EBENSBURG.
 THURSDAY MORNING, JANUARY 25.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.
 Tunnel Hill Inn for Rent, by James A. Bradley.—Broker's Office, by Michael Ehrenfeldt—Geo. W. Todd, with Conrad & Walton.—Estray, by Isaac Glass.—Notice, by Milton Roberts.

A number of articles have been crowded out, owing to the great length of Hon. Joseph R. Chandler's speech.

A Legislative Trio.

From a hasty glance at the proceedings of the present Know Nothing Legislature, we have no doubt that there are three members of that intellectual body, who are emphatically entitled to the appellation of "The three wise men of Pennsylvania," in humble imitation of the seven wise men of Greece. The first of these is a man by the name of Smith, in the lower House, who, instead of representing the county of Allegheny, not only misrepresents the people of that County, but also the people of the State. Who this man Smith is we are not informed. He may be the veritable John Smith or his legitimate son. He has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to confer on negroes the right of suffrage. Smith evidently has "seen Sam" or in other words is a natural as well as political Know Nothing, and has never even read the Constitution of the State. If he had, he would have learned that as long as the Constitution remains unchanged, it will require something more than a mere legislative enactment to accomplish its purpose. The aforesaid Smith is a very great man on very small capital, and deserves to be rewarded with a leather medal.

The second member of the trio is the Rev. Ralph Clapp, of Venango county, who by some political legerdemain has been smuggled into the Legislature and disgraces his calling. He appears to be as much out of place in the Halls of Legislation as a bull in a parlor. He has introduced in the House a Bill to establish Courts of Conciliation; singular in its design as well as the means of accomplishing its object—a mere silly and senseless effort to legalize what every child knows can now be done without any action of the Solons at Harrisburg. It is known that the county of Venango has for years been distinguished for its prolific production of great men—we think, however, that Ralph has eclipsed all of them, and is entitled to be placed in the foremost ranks of the great men of Venango, who are generally supposed, from their peculiar modesty, to rival the F. F. V.'s of Virginia.—Ralph is a rising man, and has earned for himself the kind regards of the Judiciary of Pennsylvania.

The third, and not the least of the trio, is a young man by the name of John W. Killinger, a member of the State Senate from Lebanon county. He has introduced a resolution in the Senate, instructing the Committee on the Militia, to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill disbanding all volunteer companies in the State, and forbidding the formation of new companies, of which said companies two thirds of the members and officers are not American born citizens. This precious genius is the same John W. Killinger who was a member of the House of Representatives from Lebanon county in 1850, and who was regarded in his legislative career, as like a certain class of fools who rush in even where angels fear to tread, and to whom a well-merited rebuke was administered by that eccentric man Jesse R. Burden, who appeared to think that the aforesaid John W. Killinger, like a certain man, had got above his business. We presume that the Militia Committee will administer to John W. Killinger the same dose that he received from Jesse R. Burden, and will say to him that in this instance he has a second time initiated the rasa and attempted to bargain for more than he can perform. If the committee does its duty they will say so in their report on his resolution. If any battles are hereafter to be fought by American volunteers in Mexico, or elsewhere, in defence of the rights of their country, we are quite sure that such miserable Know Nothings and sun shine patriots as John W. Killinger would not object to the Irish and Germans, who now compose two thirds of the regular army as well as the volunteers, doing all the fighting, while he modestly occupies his seat in the Senate, not permitting the villainous smell of gunpowder to pass between the wind and his nobility." Shakespeare in one of his plays has immortalized the two Dromios; if he were now living we have no doubt he would hand down to an unenviable immortality Smith, Clapp and Killinger—the three Boobian members of the Legislature. As they have been inseparable in their Legislative lives so in death may they not be separated.

GOD'S LADY'S BOOK.—We are in receipt of the February number of this Magazine. It is a beautiful number, containing its usual number of spirited engravings. The reading matter is excellent, and not any behind its contemporaries.

Joseph R. Chandler's Speech.
 In our paper of this week will be found a speech delivered in Congress by the Hon. Joseph R. Chandler, of the city of Philadelphia, in reply to certain charges made by a Know Nothing member of Congress from Massachusetts, against the Pope and the Catholic Church. Mr. Chandler has long been favorably known, not only in Pennsylvania, but in the Union, as a gentleman of distinguished ability and high moral character. He is a Catholic in religion, and a Whig of the Henry Clay school in politics. His speech is regarded at Washington as a complete vindication of that side of the question which he espouses—it is liberal in its tone, and American in all its sentiments. We have not time to refer to it more at length. Let every lover of the truth read it—it will amply repay perusal.

The Pacific Railroad Bill.

The Pacific Railroad bill was amended in the House of Representatives, on Saturday, by adopting Mr. McDougal's substitute—years 132, nays 79, and then passed to a third reading—years 104, nays 97. The bill, as it stands, provides for one Grand Trunk Central Railroad, and a telegraphic line from some point on the western boundary of Missouri or Iowa, between the thirty-sixth and forty-third degree of north latitude, on the nearest and most eligible route to San Francisco, and two branch railroads and telegraphic lines, one diverging from said Central Road at some eligible point east of the Rocky Mountains, between the 103rd and 105th parallel of west longitude, and running through the territories of the United States in the direction of Memphis Tennessee, and one diverging from the Central road at the point last aforesaid, and running through the territories of the United States to the most eligible point on the western shore of Lake Superior. For this purpose the bill appropriates public lands equal to the alternate sections for the space of twelve miles on each side of the road from the eastern to the western terminus. It is made the duty of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Postmaster General, to cause advertisements to be published in two newspapers of each State and the District of Columbia, inviting sealed proposals for the construction of the road and telegraphic lines on the terms stated.

Henry C. Hickock, Esq., of Union co., is appointed Deputy Superintendent of Common Schools under the new administration. Mr. Dillenbaugh filed the station with marked ability under Gov. Bigler.

PARDONED.—We learn from the Hollidaysburg Standard, that Alexander Hutchison, tried and convicted of the murder of Nathaniel Edminston, has been pardoned by Governor Bigler.

The Democracy of Huntington county have elected John Scott, Esq., as Representative Delegate to the next State Convention; and T. P. Campbell, F. O'Connor and A. B. Lee, as Senatorial Conferences.

SPECIAL ELECTION.—The Speaker of the Senate has issued his writ, ordering a special election in the old county of Philadelphia, on Tuesday the 13th of February next, for a State Senator.

A Know Nothing Message.
 The following from the Albany Atlas on Governor's Gardner's message, beats Punch on Lord Aberdeen's Queen's speech:

"To dipel from popular use every foreign language, so great a preserver of unassuming elements of character, &c."—Message of Massachusetts Governor.
 The gifts of very good English has not fallen upon this apostle of a common tongue; and there are passages in his communication to the legislature which are somewhat ludicrous in contrast with this pretension to purity of language. "Shipwrecks beyond parallel" (whether of latitude or longitude he does not say) "have singularized the calendar." "The early Fathers of the Republic" are spoken of as if the function of patriarchy were generally repeated. "I and we" are so mixed up by the writer that it is difficult to tell when he is speaking in the first person.—When he says "The oft-repeated cry of disunion heralds no real danger to our ears," he probably relied on the schoolmaster's being abroad. Had that functionary been present, the ample aromatic appendages of the writer would have paid penalty for the next following sentence:
 "While we honestly concede the common duties evoked by the articles of confederation, we will preserve inviolate the State rights retained for each sovereign member of that confederacy. With fraternal feelings to all her sister States, and filial devotion to their common parent, yet with acknowledged rights and determination that they may be maintained, there stands Massachusetts."
 While the sentiments of Pecksniff are rendered in the language of Chabaud in this State paper, we think that we frequently discover in its more eloquent passages the good sense and lucidity of Mrs. Partington. "The good widow of the late corporal must have written the following:
 "Some judicious military organization should exist in every republic for the defence of its liberties and rights. Experience and prudence alike dictate this course. We need no standing army with the germinal seeds of an efficient volunteer militia sown in our midst."
 The new Executive is evidently well pleased with himself, and when he gets at a good sentence about "developing the movements of nationality," he exhorts himself and says it again, till he is quite exhausted and considerably confused.

The Texan Rangers have been all mustered into the U. S. service. A Mexican paper announces the organization of a filibustering party in Texas, designed to operate against the Department of Coahuila.

The President has sent in a message to Congress, accompanied by a letter from the Secretary of War, in relation to the Indian hostilities. It represents that vigorous measures and more men will be required at once to protect the overland emigrants to California and settlers along the route. The President proposes to call out a volunteer force of 3,000 mounted men. The message, &c. was referred to the committee on Military Affairs, who will doubtless report a bill without delay in accordance with the wishes of the Executive.

GRAHAM'S PREMIUM PLATE.—We have been favored with a copy of a splendid engraving of the fourteen Presidents of the United States. It is really beautiful, and well worth the subscription price of the Magazine alone. Should any of our patrons wish to secure a copy for a parlor ornament, they have only to subscribe for the Magazine and the engraving will accompany it.

Important News for the Shareholders in Perham's Third Gift Enterprise.
 It will be seen by reference to advertisement in our paper of to-day, that the Committee appointed by the Shareholders at their last meeting, have issued a call for a final meeting of all interested, to get their instructions in reference to the distribution of the Gift property. We are pleased to find the matter so near a consummation, and hope that Mr. Perham will receive the postage he so well deserves for the liberality and energy displayed in getting up and prosecuting this stupendous enterprise. Orders for tickets should be sent in immediately. There are fortunes in reserve for somebody.
