THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Adopted at the Cincinnati National Convention.

Resolved, That the American Democracy place their trust in the intelligenc, the patriotisms and the discriminating justice of the American people.

Resolved, 'I hat we regard this as a destructive feature of our political creed, which we are proud to maintain before the world, as the great moral element in a form of government springing from and held up by the popular will; and we contrast it with the creed and practice of Federalism, under whatever ETTERS Testamentary on the estate of Rees | name or form, which seeks to palsy the will of the constituent, and which no imposture too monstrous for the popular credulity

4. That justice and sound policy forbid the ie faith, and every attempt to abridge the perfect equality with the other States. privilege of becoming citizens and the owners of soil among us, ought to be resisted with the same spirit which swept the alien and seditian laws from our statute books.

And WHEREAS, Since the foregoing declaration was uniformly adopted by our predecessors in National Convention an adverse political and religious test has been secretly organized by a party claiming to be exclusively American, it is proper that the American Democracy should clearly define its relations thereto, and declare its determined opposisition to all secret political societies, by whatever name they may be called.

Resolved, That the foundation of this Union of States having been laid in, and its prosperity expansion and pre-eninent example in free government built upon entire freedom of matters of religous concernment, and no repect of person in regard to rank or place of birth; no party can justly be deemed national; constitutional, or in accordance with Amcrican principles, which bases its exclusive organization upon religious opinions and accidental birth place. And hence a political erusade in the nineteenth century, and in the United States of America, against Catholics and foreign born, is neither justified by the past history or the future prospects of the country, nor in unison with the spirit of toleration and enlarged freedom which peculiarly distinguishes the American system of popular government.

Resolved, That we reiterate with renewed energy of purpose, the well considered declaration of former Conventions upon the sectional issue of domestic slavery, and concerning the reserved rights of the States-

1. That Congress has no power under the Constitution, to interfere with or control the domestic institutions of the several States, and that such States are the sole and proper judges of everthing appertaining to their own affairs not prohibited by the Constitution; that all efforts of the abolitionists or others, made al Convention, coming together in a spirit of to induce Congress to interfere with questions concord, of devotion to the doctrines and faith of slavery, or to take incipient steps in relaof a free representative government, and ap- tion thereto, are calculated to lead to the most pealing to their fellow-citizens for the recti- alarming and dangerous consequences! and tude of their intentions, renew and re-assert that all such efforts have an inevitable tendenbefore the American people the declarations cy to deminish the happiness of the people, of principles avowed by them when on former | and endanger the stability and permanency occasions, in general Convention, they have of the Union, and ought not to be countenanpresented their candidate for popular suffrages. ced by any freinds of our political institu-

2. That the foregoing proposition covers, and was intended to embrace the whole subby and adhere to a faithful exeucution of the acts known as the Compromise Measures, setupon the General Government the power to tled by the Congress of 1850; "the act for recluding: which not being designed to carry out 3d. That the Constitution does not confer an express provision of the Constitution, cannot, with fidelity thereto, be rerealed, or so changed as to destroy or impart its efficiency 3. That the Democratic party will resist of it, the agitation of the slavery question, under whatever shape or color the attempt that it is the duty of the Federal Government may be made.

Resolved, finally, That in view of the condition of popular institutions in the Old World. (and the dangerous tendencies of sectional agitation combined with the attempt to enforce civil and religious disabilities against the right of acquiring and enjoying citizenship in onr own land,) a high and sacred duty is devolved with increased responsibility upon the Democratic party of this country, as the party of the Union, to uphold and maintain the rights of every State, and thereby the Union of the States; and to sustain and advance among us constitutional liberty, by continuing to resist all monopolies and exclusive legislation for the benefit of the few, at the expense of the many, and by a vigilant and constant adherence to those pricciples and convromises of the constitution which are broad enough and stodg enough to embrace and uphold the Union as it was, the Union as it is, and the Union as it shall be, in the full expansion of the energies and capacities of this great and progressive people.

1. Resolved, That there are questions connected with the foreign policy of this country which are inferior to no domestic questions whatever. The time has come for the people of the United States to declare themselves in favor of free seas and progressive free trade through the world, and by solemn manifestations to place their moral influence at the side of their successful example.

2. Resolved, That aur geographical and political position with reference to other States of this continent, no less than the interest of our commerce and the development of our growing power requires that we should hold as sacred the principles involved in the Monroe doctrine; their bearing and import admit of no misconstruction; they should be applied with unbending rigidity. 3. Resolved, That the great highway which nature, as well as the assent of the States most intimately interested in its maintenance, has marked out for a free communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans, constitutes one of the most important achievements realized by the spirit of modern times and the unconquerable energy of our people. That re-ult should be secured by a timely and efficient exertion of the control which we have the right to claim over it, and no power on earth should be suffered to impede or clog its progress by any interference with the relations it may suit our policy to establish between our government and the governments of the States within whose dominions it lies. We can, under no circumstance, surrender our preponderance in the adjustment of all quotations arising out of it.

4. Resolved, That in view of so commanding an interest the people of the United States cannot but sympathize with the efforts which are being made by the people of Central America to regenerate that portion of the Continent which cover the passage across the interoceanic Isthmus.

5 Resolved, That the Democratic party recognize the great importance, in a political ard commercial point of view, of a safe and speedy communication, by Military and postal roads, through our own territory, between the Atlantic and Pacific shores of this Union, and to exercise promptly, all its constitutional
