A New Engine.
A Mr. Welder, of Detroit, has recently invented a new kind of steam engine, which is highly praised by the press of that city. The Free Press, after noticing it in operation, says:
The steam is let into a small cylinder which encloses one end of the shaft, passes through the shaft to the cylinder which forms the arm, the cylinder revolving with the shaft. Here we have the whole of the steam engine. We have seen it making its revolutions so rapidly that nothing could be seen of the piston rod, and we would have been at a perfect loss to have told where the propelling power was.
The advantages secured by this invention are immense. It does away with the complicated machinery so liable to derangement, and as there is no friction therefore to overcome, the same quantity of steam must give about two sevenths more power. It even doing away the complicated machinery does away a very large portion of the expense of the steam engine. Every portion can now be made in the lathe, and we think any good shop could turn out a complete saw-mill engine in ten days, if they had the right of this invention.

Our readers will doubtless be glad to hear from "the man of the wheelbarrow." The Alta California, of Aug. 6, chronicles his arrival.
"The Man with the Wheelbarrow, who had often been noticed by emigrants who have seen him on his way across the plains, arrived at Coloma about a week ago. He states that he got the California fever, and as he had not the means to purchase a team, he loaded his wheelbarrow with one hundred and fifty pounds of provisions, besides his cooking utensils and baggage, and started from the States on the long journey. He was able to make greater headway than most of the teams, as he lost no time except for his meals and sleep. When he arrived at Salt Lake, he found an opportunity of joining a company then about starting; so he left his faithful hand carriage by the side of the road, and "on he came a whistling." That man will make his pile."

An Old Family.
Mr. J. F. Jones, one of the Assistant Marshals engaged in taking the census of Kentucky, writes to the Maysville Eagle of a curious family he visited. It consisted of the mother, the daughter, the grand daughter, the great grand daughter, and three great grand sons, who have never separated since they were first a family, the eldest being 102, and the youngest one year old. This family consists of five generations. The mother was a native of Virginia during the Revolutionary War, and emigrated to Kentucky in an early day.

The Fastest Foot Race on Record.
The great foot race which has been the chief topic with the "sporting men" for the week past, took place on the 30th ult. The race was $300, one mile. The contestants were Hill, a boy of only 18 years old, of Tonawanda, and a Canadian Indian, of Montreal, a celebrated runner. The Canadian was exceedingly well made, with a strength of limb and compactness of frame rarely seen; while Hill was quite the contrary; wanting that filling up which age will give him. At the word they went off very even, at a race horse speed, Hill out-footing the Canadian handsomely. He made the first quarter in 55 seconds—continued to lead to the half, in 2 minutes 15 seconds. Just after passing the third quarter, he was taken with cramping in the side, and stopped, having to be helped in. The Canadian then passed and made the mile in the unprecedented time of 4 minutes 33 seconds. Had Hill held out for the mile even faster time would have been made.—Buffalo Republican.

Want of sense renders some people obstinate, while wisdom makes them firm; since that which would be obstinacy in a wrong cause becomes firmness in a right one. To discriminate between the two is often difficult.

DIED
On Monday the 21st inst. at Carrollton, Mrs. BARBARA HOOVER, aged 65 years.
On Saturday, the 12th inst., at the residence of Col. John M'Gough in Washington township, Mr. ANDREW DONNELLY, aged about sixty years.

In many respects, the deceased was a very remarkable man. Scarcely a man, woman or child within the limits of Cambria, Indiana and Westmoreland counties, but was personally acquainted with ANDREW DONNELLY, THE PEDLAR, and by all will his memory be cherished with feelings of kindness. His kind heart and honest and upright conduct through a long life, endeared him to all with whom he became acquainted. Although totally uneducated, he managed to amass a fortune of over twenty thousand dollars. We learn that his remains were taken to Blairsville by his friends and interred in the Catholic burial ground of that place.
