A Son of Henry Clay on Know-Nothingism.

A son of Henry Clay on Know-Nothingism. A son of Henry Clay, at present the pro-prietor of the old family mansion, has been taking the stump against the new "Ameri-can" organization. The Kentucky Statesmen says that a great interest was manifested to hear the first political speech of the son of so renowned an orator as Henry Clay, and a very large concourse of eitisens attended the meeting. The speech is given as follows. The next gentlemen who took the stand was Mr. James B. Clay, who, as we have already remarked, is the son of the great statesmen, and has succeeded to the paternal estate of Ashland

Mr. Clay said that this was his first effort at a public speech, and nothing less than the profound interest which he felt in the great questions at issue, could induce him to appear on this occasion. Never before had such extraordinary, such alarming, such novel ques-tions been presented for the political consid-eration of the American people. His appre-hensions were aroused in view of them, and he sometimes trembled for the fate of the country. The idea that this government was to be taken into the keeping of a secret, political, oath-bound organization, which set up unconstitutional test-oaths, and the members of which were bound to each other by the of which were bound to each other by the most terrible obligations, was to him most alarming, and should, in his judgment, arouse the apprchensions of every patriotic man in the whole country. Mr. Clay denied that the platform put forth by the late Know-Nothing Convention at Philadelphia, was the real platform of the party-party did I call them, said he; no, they are not a party in any proper acceptation of the term Parties have, heretofore, been open, public and above board; but this is a open, public and above board; but this is a secret, oath-bound, political organization, which is seeking after the political power of the country, by ways and means unknown to the law, and in palpable disregard of the long established usages of the people and the histo-ry of the Government It sought political power, not by open and fair means, but by secret plottings cabalistic pass-words, by signs and grins unknown to the people at large and grips, unknown to the people at large, and in palpable violation of the whole spirit and genius of the Government.

No, said he, the true platform of this extraordinary organization is to be found in their oaths and ritual. There were to be found the things which they were sworn to do and carry out; and looking into these oaths and the ritual, he found that their objects were to strike at the citizens of foreign birth, at the immigration from other countries, to disfranchise, degrade and disgrace them, by depriving them not only of the right to Amer-icanize themselves, but by cutting them off from the rights of hospitality and humanity. They also sought to disfranchise and degrade another class of our citizens, whether native born or foreign, on account of their religious opinions, in plain violation of the Constitution of the country, and regardless of the plainest dictates of justice and humanity. Mr. Clay said that, rather than submit any extended remarks of his own on these subjects he had chosen to collate the expressed and Flour per bbl. authentic opinions of the old fathers of the republic; and he read extensively from the writings of Washington, of Jefferson, of Mad-

BURNING OF JUDAH TOURO'S OLD BOOKS AND CORRESPONDENCE. - Our attention was called yesterday evening to a fire in the yard of one of the buildings belonging to the Touro estate, on Canal street, near the corner of Bourbon, which are to be torn down to make way for several new and splendid stores. In an old brick well in the centre of the yard was a pile of burning faggots mixed with old ac-count books, in which the details of Mr. Touro's business have been recorded for the last forty or fifty years. The process of burning has already continued two days, and there was still a cart load left. Amongst them was a volume of his "correspondence with his friend Shepherd," which his friends might desire to have preserved, unless destroyed, like the rest, by his orders. These numerous books, extending over transactions of so many years, were suggestive of the assidious busi-ness habits of the deceased philanthropist. It looked somewhat Vandal-like to see the flames destroying what cost to him and his clerks such immense labor. They are, however, but the scaffolding over which the fabric of his princely fortune was reared, and that fortune only a part of that with and over which the structure of an industrious noble life was built. The books and other instruments of the fortune perish ; he who accumulated it is mouldering in the tomb; the be-quests and charities he bestowed will soon be lost in the common mass ; but the example of his magnimity will remain in the memory of unborn generations .- New Orleans Courier, June Sth.

He concluded his happy effort by saying that, though the old Whig party, with which he had always acted, was broken and dispersed, yet he appeared there as one of the rear guard of that once powerful and great party; and in that capacity be protested against this new secret organization, as fraught with danger to his country and its liberties; and he called upon all the old liners of the Whig party to join him in the protest.

Three Days Later from Europe. ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER CANADA HALIFAX, July 19.—The Cunard steamer Canada arrived this morning, with Liverpool dates to the 7th inst. She brings no news of importance from the seat of war. The weather has been favorable.

There have been no movements in the Crimes. There are, however, ample details of the recent repulse of the allies.

Money easy, though scarcely so cheap as before the publication of the French leans. The Canada arrived at 11 o'clock.

Lord Raglan was buried on the 3d of July with great pomp. It is rumored that Pellissier is to be super coded.

The allies are strengthening their advan-ces against the Malakoff, and the works are progressing satisfactorily. A French battery of 30 guns has been nearly completed in front of Carcening Bay, to keep off the Russian ships of war.

Vienna papers say that Gortschakoff has sent 20,000 additional troops. Gen. Leprandi's army has been reinforced by the arrival of another division.

The Sardinians and Turks under Omar Pacha had made an excursion into the interior of Tchernaya without resistance, and captured numerous works of art The museum at Kertsch is on the way to Paris. Russian accounts, to the 19th of June, state that an allied flotilla of 180 guns fired eight hours against the batteries at the mouth of Narna without effect, and then withdrew. The allies afterwards made a descent on Katka Island, and destroyed government stores. They then attacked Port Revel without effect. A careful estimate shows that the war has already cost the belligerent nations a million of lives. The bulk of the allied squadron was off Cronstadt on the 5th July. ENGLAND.-Mr. Roebuck had been refused a Committee of Enquiry into the brutal con-duct of policemen in Hyde Park on the occa-sion of the Sunday Trading Bill riots. Milner Gibson had asked an explanation of Lord John Russell's statement in the Vienna Coference that England never contemplated the restoration of Hungary and Poland. Mr. Cobden, Mr. Roebuck, and Mr. D'Is-raeli all attacked Lord John Russell, after which the matter dropped. Lord Elgin, it is said, will be appointed Post Master General.
