

DANGER OF WEARING HOOPS IN A HIGH WIND.—During the wind on Saturday afternoon, and while the dust was circulating so thick that no one could see more than the length of an eyelash in front, a lady, dressed in the most elegant style, in coming round one of the corners was lifted off her feet by the force of the wind acting on the great expanse of surface which she presented to it. The wind unfortunately did not set her down in the same condition she was before being taken up, but turning her gently on one side, in laid her endwise on the sidewalk, where she commenced a series of astonishing gyrations, and running over and over on the hoops of the skirts, and exhibiting—a species of locomotion which is not yet generally appreciated, and which may come into fashion with high winds and large quantities of light material. As the lady thus rolled over and over, several persons were knocked down and passed over by the lady and the hoops, without ever knowing that anything had befallen them. Fortunately for the lady, the dust and the astonishment of the people out of doors permitted but a few to witness this new method of getting along in a stiff breeze and keeping up full sail at the same time. As we came round a corner we found the lady wedged between a lamp-post and a hydrant, and immediately assisted her to an upright position of a recumbent position. —Detroit Ad.

A Young Lady Drawn in a Lottery.—About a year ago, a young woman in France put herself up in a lottery marriage speculation. Five hundred shares of a thousand francs each was the figure. In a year the half million of francs was taken. The drawing came off. The successful shareholder proved to be a Tunisian General, who had already occupied the public attention by his oriental caprices. But the lady was neither frightened at the turban, nor the beard, nor the religion, nor the harlem of the happy barbarian, who hastened to marry her and to pocket his five hundred thousand francs. The happy couple have left for Paris, where they will reside. —So says the correspondent of the New York Times.

DOUBLE-HEADED SNAKE.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Tully, Miss., gives an account of a great natural curiosity—a snake with two heads, one at each extremity. The body was about two feet long and two inches in diameter, in the center, and gradually tapering to each end, with two perfect heads in every respect. But the most novel thing to witness was its actions toward the gentleman who caught it, raising one way with as much ease, apparently as the other, with both tongues out, each ragging apparently with anger. Many will look upon this as false, (a snake story,) but is a fact, and can be vouched for by many respectable citizens.
