ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER CANADA!

Two Weeks Later!

Col. Webb's Arrival—Cheering News from India—Rebellions in the Austrian Empire—Probable European War—Encouraging Commercial Advices, &c., &c.

HALIFAX TELEGRAPH OFFICE,

Sunday, Jan. 13, 10 A. M.

The Steamer Canada has just arrived, after a boisterous passage.

Col. Webb, Minister to Austria, and his suite, had reached Liverpool, en route for Vienna.

The Overland express from India had arrived at London, bringing very cheering news for the manufacturers. It was expected that with the commencement of the new year, that a large speculative business would be done.

A rebellion had broken out at Servia, (which forms the southern boundary of Hungary,) and greatly alarmed the Austrian Government. The insurgents number over 100,000, and their ranks are hourly swelled by desertions from the military districts of Peterwardien and Essey.

It is supposed that Russia is at the bottom of the conspiracy, with a view to compel Austria and Turkey to become dependent on her.

The rebellion will probably lead to a rupture between Austria and Turkey.

A plot on a formidable scale against the Russian Government, has been discovered in St. Petersburg. It was to have been brought to a focus on New Years day.

The Czar has ordered all his troops to the Turkish frontier to prepare for the emergency.

The British Parliament meets in February. The London press seem to think that the cabinet will not object to a severance of the mother country from her Canadian possessions, as they cost the British Government annually over £3000. (This amount is, of course, a Telegraphic blunder.)

FRANCE.

From this country there is nothing of special interest.

A Havre paper says that private letters have been received from the United States stating that the Cabinet at Washington have acknowledged the justice of the indemnity demanded by M. Poussin, and which led to the recent rupture between that gentleman and Secretary Clayton.

A regiment of Austrian soldiers, stationed at Comorn, had rebelled, and killed a large number of the principal officers.

With the exception of the above, the news by this arrival is generally unimportant and uninteresting.

Editorial Convention.

At a Convention of Editors, held at Beuhler's Hotel, on Tuesday the first of January, 1850, the Hon. NIMROD STRICKLAND, was chosen President, A. R. MCCLURE and M. D. HOLBROOK Vice Presidents, Isaac G. McKNIGHT and H. A. MICH Secretaries. Messrs. MCCLURE, HUTCHINSON, and —, were appointed a Committee to present resolutions for the action of the Convention who presented the following which were unanimously adopted.

Resolved. That it is the opinion of this Convention that papers should be allowed to circulate free of postage, within the Congressional Districts in which they are respectively published; and that such a law would meet the almost unanimous approbation of the people, and tend to disseminate intelligence among them.

Resolved. That we earnestly request the members of Congress from our State to use their influence for a passage of a law in conformity with the above resolution.

Resolved. That in States where the laws of the Legislature are published in the papers of the State, it is found not to materially increase the cost of their publication, but it most effectually spreads the laws before the whole people, and gives them the knowledge thereof, of which they otherwise remain ignorant.

Resolved. That in the opinion of this Convention, the Legislature of Pennsylvania would be conferring a great benefit upon the people of this State, by passing a law which would authorize the publication of general laws in the papers of the whole Commonwealth, and those of local bearing, in the papers circulating in the district to which the law is intended to apply.

Resolved. That as ignorance of the law is no excuse against its violation, the law makers owe it to the law-governed, to allow every citizen to become acquainted with the rules laid down for his observance.

Resolved. In the language of the Vermont Editorial Convention, "That as Representatives of the Press of Pennsylvania 'we disapprove and disown' all natural personalities in editorial intercourse; that we discern and rejoice in a gradual improvement by observing strictly in our editorial allusions the amenities and courtesies which should mark the intercourse of gentlemen."

Resolved. That we recommend to the editors of this State, to refuse to publish advertisements sent them by city Agents upon any other than regular terms.

Resolved. That our State Legislature be requested to pass resolutions urging upon our Senators and Representatives in Congress to urge the passage of a bill to carry out the views of this Convention, in relation to the free circulation of newspapers within each Congressional District.

The following Memorials to the Legislature and to Congress, were adopted by the Convention and the Committee appointed, authorized to affix their names thereto in behalf of the Convention.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned, appointed a Committee by an Editorial State Convention, held at Harrisburg on the 1st of January, 1850, beg leave, respectfully to request your attention to the propriety of publishing all laws of a general character, in the English and German papers throughout the Commonwealth, at the expense of the state; and also that of requiring laws of a local nature, to be published in the newspapers in the vicinity interested therein, at the expense of the County or parties concerned. This is now the law in several of our sister States, including New York, New Jersey and Ohio; and as it is the only by way which the people of our State can be generally informed of the character of our laws, we would think its adoption judicious and proper.

We are aware that objections may be urged against this proposition, on the grounds of the expense, that must necessarily attend it. This objection, however, could, and we think should be obviated. A large sum is annually expended in the publication of our laws and journals in German—of which few, if any copies are sold in the year. The amount of money that could be saved to the State, by curtailing the German publications, as far as practicable, and some of the other expenses of government that can be done without detriment to the public interest.

Your serious attention is requested, but earnestly requested to the subject. The laws by which the people must be governed, should be universally made known. It is alike due to those who govern, and to the governed; and we are fully persuaded that if carried into effect with a proper observance of economy, it will meet the hearty approval of your constituents.

(Signed by the Committee.)

Kentucky and the Union.

Governor Crittenden of Kentucky, in his remarks on the violent disunion debate in Congress, utters the following notable sentiments:

"Dear Kentucky is to us, she is not our whole country. The Union, the whole Union, is our country, and proud as we justly are of the name of Kentuckian, we have a loftier and more far-famed title—that of American citizen—a name known and respected throughout the world, and which, wherever we may be, has power to protect us from the despotism of emperor or king."

As a party to the Constitution, Kentucky, inseparably, with the other States, pledged herself to abide by and support that constitution and the Union which it established. If that pledge were her only obligation, it ought to be inviolable. But the seal of Washington stamped upon it—the thousand glorious recollections associated with its origin—the benefits and blessings it has conferred—the grander hopes it now inspires, have, day by day, increased our attachment, until the mere sense of plighted faith and allegiance is lost in proud, grateful, and affectionate devotion.

"I can entertain no apprehensions for the fate of such a Union."

"The approach of any danger to it would be the signal for rallying in its defense—the first moment of its peril would be the moment of its rescue. I persuade myself that there will be found in Congress, on the exciting subject which has given rise to the late agitation and alarm, a wise forbearance and a wise patience, that will secure us from danger; and that the very men who, in the heat and contention of debate, have spoken most boldly the language of defiance and menace to the Union, will not be hindmost in making sacrifices for its preservation."

Resolved. That it is the opinion of this Convention that papers should be allowed to circulate free of postage, within the Congressional Districts in which they are respectively published; and that such a law would meet the almost unanimous approbation of the people, and tend to disseminate intelligence among them.

Resolved. That we earnestly request the members of Congress from our State to use their influence for a passage of a law in conformity with the above resolution.

Resolved. That in States where the laws of the Legislature are published in the papers of the State, it is found not to materially increase the cost of their publication, but it most effectually spreads the laws before the whole people, and gives them the knowledge thereof, of which they otherwise remain ignorant.
