

Court Mailed for not catching Lopez at Cardenas.

The two vessels belonging to the expedition, which were captured, have been brought in here. It is not yet known what will be done with the men that were taken on board of them.

The Falcon took on a considerable number of passengers to Chagres.

THE CUBA PRISONERS.—The Patria, which of course knows all about it, says that on the 27th ult. the prisoners captured on the Georgiana and the Susan Loud were to be brought up before the competent tribunal at Havana, when, if they were proved innocent, they would be released—if not, not. The Patria says it derives it from "the only source worthy of credit."

ROMANCE OF THE CUBAN EXPEDITION.—The steamer Caston, Captain Hebbard, arrived on Saturday from Palatki, having on board seventeen men, among whom was a Lieutenant attached to the Cuban expedition to its full extent.

Those who arrived here walked from Tampa Bay to Palatki, where they arrived, after a journey of six days entirely penniless. A subscription was raised by the citizens of Palatki, by whom they were supplied with means to pay their passage, at a reduced rate, to this city.

They are now here among us, and need the charity of our citizens, having been obliged to part with every article of value, and their clothing to the last suit, in making their way thus far.

They are young men, nearly all American citizens, and state they were deceived by those who induced them to join the expedition. Their names are in Kentucky and Ohio, to which they are making their way. They wish work to enable them to obtain the means to travel. There are seven mechanics among them.—Savannah Georgian June 19.

ARRIVAL OF THE SARANAC.

Authentic News from Cuba.

WASHINGTON, June 12.

The U. S. steamer Saranac, Captain Tatnall, from Havana, 6th instant, reached the naval anchorage at Norfolk yesterday morning.

Capt. Tatnall arrived here this morning with important despatches from the Government.

Capt. Tatnall represents all quiet when he left.

For the following intelligence I am indebted to a slip from the Norfolk Herald office.

The Saranac arrived at Havana on Thursday evening 23d ult., and lay off at Moro Castle until the next morning, when Capt. Randolph of the U. S. corvette Albany, went on board and reported that a Spanish man-of-war had captured two American vessels at the Island of Contoy, on the coast of Yucatan; that he had in an interview with the Captain General demanded that they should be given up, and on the refusal of the Captain General to do so, had declared his intention of recapturing them.

The Saranac went into Havana about 10 o'clock on the morning of the 24th, and Captain Tatnall had an interview with the Captain General, in which he informed that functionary that if he met with American vessels, prizes to a Spanish man-of-war, he should require a satisfactory account of the reasons of their capture, and, if refused, he should re-capture such vessels; but if he was satisfied that they formed a portion of the invading expedition he should not seek them.

The Spanish authorities expressed much satisfaction, at the course of our Government.

About three hours after Saranac anchored in Havana a Spanish brig of war came in with the prisoners, but not the prizes; which latter were supposed to have been ordered to some other port to avoid a collision.

On the following day, the 25th, the Saranac got under weigh for Key West, taking two corvettes (Albany and Germantown) with her. On their arrival they found the inhabitants of Key West had been in some alarm in consequence of so large a number of men having been landed there from the Creole, over which the civil authorities have no control. They had, however, conducted themselves peaceably and orderly.

The Saranac remained two days at Key West, and again proceeded to Havana, taking as passengers, Judge Marvin and Judge Douglas, (the latter Collector at Key West.) These gentlemen with Captain Tatnall, of the Saranac, called on the Captain General, and stated to him their reasons for believing that the men captured at Contoy had abandoned the expedition.

In reply, they were informed that a distinction had been made between these men and those who landed at Cardenas; that the former were well treated and would have a fair trial and every opportunity to prove their innocence. No one was permitted to visit them—a rule that applies equally to Spanish subjects. The interview was altogether satisfactory.

The Saranac broke part of the frame sustaining her machinery the day after she left Havana and came home using only one wheel. She remained also two days at Key West.

Arrest of Lopez.

NEW YORK, June 12.

Gen. Lopez arrived in New Orleans on Thursday, and was arrested by the U. S. authorities, and held to bail in the sum of $3,000 for trial before the U. S. Commissioners. Seventeen of his men reached Savannah from Key West on Saturday last. They express anxiety to enlist for another expedition against Cuba. The boy executed at Cardenas, was named Wm. Kelly. He was from California; and had embarked under the impression that he was going to California.

The steamer Isabella which sailed from Havana on Friday arrived in Charleston yesterday. She reports that sixty-one prisoners, the officers and crews of the Georgiana and the Sarah, were on trial before the Marine Court. The trial had not concluded at the time of sailing, but it was thought that the Captains of the vessels would be punished and the crews acquitted.

[The above news is no doubt correct, as we have received the same by mail, in the New York Tribune on Monday.—Journal.]

A Venerable Prison Bird.—Eleven convicts were brought before the court, at Boston, on Monday, from the State prison, as "second" or "third comers" and as such, liable to additional punishment, under a peculiar law of that State. The oldest was Henry Wood, aged 75, who has passed thirty-eight out of the last forty years in the State prison, under repeated sentences. His earlier convictions were for burglary and store breaking, commencing in 1810. His last sentence was for a felonious assault, with intent, &c., upon his sister-in-law, his father's daughter by a second wife. He told the court, on Monday, that he thought the State had not done enough of his time, but he was now so old, that it did not matter much where he passed the remainder of his days. Six months additional was then awarded to him.

Confiscation of Estates in Havana.—The Pope, (or his counsellors for him,) on his return to Rome, confiscated the estates of the leaders of the revolution. Austria did the same thing for the Hungarians. The Captain General of Cuba, having two such illustrious examples before him, has commenced the work with the wealthy planters of that island, who were supposed to favor a revolution in the "Queen of the Antilles."

He has cited for trial before the military tribunals, Agüero Macias, Betancour, Villaverde, and Christoval Maden. These gentlemen may consider themselves fortunate if they escape with their lives—their estates will, of course, go to reward the faithful followers of her sacred majesty.

MEMPHIS, June 11. Terrible Tragedy.—Two Men Killed and Two Others Injured.—On Saturday the case of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank came up before court, on the part of Dr. J. Fowlers and others, that the assets of the bank should be placed under their control. The motion was resisted by General Coe, as attorney for a portion of the creditors. The General read a communication, previously signed by King & Trigg, to the effect that such resistance on his part would be treated by them as a private and personal matter. The argument was deferred to some other day.

Messrs. Coe and Connel left the court room, and were met by Trigg and his friends, when a personal assault occurred. Pistols were fired, and in the melee, Coe shot and killed Trigg. A general fight followed, when Coe was attacked by three different parties, and shot in the back. He fell mortally wounded. Others became engaged in the affray, and a man named Gaines, closed in a contest with Connel, both falling to the ground, evidently seriously injured. The greatest excitement prevailed.
