

THE OLD MAN'S SONG OF THE OLD YEAR'S DYING.

BY ELEANORA HERVEY.

To sleep-to sleep-'tis the Old Year's dying Let me sleep till he be dead, Comfort and Home and Time are flying-Gladness and youth are fled. Year after year has been ushered in-So many are lost there are few to win, But enough for sorrow, toil, and sin-Let me sleep while the Old Year dies.

I like not the passing away from earth Of the thing we have watched so long : I cannot welcome the New Year's birth

With the Old Year's dying song. Wake me at morn when the dust is flung On the ancient head that so late was young-If rest may be where the soul is wrung, Let me sleep while the Old Year dies.

Rivers of tears have flowed to him-Strong tides of the soul's despair, Many a passionate prayer and hymn Been ponred on his midnight air. Why have we wished his day's were o'er, When the life that goes with him returns no

I shall miss his weary step on the floor, Let me sleep while the Old Year dies

Wild pulses are playing in many a heart, With the hope of the dawn to come; For they know not yet of the night's that part

With the morrow shall never bring home. Their New Year's friend as the old they greet; But mine are the memories sad-if sweet-That pass the new guest in life's crowded street;

Let me sleep while the Old Year dies.

My head is bowed-and my eyes are dim And take not the light they gave; Then call me not up to make merry with him Who treads on the old man's grave !

In the morning light of the life long year The outer mists themselves look clear, But I to the SHADOW am all too near-Let me sleep while the Old Year dies.

The greenness whereon we stand, 'Tis said that a central fire doth glow -A realess and burning land-If deep in the heart such fires abide, And the vallies stretch and currents glide, That see no greenness and feel no tide, Then-sleep while the Old Year dies.

Perhaps while gleams of the future's light On the forenead the New Year wears, We may not care how the long dread night

Falls down on the old grey hairs; But the west of the grave-clouds gather near, And the long death-silence hes close to mine

So I have no joy in the coming year-

Let me s'cep while the Old Year dies. Secretarian security and accommission
