March on the glorious 4th. On the fourth of July we were in Philadelphia, and were well pleased with the manner in which the citizens of that beautiful city celebrated the anniversary of the day that gave us independence.

The military in the forenoon made a grand and imposing appearance, under the command of Major General Robert Patterson, who is truly such a soldier. In the afternoon the "Festivities" drew the crowd and were the subject of much sport and amusement to the young and old.

In the evening the citizens enjoyed themselves at dancing at the hotels of Messrs. Shields and Pratt.

At the summit of the Highlands had a picnic and many of the inhabitants of that place attended the ball given by Mr. John Price at the foot of plane No. 8, which was by all accounts an agreeable and pleasant party.

At Ebensburg, the "Cambria Guards" were out in full uniform and acquitted themselves admirably. In the evening a collision party was given at the hotel of Col. Roberts.

nice compliment paid to us, underscoring as we are, deemed it a duty on our part to respond, and we are gratified to let those who heard us judge, and on their mercy we throw ourselves, profaning the matter with the remark that it was our first effort, in fact our debut. Mr. Schommer, of Carbon county, also replied to a sentiment offered to him, and his eloquence and effective manner of speaking drew the master for his nobility. We were introduced to many of the Democrats of Philadelphia City and County, and it is needless to add that it was one of the most happy gatherings that we have ever yet had the good fortune to be present at.

The 4th of July in Cambria. The return of this hallowed day was celebrated throughout our own county appropriately and feelingly. At the Cherry Tree a Pic Nic and dance party took place in the eve, and the following was the order of exercises, Gen. Gamble, Vice President, assisted by 19 Vice Presidents, and D. R. Kinports and James R. Camp, Esq., as Secretaries.

The citizens of Clearfield township had a dinner at the house of Henry Barber. They assembled at 10 o'clock, and organized by appointing Roger Shields, President, Simon Weakland, Secretary, and John Douglas, Vice President, Peter M. Gough, Secretary. There were about 100 persons took dinner, and then danced until a clock in the evening when they took supper and left for their homes.

A Coincidence. In December last we visited Washington City, and in company with a number of ladies and gentlemen made a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, the Mecca of the New World. Whilst there we cut a hickory stick as close to the "Fomb of Washington" as possible. We brought it home and stated through the "Sentinel" that we would have it made into a beautiful cane, mounted with silver, with an appropriate inscription on the head, and present it to the person obtaining the greatest number of new subscribers for our paper.

Judge Campbell. During a visit to Philadelphia week before last it was our pleasure to form the acquaintance of Hon. James Campbell, one of the Democratic candidates for the Supreme Bench. He is in private life a courteous and affable man, his conversational powers are of the highest order, and to even intimate that he is not pre-eminently qualified for the responsible office to which he has been nominated, is to say that he is not a judge of the qualifications of another by the appearance of the head and the general outline of the features.

An Incident. On the fourth quite an incident occurred that deserves notice. A party of gentlemen who were surveying for the Central Rail Road Company, on the Eastern slope of the Allegheny Mountain, near Kittanning point, encountered a large rattlesnake which had lain itself on a rock at the foot of a huge hemlock tree. They stood at some distance in breathless admiration gazing upon its fair proportions, when an Eagle which was soaring in the skies came gradually down and to all appearances intended to give battle to his snake-ship, but upon noticing the gentlemen it merely gave the rock a tip with its wing and soaring aloft alighted upon the topmost bough of the tree and looked down in defiance. It was a large bird of the Grey species, and the snake could not have had less than fourteen rattles. That the two real emblems of our country should, on the 4th of July at the hour of noon, be in so close proximity with one another is a little singular.

Lin Hammond was last week tried for the larceny of a watch valued at $20, the property of John M. Quinn. The jury found him guilty of the offence, and he was sentenced by the Court to undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for twenty months. Hutchison for Commonwealth, Johnson for Defendant.

Passing over street on Thursday evening of last week, our attention was directed to a crowd of persons rushing into the store of Messrs. Murray Zahre & Co., and upon enquiry learned that they had just received a large and splendid stock of goods from Philadelphia which they were selling at low prices.

On Wednesday of last week, on motion of Mr. Magellan, J. S. Cantwell, Esq., of Ebensburg, was admitted to practice as an Attorney in the several courts of this county. We will always be happy to see our young and talented friend Cantwell joining our ranks, and as an aid in the interior of our county.

The present is an age of reform and progress is true beyond dispute. One of the reforms that dates its era in the present year is that of female dress. Reform in dress is of great importance to every woman. If the present mode of female dress is most conducive to her health, happiness, comfort and convenience, it behooves every woman to resist with all her might any innovation that looks to a change of her present costume.

Let woman dress herself as much as possible of all prejudice and ask herself the question, could I be beautiful and comfortable in a change of the present mode of dress? Having made these introductory remarks we will for a few moments consider "The New Costume." When we see the best notions of this innovation we are free to confess that we were decidedly and unhesitatingly opposed to it, however a gradual change has been going on in our mind in reference to this matter.

The breach however has been opened, and we are glad to see many have already passed it. Ladies will soon had the new dress with pleasure, and we hope before long to see some of the Ebensburg ladies come out full blown in uniform. Let Ebensburg's fair daughters be among the foremost in the ranks of reform, let them boldly do that which common sense sanctions, let them show by their actions that they will combat public opinion when wrong. Let them adopt Davy Crockett's motto as their rule of action. "Be sure you are right, but then go ahead."

My Dear Editor, I do not wish to occupy too much space in your valuable paper, for the present and therefore reserve any further remarks for some future occasion.

A proposal is seriously entertained in the metropolis of pleasure, Paris, for an eight days festival, a splendid fête, to which all nations are to be invited. The object is to draw to Paris the torrent of visitors which have gone to London, and to answer the English exhibition by something more splendid and more costly. The fête is to cost 1,500,000 francs.

Our New York Correspondence. New York, July 13, 1851. EDITOR OF THE MOUNTAIN SENTINEL. The steamship Herman left this port on Friday for Southampton and Bremen, with 99 passengers and $350,000 in specie. The Empire City for Chagres, the Alabama for Havana and the Southerner for Charleston, sailed on the same afternoon.

The receipts at the office of the Assistant Treasurer of this port, amounted, on Saturday, to $141,473 25; payments, $116,979 75; leaving Uncle Sam a balance, on his day's work, of $245,500 50.

When it was announced, that a Yankee lock, superior to any of Chubb's make, had been placed on exhibition in the Crystal Palace, and that a Yankee lock maker proposed to pick Chubb's lock, the only response was a shaft of John Bull's stop head. A Yankee pick Chubb's lock, impossible Mr. Hobbs, the agent of Messrs. Day & Newell, of Great Britain, modestly attempted to call attention to the production of that firm, but his attempts were unavailing.

Mr. Handman, the Chief Engineer of the Machinery Department of the Exhibition, who had discovered that Mr. Hobbs was a man of superior abilities in his line, bought one of Chubb's best six tumbler locks, and circulated a report that the Yankee lock-maker was going to pick it. This created quite an excitement, and Mr. Hobbs soon became something of a hero.

At the dinner, in the evening this task was given by Mr. Sherman. "The Lowell Factory Operatives in Boston Costume" - Was Solomon in all his glory arrayed like one of them? For though they dress like the Editor of the fully, yet they are not like him, since they both toil and spin.

The Queen at the Glass Palace. The London correspondence of the New York Sun gives the following account of a recent visit of Her Majesty to the Great Exhibition: "Quite a rich scene took place last week at the Fair." The Queen gave out on Friday, she would visit the Fair next morning at nine o'clock, attended by her ladies and gentlemen.

On the following day, Lord John Russell, the Duke of Wellington, the Duke of Grafton, and several other magnates, called on Mr. Hobbs, and requested him to explain the principle on which Newell's Paratropic lock is constructed. Mr. H. complied, and his noble visitors expressed themselves highly gratified. Mr. Lawrence, the American Ambassador, who has been a staunch friend of Mr. Hobbs, heard since his arrival, was overjoyed, when he heard of his success.

The following unsolicited card appears in the Clarksville (Tenn.) Jeffersonian, a Democratic paper: "To the people generally. - Having learned from various sources, that I even I would be elected to the Senate, beyond the possibility of a doubt, and knowing the same to be repugnant to my wife's feelings, which happiness alone I wish to perpetuate, I therefore respectfully withdraw my name."

the Common Council on Monday night; from which it appears, that the number of arrests made by the police during that time, was 1677, of which two were for manslaughter, 7 for assault with intent to kill, 2 for bigamy, 12 for rape, 1 arson, 5 forgery, 2 receiving stolen goods, 1 burglary, 5 false pretences, 2 grand larceny, 198 petty larceny, 504 common assault and battery, 508 drunkenness and disorderly conduct, 243 vagrancy, 3 violation of city ordinances. At the different station houses, 725 persons were accommodated with lodging, and 40 stray children found and restored to their parents. This is a great day!

Mortality at St. Louis. The St. Louis Republican of a late date gives a long article, showing the number of deaths in each week for six months past, commencing the 1st of January, 1851, and terminating the 20th of June, 1851. From this report, it appears that the number of interments in the city, within the above period, of which there is any record, was nineteen hundred and two. Of this number five hundred and forty-nine died of cholera, all of which took place in the months of April, May and June. The number of deaths in the above list of mortality reached 1,171, against 751 children of the age of five years and under. 91 males, 1,105 females and 709 females. The Republican further states this large number of deaths, which have taken place principally in the months of April, May and June last, is in the main to be attributed to the vast number of emigrants and returned Californians that have landed amongst them during that period. They publish a table of twenty-nine arrivals from New Orleans, from the 6th of April to the 30th of June inclusive, showing that by those steamboats from New Orleans, 1,225 emigrants and returned Californians were landed at St. Louis.

The Bloomer Demonstration at Lowell. The Lowell factory girls, "pursuant to arrangement," turned out in procession on the fourth of July, dressed up in the bifurcated garment. After parading through the streets of Lowell, one of their number, on behalf of the "meeting," presented a beautiful new banner to one of the fire companies of town, who were begged to accept this from those whose duties to themselves and to others demand a change from an injurious to a healthful costume, and as brave and gallant firemen you cannot be other than the friends of woman in a good cause.
