

POETRY.

The Maiden's Advertisement. AT EIGHTEEN. A heart to let! A warm, fresh, cheery, virgin heart.

AT TWENTY-EIGHT. No tenant yet! To let! A valuable heart! Who seeks such property to get.

AT THIRTY-EIGHT. Take down the sign! Alas! the truth must now be told; Decay has prey'd on every part.

The Shavers. The barber shaves with polished blade, The merchant shaves in constant trade.

Strive On. Strive on—the ocean ne'er was crossed Repeating on the shore;

Bright names are on the roll of Fame, Like stars they shine on high;

And these were lighted 'mid the gloom Of low obscurity;

But strive this world's not all a waste, A wilderness of care;

Then strive on—but oh! let Virtue be The guardian of your aim!

Preaching.—An amusing specimen of "individuality" in language was lately mentioned to us by a friend.

"Bathe every day!" exclaimed Widow Smashpiper, as she dropped the flat-iron upon the horse-shoe.

"Why you don't tell! I never used to think of stripping my jeans, and giving him a right good wash, but four times a year, onst in the spring, onst in the summer, onst in the fall, and onst in the winter!

"I have a large chamber, warm and bright, Well furnished with affections fine, And draped with hopes that glow with light.

AT THIRTY-EIGHT. Take down the sign! Alas! the truth must now be told; Decay has prey'd on every part.

AT THIRTY-EIGHT. Take down the sign! Alas! the truth must now be told; Decay has prey'd on every part.

AGRICULTURAL.

Scions—When to Cut Them. Any healthy piece of limb, from one third to one-fourth of an inch in diameter, with two or three buds, is a prope scion.

As soon as the leaves fall, scions may be cut, and from that period till the leaf buds again, swell in the spring.

Keep Good Animals. Poor animals are a moth to the farmer. There are a more serious detriment to him than rust, or blight, or mildew.

The Queen Bee.—It is well known by aparians, that bees will not swarm with out a queen goes with the new colony.

Summed Settlement of the Nicaragua Question. A correspondent of the New York Herald says, that the Nicaragua question between England and the United States is so far a settlement, that it may be considered as out of the pale of troublesome questions between two countries.

Mr. Rives addressed Lord Palmerston on the subject whilst in London, and the Hon. Abbot Lawrence arriving soon after, received the reply of Lord Palmerston to those inquiries.

Lord Palmerston also intimated, that several of those central South American states had offered to cede territory to the British government, which was invariably declined; and that it would be more to the interest of the commercial world, if the American government would adopt the same policy.

It is said that the new English minister, Sir Henry Bulwer, has received special instructions on the subject, and in consequence, the British Government will repudiate Mr. Chatfield's late imper tinences in Honduras, and the American government will not confirm Mr. Squires' wholesale treaties, annexation of Tigre Island, ect. We will see.

Religious Anecdote. During a religious festival in the city of —, it happened one evening that, about the middle of the discourse, and while the preacher was descending on the horrors of the "lake of everlasting fire," the alarm of fire resounded through the streets.

A country merchant having hired a clerk, waked him up the next morning after he was hired, at a most unseasonably early hour, by calling out that "the family were sitting down to the table."
