LOUIS NAPOLEON IN NEW YORK.

Too ready credulity leads to serious error; especially as it affects our opinion of human character. To believe what is scandalously narrated of conspicuous men, would often lead to the conclusion that infamy is the road to renown; and that, in order to become great, a certain previous viciousness of life is necessary. It is a lamentable comment upon human nature, that a majority of mankind delight in evil speaking, as well as thinking; and go the work of detraction with somewhat the eagerness of a burglar to rifling a casket. Defamation, under various guises, is indulged in almost universally. Merit is rarely acknowledged. Greatness by natural causes is termed greatness thrust upon one, and, therefore, without merit; while greatness achieved, is that of which the possessor is invariably unworthy. The perusal of certain newspaper items, concerning the career of Louis Napoleon in New York, has led to these remarks. The items reflect no credit upon either the ingenuity of their authors, or the sagacity of their publishers. Wonder at the intelligence of the brilliant "coup-d'etat," by which Louis gained the throne of France, had hardly ceased, before the newspapers began to tell of his sorrows, but undaunted, he came to this city, in 1837. The fact is undeniable; but what proportion of the population of 1855 even dreamed of it? However, the fact leaks out; and immediately a tremendous majority of our present innumerable Gothamites remember him perfectly. "Most all knew him by sight, at least; and a majority, by heart; 'hail fellows, well met; 'hob-nobbed with him many a time!'" If we credit the former, the latter, doubtless, due to his rather secluded stay in this city, must have been favored with troops of confidential friends, and scores of bosom companions! How unfortunate that so large and intimate a circle of acquaintance have for his memory so little love and praise!

We read in some of the papers of his frequenting low haunts, imbibing intolerable tipples, and even, occasionally, indulging in pugilistic combats with the "b'hoys;" that he was, moreover, once, compelled to "sista" in the "Tomb," and that, moreover, he ungratefully cheated the magnanimous attorney who got him out! I read all this, and more, "ad nauseam;" and, by way of curious inquiry, have taken pains to ascertain from the few surviving and accessible persons who really did know him at that time, what manner of man he was, and what they thought of him. My efforts have been amply rewarded. The tenth of reproach comes from no one of the highly respectable gentlemen to whose polite attention I am indebted for all the information I have been enabled to gather concerning the character, bearing and conduct of the Prince, during his sojourn among us. On the contrary, I have heard, on all hands, naught but hearty and generous encomiums, such as men rarely trust themselves to bestow upon their fellows; the more hearty and generous, too, in proportion to the intimacy of the parties, and facilities for observation. Mr. Livingston Stewart, of this city, who frequently saw him in the polite circles of that day, speaks of him as an engaging, yet forbidding person, usually taciturn, thoughtful, wearing in the gray crowd a shade of sadness, which, though interesting to contemplate, deterred Mr. S. from what he feared might be intrusive approach. Mr. S. says that his brother, Rev. Mr. Stewart, Chaplain in the United States Navy, very intimately knew Louis, his sympathizing friend and frequent companion; and he always entertained and expressed the opinion, that Louis Napoleon was a superior man, and predicted that he would in time show himself great. Captain Shumway, an artist of this city, who, at the request of Chaplain Stewart, painted an excellent miniature likeness of the Prince, is overflowing with agreeable reminiscences of both his personal features and general deportment. He speaks of him, in the first place, as the most punctual man to business engagements he ever knew; never varying, during his numerous appointments, thirty seconds from the exact time fixed upon for sitting. On one occasion, Shumway, himself, being oblivious, was recalled by his duty by encountering Louis in the street, hastening towards his studio to meet an engagement, which, though made by the artist, had been by him entirely forgotten. The Prince expressed great delight on seeing a fine mezzotint engraving of one of the Imperial Guard, which Shumway had hung in his studio, and remarked, that he had "never seen one like it in Paris or elsewhere," and begged and obtained "permission" to borrow it in order that he might copy it. On another occasion, entering the same apartment, and observing a musket standing against the wall, he eagerly caught it up, brandished it in a moment, and then went through the manual with uncommon grace and dexterity—circumstances trivial enough in themselves, yet pregnant with future promise to the eye of the only observer. The artist further describes him as, at that time, a remarkably handsome man, and of most pleasing demeanor, "rather quick, impulsive, nervous, playing with the chain of his watch, and sitting for his picture. The outlines of his face, the massive cheek and colour of the eye, strikingly resembled those of Napoleon I. His remarkably luxuriant brown moustache, was, in itself, heroic. His complexion was rich, fresh and healthy. His dress was a dark blue frock coat, exquisitely fitted to a noble figure. His height appeared about five feet eight inches; and his age about thirty." Such is the personal portrait of Louis Napoleon, as given by Captain Shumway; who, of course, during the numerous sittings, had peculiar opportunities of closely and critically observing him. The miniature was exhibited in the National Academy of Design, at Clinton Hall; and, if we mistake not, is still in the possession of Captain Stewart.

I regret the difficulty of obtaining incident enough to fairly portray so interesting a subject. You have to search "with a lamp" in order to find a person, now-a-days, who enjoyed the acquaintance of the Prince during his stay in this city; and when you have found him, he can only tell you that Louis was a most remarkable and interesting person. A gentleman with whom I conversed the other day, speaks of him as "one upon whose placid, correct and unexcitable deportment the ripple of scandal could not plausibly appear, steadfast in faith of coming advancement, his eye fixed to the future, on the star of Destiny in which now his sceptre gleams. He was an accomplished gentleman, of noble person, dignified yet pleasing manners; a man who, anywhere, and under any circumstances, would command respect, while he at the same time commanded respect." I can find no ground for the scandalous aspersions which have been imposed upon a portion of the press in this city and elsewhere, to the contrary. I hope in the production of reliable items further illustrative of Louis's career in New-York, in a future communication, to illustrate, at the same time, the mischief of that unruly member whose mendacious whisperings, at the editorial typewriter, are almost as pernicious as those which issued from the one who said, "equal, like a tail close to the ear of Eve." Yours, A LOVER OF TRUTH.

AN exchange says that there is a Hotel building in Broadway, the proprietors of which intend, in addition to the "Fridal Chamber," to have a "Death Room" fitted up in magnificent style, with metallic coffins, shrouds, pallis add plates, for the accommodation of travelers who wish to die decently, "and have their executors pay for it."

THE $500 CHALLENGE.

WHATEVER concerns the health and happiness of a people is at all times of most valuable importance. I take it for granted that every person will do all in their power, to save the lives of their children, and that every person will endeavor to promote their own health at all sacrifices. I feel it to be my duty to solemnly assure you that Worms, according to the opinions of the most celebrated Physicians, are the primary causes of a large majority of diseases to which children and adults are liable; if you have an appetite continually changeable from one kind of food to another, Bad Breath, Pain in the Stomach, Picking at the Nose, Hardness and Fullness of the Belly, Dry Cough, Slow Fever, Pulse Irregular—remember that all these denote worms, and you should at once apply the remedy!

Hobensack's Worm Syrup.

An article founded upon Scientific Principles, compounded with purely vegetable substances, being perfectly safe when taken, and can be given to the most tender Infant with decided beneficial effect, where Bowel Complaints and Diarrhoea have made them weak and debilitated the Tonic properties of my Worm Syrup are such, that it stands upon an equal in the catalogue of medicines in giving tone and strength to the Stomach, which makes it an infallible remedy for those afflicted with Diarrhoea, the astonishing cures performed by this Syrup after Physicians have failed, is the best evidence of its superior efficacy over all others.

THE TAPE WORM!

This is the most difficult Worm to destroy of all that infest the human system, it grows to an enormous length, becoming so coiled and fastened in the Intestines and Stomach effecting the health so sadly as to cause St. Vitus Dance, Fits, &c., that those afflicted seldom if ever suspect that it is Tape Worm hastening them to an early grave. In order to destroy this Worm, a very energetic treatment must be pursued, it would therefore be proper to take 6 or 8 of my Liver Pills so as to remove all obstructions, that the Worm Syrup may act direct upon the Worm, such must be taken in doses of 2 Tablespoons, 3 times a day, these directions followed have never been known to fail in curing the most obstinate case of Tape Worm.

Hobensack's Liver Pills.

No part of the system is more liable to disease than the Liver, it serving as a filterer to purify the blood, or giving the proper secretion to the bile; so that any wrong action of the Liver effects the other important parts of the system, and results variously, in Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, &c. We should, therefore, watch every symptom that might indicate a wrong action of the Liver. These Pills being composed of Roots & Plants furnished by nature to heal the sick! Namely, 1st, An Expectorant, which augments the secretion from the Pulmonary mucus membrane, or promotes the discharge of secreted matter. 2nd, An Alterative, which changes in some inexplicable and insensible manner the certain morbid action of the system. 3rd, A Tonic, which gives tone and strength to the nervous system, renewing health and vigor to all parts of the body. 4th, A Cathartic, which acts in perfect harmony with the other ingredients, and operating on the Bowels, and expelling the whole mass of corrupt and vitiated matter, and purifying the Blood, which destroys disease and restores health.

TO FEMALES.

You will find these Pills an invaluable medicine in many complaints to which you are subject.—In obstructions either total or partial, they have been found of estimable benefit, restoring their functional arrangements to a healthy action, purifying the blood and other fluids so effectually to put to flight all complaints which may arise from female irregularities, as headache, giddiness, dimness of sight, pain in the side back, &c.

CONSUMPTION DISARMED OF ITS TERRORS!!

HASTINGS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF NAPHTHA.

A quick and positive Cure for Consumption, decline, asthma, spitting of blood, night sweats, husky throat, wasting of the flesh, bronchitis, coughs, colds, and all diseases of the chest and lungs.

This celebrated preparation is pleasant to the taste, and is so speedy in its operations that patients positively feel its good effects in a few minutes after taking the first dose.

Hastings' Compound Syrup of Naphtha Is now acknowledged by all the ablest physicians of both hemispheres, to be a quick and positive remedy for arresting the formation of tubercles on the lungs; and removing those already formed; and also to be the speediest and most effective of all medicinal agents in the cure of all other diseases of the throat, chest and lungs. Language cannot express the value of Hastings' Naphtha Syrup in these diseases. It not only cures them effectually, but it gives immediate evidence of its ability to do so; for in a few minutes after the first dose has been taken, the patient feels that a powerful agent is in the system, strongly working for his good. Its operations are never delayed.—It at once flies to, and attacks the root of the disease with an energy unknown to other medicines; and that disease must be deeply seated indeed which can resist its unrivalled influence. Hence it has frequently cured a painful cough in a day, which had defied other popular remedies for a month; and has removed difficulty of breathing and pain in the throat and chest, in a few minutes, by the surprising energy of its action in clearing the passages of bile and phlegm. It is believed that no person has given Hastings' Naphtha Syrup a trial, who has not felt benefit from it, and acknowledge its virtues. And this conviction is further established by the opinions of the London Lancet, London Medical Times, and most other responsible publications, devoted to the same interests.—Until the appearance of the Naphtha Syrup, the medical faculty had always regarded Consumption as an incurable disease, and the records of medical science exhibited no authenticated case that weighed seriously against that opinion. Since Dr. Hastings' discovery, however, of the new and greatest property of Naphtha, when united with other ingredients, nearly a thousand cases of absolute phthisis positively cured through its agency, have been substantiated; and this well established fact, in connection with a mass of experiments successfully made of its virtues by the ablest physicians of Europe, clearly prove that Hastings' Compound Syrup of Naphtha is a positive cure for Consumption, even in its worst stages. Three of the main causes of this property of Naphtha have been discovered. They are its extraordinary subtlety, strength, and pervasiveness; for the moment it is received into the system, it extends itself throughout, making a passage of every pore, no matter how much clogged up they may have previously been by foreign substances. Hence it operates on the diseased lungs by dislodging the particles of corruption in the strength of its ascent to the upper regions of the frame land thus producing thorough ventilation; and hence it is a never failing remedy in Oppression of the chest and difficulty in breathing; person thus affected, feeling after taking it, as if it had forced a passage through some channel which their disease had stopped up, and the re-opening of which was the only result necessary to the restoration of health. Such indeed, are the promptness of action and energy of Hastings' Naphtha Syrup, in all the diseases for which it is recommended, that from the time they commence taking it patients know

THAT IT IS CURING THEM; an effect nearly the reverse of that which attends the earlier use of every other known medicinal remedy. For Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Night Sweats, Pains in the Breast, Back, &c., spitting of blood, bilious and asthmatic Affections, it is also admitted to be the speediest and most vigorous and effective remedy extant; and its effect in all Asthmatic complaints is equally decisive and remarkable. Lassitude of the mind; flatulency and wasting of the flesh; and all disposition to inactivity and melancholy forebodings, are also quickly corrected by the Naphtha Syrup; which, in a wonderful manner revives the spirits, corrects by the flesh and muscles—increases the nerves and increases the weight. Thus, those who take it according to directions, generally increase its weight about a pound a week; and may take it for no other purpose than the dissipation of melancholy, or the increase of bodily strength. In fine, a single trial of Hastings' Compound Syrup of Naphtha, is all that is required to secure the confidence of patients, and cause them to forego all other remedies in its favor. The Syrup is made up in six ounce bottles, each accompanied with a pamphlet, containing directions, certificates, &c. Price one dollar each, or six bottles packed up in a box, and ready for transportation to any part of the world, can be had for five dollars.

N. B.—Hastings' Naphtha Syrup, being a very expensive preparation, cannot be left with Agents on sale, or return, as is the case with the majority of the quack nostrums of the day, which cost little more than the price of the bottles. Persons who want it to sell again must pay cash for it, with the usual commission off. Therefore patients who cannot obtain it in the places where they reside, should write to us direct for a supply, and we will forward it to them without delay (packed up in a manner to secure its safe delivery) provided they can be reached by Express, Stage, Route, or any other mode of conveyance. All letters must be post paid—contain the price, of the number of bottles ordered, and be directed to C. V. CLICKENER & CO., No. 81 Barclay Street, New York, who are Dr. Hastings' general Agents for America. Agent—Frederick Kittell, Ebersburg, December 16, 1852—8-6m.

LYON'S MAGNETIC PILLS,

FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF RATS AND MICE, within five minutes after being thrown in their vicinity. Read the following Letters:

New York, October 1, 1850. I have made a chemical examination of the Vegetable Powder prepared by Mr. Emanuel Lyon, for the purpose of destroying insects. I do not find it to contain anything deleterious to health, or what might be considered poisonous to the human species; but it is very destructive to insects, whenever they are forced to inhale the fine particles of dust occasioned by throwing the Powder forcibly in places where they frequent.

New York, Hospital, June 9, 1850. I have analyzed Emanuel Lyon's Magnetic Powders for the destruction of insects, and certify that it is entirely free from mineral or other corrosive poison. As the result of my examination I would say that is a combination of various vegetable substances having a peculiar influence on the insect kingdom, and that it may be used with perfect safety. In reference to its utility, its effects are astonishing. I believe it to be a skillfully prepared substance by which a valuable result is obtained, which does effect what Mr. Lyon says, and is well deserving of public patronage. LAWRENCE REID, Professor of Chemistry.

New York Hospital, June 1, 1850. Dear Sir—It affords me great pleasure in stating that I have extensively used your Powder for the destruction of insects of all kinds, (especially Bed Bugs and Roaches) and unhesitatingly pronounce it the best and only article so effectual in its operation. I have also experimented with your Pills, and find them equal in all respects with your statements. Hoping that you may prosper, I remain your friend.

We procured from Mr. B. H. Meakings, some of Lyon's Magnetic Powder and Pills and cheerfully certify as to its perfect efficacy in destroying Roaches and Rats within a few minutes after its application. It is the most simple, yet perfect remedy we have ever seen.

VAYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

To cure a cold, with hoarseness and soreness of the body, take the Cherry Pectoral on going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night. For a cold and cough, take it morning, noon, and evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed.—None will suffer longer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily cured. Persons afflicted with a seated cough, which breaks them from their rest at night, will find, by taking the Cherry Pectoral on going to bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

From its agreeable effect in these cases, many find themselves unwilling to forego its use when the necessity for it has ceased.

From two eminent Physicians in FAYETTEVILLE, TENN., April, 16th, 1851. Sir:—We have given your Cherry Pectoral an extensive trial in our practice, and find it to surpass every other remedy we have for curing affections of the respiratory organs.

DR. DIEMER & HAMPTON. To singers and public speakers this remedy is invaluable, as by its action on the throat and lungs, when taken in small quantities, it removes all hoarseness in a few hours, and wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

Asthma is generally much relieved, and often wholly cured by Cherry Pectoral. But there are some cases so obstinate as to yield entirely to no medicine. Cherry Pectoral will cure them, if they can be cured at all. Bronchitis, or irritation of the throat and upper portion of the lungs, may cured by taking Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.—The uncomfortable oppression is soon relieved. Rev. Dot. Lansing, of Brooklyn, New York, states:—

"I have seen the Cherry Pectoral cure such cases of Asthma and Bronchitis as leads me to believe it can rarely fail to cure those diseases. For example, I saw an emetic of antimony, to be followed by large and frequent doses of the Cherry Pectoral, until subsided the disease. If taken in season, it will not fail to cure. Whooping cough may be broken up and soon cured by the use of Cherry Pectoral.

The influenza is speedily removed by this remedy. Numerous instances have been noticed where whole families were protected from any serious consequences, while their neighbors, without the Cherry Pectoral, were suffering from the disease. SALEM, Oo., 11th, June 1851.

I write to inform you of the truly remarkable effect of your Cherry Pectoral in this place, and in my own family. One of my daughters was completely cured in three days of a dreadful Whooping Cough, by taking it. Dr. Means, one of our very best physicians freely states that he considers it the best remedy we have for pulmonary diseases, and that he has cured more cases of Croup with it than any other medicine he ever administered.

Our clergyman of the Baptist Church says that during the run of influenza here this season, he has seen cures from your medicine he could scarcely have believed possible. Yours respectfully, J. D. SINGLER, Deputy Postmaster.

From the distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Materia Medica Bowdoin College. I have found the Cherry Pectoral, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and coughs, and pulmonary diseases. PARKER CLEVELAND, M. D. Brunswick, Me., Feb. 8, 1847.

DR. VALENTINE MOTT. The widely celebrated Professor of Surgery in the Medical College, New York City, says:—"I give me pleasure to certify the value and efficacy of 'Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,' which I consider peculiarly adapted to cure diseases of the Throat and Lungs."

Cures of severe diseases upon the Lungs have been effected by Cherry Pectoral in such extreme cases as warrant the belief that a remedy has at length been found that can be depended on to cure the Coughs, Colds and Consumption, which carry from our midst thousands every year. It is indeed a medicine to which the afflicted can look with confidence for relief, and they should not fail to avail themselves of it. PREPARED AND SOLD BY JAMES C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

Sold in Ebersburg by Fred. Kittell, and by Druggists and Dealers in Medicine every where. August 19, 1852—44-9m.

STORR'S CHEMICAL HAIR INVIGORATOR.

This delightful and popular article in the best preparation for the hair which long experience and scientific research has produced, either as a remedy for the scalp, or its beneficial effects in all the diseases to which the human hair is liable. It will impart to the roughest and coarsest hair the most beautiful appearance, entirely cleansing it from all impurities. But while we assert that it is the best article for the toilet of those who wish to retain the hair in all its youthful LUXURIANCE AND BEAUTY. It must not be forgotten that in all diseases of the hair or scalp, such as the falling of the hair, dandruff, pimples, or sores on the scalp, &c., it is, perhaps the article which has given decided satisfaction in every instance where it has been used. Its operation in case of baldness is peculiarly active, so that, in numerous, where other remedies have been tried in vain, STORR'S CHEMICAL INVIGORATOR has superseded the ornamental use of oil, or its beneficial effects in the permanent growth and graces of nature. It is possessed of a character wholly differing from the Oils, Grease, Restoratives, &c., which are now so numerous foisted on the public, under the pretence of being newly discovered for baldness, gray hair, &c.

Storr's Invigorator has now been tested for years, and its efficacy has been proved by thousands. Every year its reputation and sales have increased, until more of it is consumed annually than of any other preparation for the hair ever offered to the American public. It is compounded on strictly scientific principles, and the proprietor will stake his reputation on its efficacy. Its extraordinary cheapness places it within the reach of the humblest family, and its conceded value insures it a place on the most luxurious toilet.
