

Some Interesting Statistics.
There are in the appendix to a report of the Secretary of the Treasury, lately communicated to the Senate, on the Colonial and Lake Trade of the United States, several important and useful tables of the general trade of the country. The substance of some of these we shall give in a condensed form.

Our average imports from 1821 to 1826, specie included, were $80,873,348; from 1848 to 1852, they were $181,966,579, showing that they have more than doubled in thirty years. Our average imports from 1821 to 1826 were 69,439,785, and from 1848 to 1852, 175,948,360. In 1821 the tonnage of the United States was only 1,298,968 tons, in 1852 it was 4,138,441 tons, showing that it has more than trebled in thirty years. Next to Great Britain we have a larger tonnage than any nation in the world, and in five years, at the present rate of increase, we shall surpass Great Britain.

The value of our annual products exceeds three thousand millions of dollars, of which only about $170,000,000 are sent abroad, leaving $2,830,000,000 to be consumed at home and interchanged among the States. At least $900,000,000 is thus interchanged in the glorious free-trade system which prevails between the States of the Union. How small, after all, is our foreign trade, about which we legislate so much, and for the defence of which, the collection of the duties upon it we spend so much, compared with the inland business!

The total debt of the several States in 1851 was $201,541,024, which was less, by some millions, than it had been during the previous ten years. The value of property assessed in the same States was $85,983,149,407, the value being, however, $7,063,157,779, a pretty good security, we think, for their debts, whether owing at home or abroad.

The total population of the villages, towns, and cities of the United States, is only 4,000,000, while the rural population, "the honest peasantry, their country's pride," is 19,263,000. The four cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore contain a population of 1,214,000, the amount of whose real and personal property is $702,000,000, or $578 each. The property of the rural population is $2,312,000,000, or about $120 each.

From returns of the agricultural crops, it appears that we raise annually $143,000,000 in wheat, $391,200,000 in Indian corn, $190,275,000 in hay, $70,840,000 in oats, $73,125,000 in Irish potatoes, and $129,000,000 in cotton; the whole crop being $1,752,589,042. No crop of ours makes more noise in the world than cotton, yet, when it is compared to other crops, such as wheat and Indian corn, and particularly with the whole annual crop, we see no reason why it should take on so many airs; and we suppose the reason is, that it goes abroad a great deal, and, like travelled gentlemen, rather looks down upon the stay-at-homes. Why, the animals slaughtered are worth quite as much as the cotton, bringing some $3,000,000 per annum! One of the most useful of our crops, wine, is yet in its infancy, the West having made only a little over 1,000,000 gallons in 1851, worth about $500,000; but the cultivation is increasing, and in a few years will be immense, especially in New Mexico and California, which are admirably adapted to it, shall go into the business.

No portion of the trade of the Union has grown more rapidly, within a few years, than that connected with the steam marine. The total number of steam vessels now employed on our coast is 945, with a tonnage of 212,500, and employing 11,770 men as officers and crew. In the interior the number of steam vessels is 765, with a tonnage of 204,725, and employing 17,607 men. Our whole steam marine, therefore, amounts to 1,710 vessels, with a tonnage of 417,225, manned by 29,377 men, and carrying, besides freight, about 40,000,000 of passengers every year. In this vast travel only 750 lives were lost in 1852; far too many, but not so many as some people, who fancy every steamboat a powder-house, are prepared to expect.

The amount of money paid into the treasury of the United States, as duties on foreign goods, in the year 1852, was at New York $28,772,558, at Philadelphia $4,715,126, at Boston $6,250,000, and at Baltimore $1,003,550. It will be seen that New York more than triples all the other cities.

There are 12,808 miles of railroad in operation in the United States, and 12,612 in progress; more than in all the rest of the world. Of those in operation, three-fourths are in the free States, and almost the same proportion holds good in respect to those which are projected.—N. York Post.

DIED:
At his residence in Ebsenburg, on Friday night, May 27th, of Disease of the Heart, Mr. CHARLES LITZINGER, in the 46th year of his age. The suddenness of the death of Mr. Litzinger cast a sad gloom over this community, and his brief sickness and most unexpected decease reminded all that none can foretell the ending of mortality. But one brief hour previous to his death he was in usual health, and attending to his business; he was, in fact, more lively than he had been for some weeks previously, having almost entirely recovered from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism which had sorely afflicted him, and in conversation with his fellow citizens on the evening of his decease, he was sociable and companionable. He had made arrangements to go to the country, in a carriage on the morrow, in company with a friend, unconscious of the mutability of all earthly things, and with no expectation that to him this evening would be "the last of earth." He retired to rest before 11 o'clock, and a half hour afterwards arose and asked his son to give him a drink of water, saying that he felt unwell. His son noticing the change of color in his father's face, dispatched for the physician, who arrived in a few moments and found the tide of life fast ebbing away. He breathed his last in a short time, surrounded by an afflicted wife and family, and several personal friends. Mr. Litzinger was a man useful and beneficial to this community and much esteemed and admired by his fellow citizens. He was, many years ago, High Constable of this Borough for some years, and at a later period Treasurer of the county. And while his many friends grieve for the loss of one, whose sudden transition from this world of sorrows to that of eternal happiness and rest, has in it a solemnity that awes the heart of man, yet admires him of that truth, "in the midst of life we are in death," and while sorrow clouds their hearts, they cannot forget, yet can they feel for the unutterable grief that exists in that once happy home, now made sorrowful by the loss of a fond, kind-hearted and affectionate parent.

which I have just received of late importation. In Gents' wear I defy competition, and confidently invite an examination of one of the largest, cheapest and best selected stocks of ready-made clothing, cloths, cassimeres, &c., ever brought to Cambria county; comprising all colors and qualities, which I will sell cheap and warrant to give satisfaction. Also, caps, bonnets,
BOOTS AND SHOES,
of the best qualities and latest styles, together with queneaware, hardware, groceries, salt, books stationary, &c.
The highest market price paid for all kinds of Produce.
November 11, 1852.

NEW GOODS.
The subscriber would respectfully inform his friends and customers, that he has received and is now opening, at the store room formerly occupied by Richard Lewis, dec'd., a large and general assortment of goods, consisting in part of
DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, HARDWARE,
Queneaware, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c., all of which he is determined to sell low either for cash or approved country produce. He solicits examination of his stock, and is confident he can sell cheaper than the cheapest.
