper and effective development of which our individual and collective prosperity depends, do entertain without regard to party, feelings of the most unqualified disapprobation toward free trade in all its bearings, and that we will, unceasingly, importune our Representatives in Congress, to enact such a law as will amply protect alike the interest of the farmer, manufacturer, mechanic and laborer.

themselves. For this purpose during the last presidential campaign the fact of a furnace "blowing out" to put in a new hearth was heralded before the country as a failure on account of the tariff of 1846. It was also reported that money was collected by private contribution to pay the expenses of sending a boat load of foreign coal to the Schuylkill to be sold in the neighborhood of the mines, at a mere nominal price to frighten the miners into the support of Gov. Johnston and General Taylor.

Oh but then, says the protectionist, these abuses are surely not all the effects of protective tariffs. No; but they are some of the defects of them. Capitalists call loudly for increased protection under the humbugging pretence of enabling them to protect laborers, and the foregoing are illustrious examples of the manner in which they perform that duty when their demands are gratified.
