

The Montenegrins.

Public attention has been lately attracted by the accounts of the war which is going on between the Serbs and their refractory dependents, the Montenegrins. Every foreign arrival brings news of its progress, and of the new phase it assumes, together with speculations as to the probable bearing it will have upon European politics. Turkey, it is said by the latest accounts, is making preparations to throw an army of 30,000 soldiers at once into the country, and overpower and reduce it speedily to subjection. One would suppose a war could not be maintained so long as this one has, by a power so weak. There are not over 100,000 inhabitants in the territory of Montenegro; and its whole extent of mountain peaks will not be over-estimated at ninety square miles. The following, from the New Bedford Mercury, in reference to this subject, will be read with interest:

The two great arbiters of the destinies of Eastern Europe, Russia and Austria, are drawing into the conflict, and the Eastern question, the perpetual puzzle of cabinets, bids fair to be revived. This is a sufficient apology for a word or two upon Montenegro and its people. They were, perhaps, the last fragment of the old Serbian Kingdom, that once stretched from the Black Sea to the Adriatic, but now blotted from the map of nations. In race they are distinct from the Ottoman people, as well as in their religion, which is that of the Greek Church. — Something of the old republicanism of the early New England colony may find a parallel in them; for they are in fact a republic of small communities each village having the right to be governed by its own assembly. The head of the people, called the Bladicks, is both temporal and spiritual leader— is bishop and sovereign. — The office is hereditary and in one family, but cannot descend directly, as the priesthood requires celibacy. The present Bladicks is a practised soldier, having been educated to a military career before entering the church.

Like most mountaineers, the Montenegrins are sharpshooters, using long guns that carry to a great distance, and being brave and fierce and burn with unquenchable hatred against the Turks. Their land is a series of mountain peaks, with deep valleys between, without roads except rough and scarce discernible paths, ascending in fastnesses all but inaccessible to regular troops. Constantly annoyed by their incursions into its territory, the Porte has attempted to crush them, and hence the present war.

In the examples of similar attempts before alluded to, the long and costly and doubtful struggle has been between such people and the nations in the prime of vigor, and assisted by all that exhaustless means and modern science can supply. Here they have only to contend with an effete monarchy, with irregular and feeble resources, and far behind the rest of Europe in warlike arts. The result especially if the mediation of Russia and Austria be thrown into the scale of the Montenegrins, is hardly to be questioned.

Meanwhile, we of the United States, cannot but look with interest at the brave struggles of these mountaineers, though their territory and numbers hardly would equal a single county of some of our own states.

The Dinner at the White House. — The New York Herald's Correspondent, in a letter dated, Washington, March 1st, says: — "The dinner yesterday, at the White House was given to General Pierce. President Fillmore was at the head of the table, with Gen. Pierce at his right and Gen. Scott at his left. Secretary Everett was seated opposite to Gov. Marcy, and Attorney General Crittenden opposite to Gen. Cushing, with the rest of the old and new cabinet intermixed, together with Gen. Cass, Gen. Joe. Lane, Pierre Soule, and other members of both houses. Young Fillmore and Sidney Webster sat side by side, and such a harmonious spectacle of diverse political elements was never known in the White House before. Gen. Scott and Gov. Marcy were especially fraternizing and agreeable. The hasty plate of soup was forgotten in the sparkling champagne. It was nice."

The Late Fire in New Orleans. — The account which we gave yesterday of the disastrous fire on Wednesday night was substantially correct. On a careful inquiry, we are inclined to believe that the amount of cotton destroyed was 17,000 bales, representing a value of $650,000. Of this sum we presume that nearly $150,000 was not covered by insurance, and of the remainder we have ascertained risks embracing in the aggregate about $400,000, leaving a loss of at least $100,000 to be accounted for in some shape or other. The heaviest sufferer is the Home Mutual Insurance Company, which loses $150,000; but whilst we are glad to add that this is one of the most ably managed institutions in the city, so also are we happy to state that they are prepared to adjust on the spot every dollar of their loss from the surplus capital. The Alabama press itself was insured in the Merchants' Office for $14,000, which will not cover the loss by at least $8000.

The following is the reported insurance, and we believe it to be nearly correct:—Home Mutual, $150,000; Sun Mutual, $60,000; Royal Liverpool, $50,000; Liverpool, $30,000; Crescent, $45,000; Tennessee, 17,000; Merchants' $14,000—$366,000.

The friends has, as we understand, a small risk. The fire on Wednesday night, we are happy to state that they are prepared to adjust on the spot every dollar of their loss from the surplus capital. The Wyoming Seminary Destroyed by fire.—Three Hundred Pupils Suddenly Turned Out of Shelter. — WILKESBARRE, March 15.—Last night a fire broke out in the "Wyoming Seminary," at Kingston, about one mile from this place, which entirely destroyed the buildings of the Institution, suddenly turning three hundred pupils out of shelter. The fire originated in the attic at the south end of the building, and every thing was destroyed except part of the instruments. The library, which was a valuable collection, presented to the Institution by Hon. Ziba Bennett, of this place, was also totally destroyed. The north wing of the building was only recently added to the structure at the expense of Wm. Sweetland, Esq., a wealthy citizen of Wyoming valley.

The whole loss is estimated at $21,000, upon which there was an insurance of only $7500. The pupils were, in most instances, unable to save either their books or clothing, which was the rapid progress of the flames.

Within a few years the Rev. Dr. Peck had added to the library many valuable works, which were also destroyed.

The Institution was under the charge of the Reverend R. Nelson.

Later from Havana—Vice President King's Health.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—The Crescent City has arrived with later dates from Havana. The latest advices from Matanzas report that Vice President King was getting more feeble, and it was doubtful whether he would be able to leave Matanzas alive.

Things in Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Ex-President Fillmore did not leave Washington for Richmond, yesterday, on his proposed tour to the South, as he had expected to do, being prevented by the sickness of Mrs. Fillmore. He is now expected to leave on Monday, next.

Resignation and Appointment.

HARRISBURG, March 14.—The Hon. F. W. Hughes, Secretary of the Commonwealth has resigned, and the Governor has to-day commissioned the Hon. Charles A. Black, formerly member of the Senate from Greene county, as Secretary.

It is understood that Mr. Hughes resigned for the purpose of accepting the appointment of Attorney General of the Commonwealth, now vacant.

Horrible Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11. — A horrible murder was committed in South-wark during last night. Two married women, sisters, Hannah Shaw and Ellen Lynch, were found dead in their house this morning at half-past seven o'clock. A trunk containing one hundred and eighty dollars, belonging to Mrs. Lynch, whose husband had left for New York on Wednesday morning, was broken open, and the money stolen. The persons who occupied the lower part of the house had been to a ball all night, and returning this morning, found the women dead. There is great excitement, and a number of arrests have been made. The inquest has not yet finished.

SECOND DISPATCH.

An examination of the bodies of the women was had. Forty-one stabs were found on that of Mrs. Lynch, five entering her heart; and seventeen on that of Mrs. Shaw. An attempt was made to burn the house down, but after burning a hole in the kitchen floor, the fire went out. Many arrests have been made, including an old Sing-Sing convict, named Arthur Spring.

The Recent Murder.

PHILADELPHIA, March 14. — The vicinity of the recent murder was thronged with a curious crowd. Lynch, the husband of one of the deceased women, was in New York this morning, and will return here this evening. Arthur Spring, against whom suspicions of the strongest nature exist, has been committed to prison. Mrs. Shaw was struck with a piece of leaden pipe, by a left handed man, and Spring has that peculiarity. This, combined with other facts, make a chain of evidence sufficient to fasten the guilt upon him.

From Mexico.

NEW ORLEANS, March 14. — We have Mexican dates to the 21st. The Trait D'Union says that there is little doubt that Santa Anna will be re-elected President. A house has been already secured and furnished for him. A Mexican Revenue Cutter sailed from Vera Cruz, with a Commissioner to invite his immediate return.

Cotton has been in brisk demand for the last four days. The sales were 54,000 bales, in all the Southern ports there are 529,000 bales; prices firm.

We have late dates from Honduras. There is great excitement here, the British steamer Demanda is anchored off Tegucigalpa, and demanded a surrender in the name of the Mosquito King, to decide in two hours, under a threat of bombardment. The inhabitants yielded under protest. The Honduras flag was pulled down, and the Mosquito hoisted. — The steamer then proceeded to Lima, and cannonading was afterwards heard in that quarter. It is presumed that the steamer was attacked by the Honduras troops.

A severe shock of an earthquake was heard at Balise on the 10th February.

Col. King.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 14. — The oath was not administered to Vice President King, on the 4th. Mr. Rodney, Vice Consul, visited Mr. King on the 3d, for the purpose, but Mr. King considered the ceremonies unnecessary, fearing that he should never reach Washington to assume the office; if he should, the oath could be administered at Washington. His friends, however, who accompany him, encourage the hope that the salubrity of his present location, may yet restore him to health.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 11. — Secretary Marcy has communicated to the Clerks in the State Department, the very pleasing intelligence, that none who have discharged their duties faithfully will be removed. The office seekers complain very bitterly of this, but the resolution is founded on a first principle of public policy, it will, doubtless, be adhered to.

President Pierce and lady reached here to-night, from Baltimore.

Colonel Benton will, to-morrow, or on Monday, publish a pamphlet on the best practicable route for a railroad to the Pacific, and the manner of constructing it.

The crowd increases and the rush for offices is unparalleled.

There will be but one applicant for each office in Illinois. The congressional delegation from that State have agreed upon a list of persons to be selected, and sent their names in, with recommendations, to the heads of the different departments.

To try a Woman's Patience.—Spit tobacco juice on her parlor carpet, or cut mugs at her baby. If that won't make her stare up, nothing will.

A verdict of $500 has been obtained in the New York Supreme Court, against the Paterson and Hudson River Railroad, in favor of Peter A. Townsend, whose arm was broken June 21st, 1850, while the elbow projected from the car window, by striking against a timber on the Passaic River Bridge. The Court charged that he could not recover, if notices cautioning against putting out arms were posted up in the cars, which the defendants claimed was the case.

A BILL DISPUTED.—The harness for the horses and carriage to be presented to General Pierce, was contracted for and made in Boston, but the contractor having subsequently charged $1,837 for the same, the committee refused to pay it, and ordered a new set to be made in N. York. The Boston contractor's it is said, will sue the committee for the amount, as they directed him to make it of the best material, without regard to cost. The mountings on the harness cost over $1,100, and are mostly of solid silver, and of most beautiful design, representing oak branches, leaf and acorn.

POISONING.

Thousands of parents who use Vermifuge composed of Castor oil, Calomel, &c., are not aware, that while they appear to benefit the patient, they are actually laying the foundations for a series of diseases, such as salivation, loss of sight, weakness of limbs, &c.

In another column will be found the advertisement of Hobensack's Medicines, to which we ask the attention of all directly interested in their own as well as their Children's health. In Liver Complaints and all disorders arising from those of a bilious type, should make use of the only genuine medicine, Hobensack's Liver Pills.

"Be not deceived," but ask for Hobensack's Worm Syrup and Liver Pills, and observe that each has the signature of the Proprietor, J. N. Hobensack, as none else are genuine.
