day to this time has their noble work remained stouched. May it last forever!

But now, after we have enjoyed the bles-sings of these sacred provisions, has a party arisen in our midst, and with secret oathbound combinations, resolved to plot out this pure and life-giving principle, and by force and violence of law restrain and abridge the liberties of men and limit their civil rights

Congress enacted two Statutes, one concerning aliens; and the other entitled an act for the punishment of certain crimes against the United States, known as the Alien and Sedition Laws. Immediately upon the enactment of these statutes, the States of Kentucky and Virginia passed certain resolutions, conde ing them as violations of the letter and spirit of the Constitution and reprobating them as gross attempts to establish arbitrary authority and as subversive of the liberties of the people The Kentucky resolutions were writ-ten by Mr. Jefferson, and those of Virginia were written by Mr. Madison, and both of these were addressed to the Legislatures of the several States, inviting their co-operation to resist these Statutes. Some of their Legislatures refused to co-operate with Virginia and Kentucky and pronounced these resolutions to be of a dangerous tendency, and therefore not fit subject for futher consideration. To these refusals the Commonwealth of Virginia replied in the form of a Report drawn by Mr. Madison, adopted by the Legislature of the State in 1799. The object of the Alien law was exposed in these resolations and in that Report, and the mischievous consequences of its adoption were fully explained and demonstrated in those masterly papers. In them it was proclaimed to be inhuman, impolitic, illegal and irrational for Congress to restrain the current of emigration that was setting in towards our shores, caused by the high tides of civil convulsions and public discord that were raging in Europe. Mr. Jefferson there said that the Alien law will furnish new calumnies against republican governments, and new pretexts for those who wish it to be believed that man cannot be governed but by a rod of iron, and that a very numerous and valuable description of the inhabitants of these States would, by this precedent, be reduced as outlaws," and that "the mild spirit of our country and its laws had pledged hospitality and protection to these friendless strangers." It was denounced by Mr. Madison in his report, as tyrannical in its spirit and conferring a despotic power upon the President, to banish "an alien from a country into which he had been invited as the asylum most auspicious to his happiness, a country where he may have formed the most tender connections, and where he may have supporters at that day, dared to propose the disfranchisement of emigrants or the abolition of the naturalization laws. The public that was indignant at the tyrannical spirit of that statute, would have burst out with one shout of condemnation at any attempt to outlaw freemen and reduce them to the condition of slaves, because they were born in another country and were of another people. Upon the rsistance to the Alien and Sedition Laws, and in support of the principles announced in zhose resolutions and that Report of '99, was Mr. Jefferson elected and the Democratic party established as an organized element of political action in this country. From that day to this, has it been steadfast in its integrity and purity, upholding and vindicating

Our Constitution was not wrested from the reluctant hands of tawless kings. It was the free compact of free sovereignties of freemen, made with each other for their own domestic advantage in the common cause of human freedom, and for the perpetuation of human rights. Our commercial and public accessi-ties, and our political principles, all prompted us to encourage emigration, and by its healthful influence have we prospered as a people. We have multiplied in our inhabitants. We have increased in our wealth and grown mighty with a population that has been driven to us for shelter and to whom we are pledged before the world to secure the rights of civil and religious liberty, and upon whom we are likewise pledged as Democrats, to confer the rights of citizenship as the inclienable right of their manhood. In the making of the laws that govern them they as freemen have a right to participate. To refuse them that right would be impolitic, illegal and inhuman. By adopting them we have secured the services of men skilled in all the mysteries of the mechanic arts, and we have despoiled Europe, and European Monarchies of greater sources of sational and personal property, indivinual happiness and public renown, than if we had conquered in a hundred fights. Treat them as aliens, disqualify them by statute, and we have in our midst a body of oppressed unhappy and dissatisfied men, who would feel their degradation among freemen and sink to laws that govern them they as freemen have a their degradation among freemen and sink to

There is not an evil complained of in the whole catalogue of accusations preferred a-gainst the naturalized voters of the country, that would equal the wrong that would be don to our principles and our people, by the refusal to allow the right of suffrage and the equal right of office to all citizens In countries where the government is a fraud upon the peo-ple, and the right of suffrage but a name, restraints upon the rights of citizenship and re-ligious tests may be in strict harmony with their constitutions, but in this country dedica-ted to civil and religious liberty, laws for those purposes would be violent inconsistences that must shock all right minded men. We know that there are many, very many, honest and well meaning men who wandered off from the proper path and in their desire to correct alleged abuses of the naturalization laws, have leged abuses of the naturalization laws, have suffered themselves to give their support to this new and pernicious political heresy. To those men we would especially appeal and earnestly entreat them to pause before they shall aid in furthering projects, the result of which will startle their understandings and appal their hearts. Let them be aware of a political party that has been afraid to reveal its principles and conseals its actions let political party that has been arraid to reveal its principles, and conceals its actions—let them consider how unmanly and irrational must those men be who would thus secretly unite, and binding each other in the spirit of mutual distrust, by solemn and illegal oaths, to carry out a great public purpose and to produce a great political revolution. In tyranical countries, where political intolerance and persecution proscribes men for liberal opinions, such combinations are sometimes necessary but always dangerous for the cause of freedom. pure and life-giving principle, and by force and violence of law restrain and abridge the liberties of men and limit their civil rights by an odious and impious religious test. As citizens of this mighty Republic, as members of the great Democratic party, as men for the sake of mankind at large, we call upon you to resist this sacrilege and rebuke these conspiratore against the honor and dignity of our Constitution and laws.

After the adoption of the Constitution, and during the administration of the elder Adams, Congress enacted two Statutes, one concerning aliens; and the other entitled an act for the providence of the providence of the providence and but always dangerous for the cause of freedom. But it was left for a Democratic country, in a Democratic and liberal age, for men thus to conspire in favor of political intolerance and men who have thus erred and strayed away, do we submit these considerations for their action, hoping that they will yet return to correct views, and sustain the cause of republican liberty by a zealous opposition to the permicious principles and intolerant discipline of this new and dangerous faction.

Refore we conclude this appeal to your reason.

Before we conclude this appeal to your reason Before we conclude this appeal to your reason and your patriotism, we must invite your attention to the subject of domestic slavery. With that institution Pennsylvanians have nothing to do. In the exercise of a wise philanthropy, we have long slace, abolished it. But because we have exerted our sovereign power over it, we must not endeavor to control sister States in the regulation of the repulation of th lation of the subject. If we entertain sentiments adverse to its introduction, we must not propagate those opinions at the cost of the domestic tranquility of other States, or at the risk of perilling our common Union. It would not become freemen to be involved in inappeasable discord, for the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous and the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous and the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous and states are stated as the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous stated as the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous stated as the sake of a small number of slaves, whose continuous stated as the sake of a small number of slaves. the sake of a small number of slaves, whose condition we cannot change. The Constitution was the result of many adjustments and compromises, and with it we have secured domestic tranquility, private prosperity and public liberty. Time will reveal the end and purpose of this institution of slavery existing in some of the States of this Union; but while we live under the Constitution, we must abide by its provisions and its solemn compacts. All attempts to regulate this subject by congressional action must prove abortive and end congressional action must prove abortive and end in tumult and disorder. With us the Constitution is paramount to the laws, and it is disobedience and insubordination of the worst kind, to strive, by political agitation, to subvert the one, and en-by political agitation, to subvert the one, and encroach with the other.

Like all other questions of strictly local concern, that of Slavery should be submitted to the exclusive jurisdiction of the people of the territory or place in which it is proposed, to establish or reject it. This principle of local self-government is the basis of all our institutions, and is essential to political freedom. It may for a time, be abused to political freedom. It may for a time, be abused and trampled on, as other rights have been, but men should not, because of that, be deprived of it. It is for the common interest of all that each and every citizen should freely and peacefully exercise the right; and the principle and practice thus universally ordained and recommended by the founders of our government, will be firmly maintained by the Democratic party.

J. F. JOHNSTON. H. A. GILDEA, Secy's.

For the Democrat and Sentinel. The Welsh.

A very useful and upright class of citizens are the sons of St. David among us, and men of Welsh blood have played an important part in our history. Says Dr. Alexander Jones:—

lefferson, Monroe, Madison, Harrison and the two Adamses. Fourteen of the revolutionary generals were of Welsh origin, of whom Gen. Wayne was one. Martha Washington was the grand-daughter of a Welsh clergyman."

He adds that there are fifty thousand native Welshmen in the United States and not an office holder among them! Even "Sam" must admit that this is a class of foreigners not to be pro-scribed.—Pittsburgh Post August 27, 1855.

It is a duty of the public press to correct the current misrepresentations of the times, which, if left uncontradicted might pass as truthful historical reminiscences. The article we have given above, from Dr. Alexander Jones, is of a character which requires the application of the "clams of truth," before it be permitted to float as a fact down the tide of time. Among many allegations which abound in the foregoing article, we only refer to one or two.

First as to the Welsh origin of Thomas Jefferson. The history of his life published in 1836, by Professor Tucker, of the Virginia University, was issued ten years after Mr. Jefferson's death; published after its manuscript pages had been ubmitted to the inspection of Mr. Madison, who bore testimony to its general accuracy, in a letter written only thirteen days prior to his death.— The Biographer of Mr. Jefferson, states that he was born on the 2d of April, 1743, at a place called Shadwell, Albemarle county. His family has peen only traced back three generations, when they are still found in Virginia, and all efforts to run down his geneology to a period more remote, are lost in the misty mazes of tradition.

True "tradition," refers the birth of Mr. Jefferson's more remote ancestry to Wales. But 'tradition" with more truth and with as much historical accuracy, might have traced his decent from one of the sons of Noah.

Whether any of Mr. Jefferson's ancestors paricipated in the settlement at Jamestown, Virgina, in 1607, history is silent. This event occurred one hundred and fifteen years after the discovery by Columbus, of San Salvador.

Leaving the question of Mr. Jefferson's pedi-gree in that state of uncertainty where his Biographer has permitted it to remain, we pass to the consideration of another statement, made by Dr. Alexander Junes, which we allege is not sustained by facts in the History of our Country, past or resent. He alleges, that "there are fifty thousand native Welshmen in the United States, and not an office holder among them!!!"

In answer to this we can assert upon attainable evidence, existing at least among the archives of one of the public offices of a county of Pennsylvania, that at no time within the last forty-seven years have the public offices been in want of an cumbant who is or has not been native Welshmen.

Those who are curious upon such matters can satisfy themselves by over hauling the records of Cambria county, begining at the Naturalization Docket, in 1808, and terminating their researches
