Truth in a Nut-Shell. . Hon. Henry Clay, in 1850, used the following expressive language, which cannot be to often repeated and commented upon. " Of all the bitterest enemies of the unfortunate negro, there are none to compare with the Abolitionists, their p.ctended friends; who, like the Centaur of old, mount not the back of the horse, but the back of the negro, to ride themselves into p wer " True every word. All that the leaders of distinion and sectional fanaticism can do for the negro amounts to just this -no more, no less-the anti-Slavery question furnishes them with vot chough to get into effice By stir ring the ss of this great cauldron, the seum of humanity occasionally rises to the surface, and men who, under other ci cumstances, could never have crawled out of their native obscurity, are clevated into prominent posi-Ablitionism pays well, too, in other respects

It affords a fat living to an army of drones and unprincipled demagogues, who delight as publie lecturers to set the people by the carsother; their own neighbors and bosom friends. We fully agree with Mr. Clay, that the Abolitionists are the bitterest enemies the negro has in the world- They have riveted the bonds which they profess to deplore, more firmly than ever, by their madness and recklessness; they have deprived the negro at the South of very many privileges that he once enjoyed, and have retarded the work of emancipation in this country at least balf a century. More than all this; their hypocritical professions about the equality of the races have made the negroes an intolerable nuisance everywhere in the Northern and Eastern States -It has inflated that degraded race with extravagant bleas of their own dignity and importance, and has rendered them so insolent, domineering and overbearing, that some of the States have expelled them from their borders. We should not be surprised if others were compelled to resort to the same measure of self-defense. This is what the bitter enemies of the negro have done under the garb of philanthropy. They have not emancipated a single slave, nor have they a desire to do so. The abolition of slavery would spoil their trade in sympathy, their wholesale traffic elections, stop the salaries of ranters, and compel an army of drones to betake themselves to some a nost employment -Pennsylvanian

Connecticut,-The New Haven Register, one of the best informed papers in the State of Connecticut, speaks thus of the prespects

"We are frequently inquired of as to how Connecticut stands on the Presidential question. We have to say that we do not know old Whig party. The noise and nonsense of house and a log stable, now in the occupancy of Kennedy. Childs & Co. the 'tribe of Jesse' do not affect in the least the steadiness of the Democratic column; and have no doubt the electoral vote of the State will be given to Buchanan and Breckinridge."
