

belongs to the resident actual cultivators of the soil. In this manner his interest prompts him to entertain a more earnest regard for the prosperity of the political institutions of his country, than any other citizen. Landed property is a public fund of the most stable nature, and they who would share its treasures, are bound by all the fixed associations which their occupation engenders, to a deep and earnest love for their native land. The voice of experience sounding from the ruins of the Roman Empire, and the wasted plains of the once prosperous kingdom of Spain, is enough to convince us that agriculture is the pillar of national strength. History recounts examples of nations rising from poverty and obscurity, to the meridian of a successful career by an industrious application to the pursuit of this art, while national shipwreck, and social misery, have been the fatal consequences of its neglect. The impotent condition of Egypt, once the garner of the east, has a mournful witness in her neglected fields and uncultivated valleys. The surplus waters of the Nile, intended by the bounty of nature to insure to the happiness of man, are lost by the indolence of her inhabitants. The valleys of that noble river exhibit no longer the expanse of the well cultivated harvest, and the wolf and jackal, howl through the plains the mournful requiem of departed splendor.

The influence of agricultural pursuits on the social condition of those who engage in them, is marked by the most gratifying results. They cultivate the moral sentiments by impressing the mind with a just appreciation of that mysterious power which causes the earth to bear such ample fruitfulness for man. To farm successfully, it is necessary not only to labor, but to call to our assistance the exercise of judgment and reflection. The mind and body are both exercised, maintaining by this means a healthy equilibrium. The Creator, when he commanded man to till the soil, so constituted the natural order, that the pursuits of the husbandman, should be more congenial with his happiness than those of any other class. The broad earth upon which he treads lord of the abundance his power can cause it to yield, and the reflection that all was created for his benefit, imbue his mind with noble and liberal sentiments. Hence, we discover no class of our citizens more hospitable than the farmer. It is he that enjoys

"The sober comfort, all the peace that springs from the largest aggregate of little things."

His pursuits bind him with ten-fold strength to home and the fond hearts who share its humble joys. He cherishes the associations which endear him to his quiet hearth, as so many links in the chain of existence. By this means is promoted the sentiment of patriotism, or nationally which leads a people to love their country above every other, and just in proportion as they are attached to their homes, will they cling to her in prosperity or trial.

Hon. William L. Marcy.
[From the Pittsburg Post.]
The Pittsburg Journal has been abusing the present national administration without stint or cessation for three years past. This denunciation included, of course, Mr. Marcy, who occupied the highest post in the cabinet. Space would fail us to recapitulate all the grounds of vituperation and censure heaped upon it for its management not only of our domestic, but also our foreign affairs. Now, however, when the present administration is drawing to a close, the Journal seems fit to change its tone, and on Saturday morning it uttered the following just remarks. It says:

"William L. Marcy, as Secretary of State has proved himself one of the very foremost men of his country, and has conducted the foreign relations of this Government in a manner at once able, dignified and magnanimous, doing as much honor to his country as he has done honor to himself."
Now that is a just tribute to one of the greatest statesmen of this or any other country; and though it comes late, and from an opponent, would entitle him to great fairness and candor, if it were not apparent from the whole article that candor was no part of its purpose. It appears that our neighbor is smitten with a sudden apprehension that Mr. Marcy will not occupy a place in President Buchanan's Cabinet. We do not know how that may be; but it is hardly possible that Mr. Buchanan, seeing how dissatisfied the Republicans appear to be with the present Cabinet, may form an entirely new one just to please them. We say "just possible," for the probabilities are that he will do just exactly what he pleases about it, without any serious regard to the wishes of the Journal and its friends. Undoubtedly he will form a good one, and one that will administer the Government fairly and successfully for the next four years; and undoubtedly the Journal will belabor it with a hearty ill-will for the whole term.

Compliment to Printers.
John C. Rives, of Virginia, in a recent published letter on the subject of public printing has a word of suggestion to writers for the press and a compliment to the compositor, whose duty it is not unfrequently to make sense out of very senseless chirography. None but a writer for the press can comprehend how much there is in the veteran printer's remarks. Many members of Congress—and not a few greater—must have been surprised at the respectable figure they cut in print, without thinking of the toilsome labor and the exercise of the better talent than their own which had been expended by the journeyman printer in putting into good shape the message or report of a speech furnished them.

Mr. Rives says:—I have the manuscript writing of most great men of the country during the past twenty years, and I think that I may say that not twenty of them could stand the test of the scrutiny of one half of the journeyman printers employed in my office. This fact will be vouched by every editor in the Union. To a poor journeyman printer many a "great man" owes his reputation for scholarship; and were the humble compositors to resolve, by concert, to set up a manuscript in their hands, even for one little week—precisely as it is written by the authors, there would be more reputations slaughtered than their "devils" could shake a "stick" in twenty-four hours. Statesmen would become "small by degrees, and beautifully less." Many an ass would have the lion's hide torn from his limbs. Men whom the world would call writers, would wake up mornings and find themselves famous as mere pretenders—humbags and chests!"

The population of Iowa City on the first of July was 6,095. In 1850 it had but 1250 inhabitants. A fair example of the usual growth of Western towns.

Democrat and Sentinel.

RICHARD WHITE.....HENRY C. DEVINE
WHITE & DEVINE, Editors and Proprietors.

EBENSBURG.
WEDNESDAY MORNING.....NOV. 26.

WANTED—Beef, pork, corn, buckwheat, oats, &c., for subscription and advertising to the Democrat & Sentinel.

ERRATA.—In looking over the agricultural address on our first page, we find our compositor, in consequence of press of business, has made the following errors:—

In the 2d line of the first column of the address, instead of "people" should read "pupil." In the 21st line read "where" instead of "when," and in the 22d, "when" instead of "where." In the 11th line of second column, instead of "their" read "them." In the 43d line read "demands." In the 60th line of 3d column, between "of" and "for" read "more than," and in the 108th, between "nutriment" and "than" read "from the earth." In the 39th line of the 4th column, read "adornment" instead of "adornments;" in the 49th, after "behold," read "it," and in the 109th, instead of "effect" read "effects."

Appointments by the Canal Board.
The Canal Board made their annual appointments last week. The appointments give general satisfaction. Some little grumbling is always heard on such occasions, inasmuch as it is not possible for everybody to get an office, and the disappointed take a small growl to themselves before they settle down.

The appointments for our county, are Jas. Brydon, Esq. for Superintendent of the Portage Rail Road, and H. A. Boggs, Esq., Supervisor of the Conemaugh Division.

Of Mr. Brydon we have already spoken. We were obliged to mention his name some three weeks ago, and show that credit claimed for another was due to him. We then alluded to his untiring industry and sleepless vigilance. As these qualities were conspicuous whilst he acted in a subordinate capacity, we have no doubt of them being exerted to the benefit of the Commonwealth at his more extended sphere of action.

We are glad to record our friend Boggs' appointment: it is an excellent one in every respect. Mr. Boggs is an old forwarding man, and is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of his situation. He is intelligent, energetic, and as good a Democrat as "ever voted the whole ticket."

Mr. John Gadd, who last year had charge of Mr. Boggs' Division, has been transferred to the Upper Juniata Division. Mr. Gadd has the reputation of being a superior officer. The offices of Cargo Inspector at Hollidaysburg, and of Wood Inspector on the Portage Rail Road, have been discontinued.

Stop That!
Col. Alexander of the Clarion Democrat, is still claiming that Clarion is the Berks of the West. It won't do. Col. look at the figures; out of a vote of 4759 in Cambria, the Fremontists have 1665; leaving a majority of 1222 for Buck and Breck in Cambria. In Clarion, out of a whole vote of 4438, the Fremontists have 1732 votes, being 67 votes more than they have in Cambria, and the majority for us in Clarion is 1028; being 294 less than the majority in Cambria. Where are your spectacles, Col? Do you not see that you have been appropriating our thunder?

Cosmopolitan Art Association.
This is an association formed about three years ago for the encouragement of American artistic genius, and the diffusion, among the American people, of a taste for the Fine Arts. The Cosmopolitan Art Journal is issued quarterly, under the auspices of the Association, and entitles him to, First—the large and costly steel engraving, "Saturday Night," or to any one of the following monthly Magazines, viz: Harper's, Godey's Lady's Book, Knickerbocker, Graham's Magazine, Blackwood's Magazine, Southern Messenger, Mrs. Stephens' New Monthly, and the U. S. Magazine. Second—A copy of the Cosmopolitan Art Journal, one year.

Third—A Share in the Annual Distribution of works of Art, comprising a large number of Paintings, Statues &c.—many of which are of great value.

The next annual distribution or allotment of Paintings, Statuary, &c., will take place on the 28th of January next.

Our young friend, Mr. Howard J. Roberts is the agent of the Art Association at this place. Those who wish to subscribe for the Art Journal ($1), or to become members of the Association by the payment of $3, will find it convenient to send the money through Mr. Roberts, who can be found at the Prothonotary's office.

AMBROTYPES.—We call attention to the advertisement of Mr. David Ginter, in another column. Persons wishing to procure correct likenesses of themselves or friends have now the opportunity, by calling at his rooms in the building of Mr. James Myers. Call and examine his specimens.

AGRICULTURAL ADDRESS.

The address delivered before the Cambria County Agricultural Society at the late Fair, by Wm. A. Murray, Esq., will be found in our paper this week. We regret our inability to publish it sooner, owing to a press of advertising and political matter during the Presidential campaign just ended. Although late, the address of Mr. Murray will be found not the less interesting, and we commend it to the attention of our readers.

A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING.—The Reverend William S. H. Keys, formerly of this city (whom many of our readers will recollect for his denunciations of the "Pope of Rome," in Centre Square, during the heyday of Know-Nothingism, in 1854,) had a true bill found against him by the Grand Jury of Blair county, for assault and battery, with intent to commit a rape! Just what might have been expected from a political parson.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

Persons coming to town should call and see M'Dermitt's stock of variety goods.—His Ladies, Misses, and Children's Shoes coarse or fine are hard to beat, as well as his Men's Boots and Overshoes, Choice Pen Knives and a hundred other things you can find there—prices low.

Attention is called to a notice of a meeting of the Cambria county Agricultural Society. The attendance of the members is requested, as business of importance is to be transacted.

GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE.—The November number of Graham richly abounds with interesting reading matter. The engravings, and fashion plates are really beautiful, and are alone worth the subscription price.

Godey's Lady's Book for November is upon our table. It is a most excellent number.

Democratic Celebration.
In pursuance of previous arrangements, the Democracy of Ebensburg, and its vicinity, assembled at Litzinger's Hotel, in this place, on Wednesday evening the 19th inst., for the purpose of celebrating the splendid victory recently achieved by the election of BUCHANAN AND BRECKINRIDGE. They were also joined by an enthusiastic delegation of young democrats from Loretto, who came into town in fine style, with martial music, colors flying, &c.

A torch light procession was then formed under the direction of Dr. Wm. A. SMITH, as Chief Marshal, which moved through the town to the inspiring music of the Loretto and Ebensburg bands. The banners, flags, and transparencies looked well, and much enthusiasm was manifested. About 9 o'clock the large assemblage sat down to a magnificent supper prepared in Mrs. Litzinger's best style, to which full justice was done. After the cloth had been removed, the following toasts were read, accompanied by music, and the cheers of the company. Brief and eloquent speeches were made by a number of gentlemen in response to the sentiments given, and the whole affair passed off creditably, and to the enjoyment of all.—Andrew Lewis President of the Ebensburg Buchanan and Breckinridge club presided upon the occasion, and the toasts were read by the Secretary, J. C. Noon.

REGULAR TOASTS.

1. The event we celebrate.—A victory of light over darkness;—of Nationally over sectionalism;—of truth over error;—of democratic principles over all the isms of the day. Responded to by John S. Rhey.

2. James Buchanan, President elect of the United States. The Presidency cannot add a single cubit to his stature;—but his name will lend strength and dignity to the Presidential office. Responded to by Dr. Wm. A. Smith.

3. John C. Breckinridge, Vice President elect of the United States. We hail with delight the elevation of the chivalrous Kentuckian to the second office in the gift of the people.

4. The administration of President Pierce. Democratic to the core;—it has contrived to be "the greatest good of the greatest number."

5. Pennsylvania.—Always true to the Constitution and the Union; after the conflicts of half a century, she has at last been rewarded by the elevation of her favorite son to the Presidential chair. Responded to by Col. M. Hasson.

6. The Union.—Formed by the sages of the Revolution, it has conferred upon us innumerable blessings, and the recent elections have proven that their descendants are determined to hand them down unimpaired to their latest posterity. Responded to by Robt. L. Johnston, Esq.

7. Cambria County.—Her frosty sons have ever shown their readiness to respond to the call of their country, and defend their constitution, whether in the tattered field, or at the ballot box. Responded to by P. Noon, Jr.

8. The Old Line Whigs.—The Democracy of the Nation can, without dishonor, hold fellowship with all "who keep step to the music of the Union." Responded to by M. D. Magehan, Esq.

9. Postmaster General Judge Campbell.—The retiring representative of Pennsylvania in the Cabinet of President Pierce. The democracy of Cambria County as well as that of his native State will bear him in remembrance. Responded to by C. D. Murray.

10. The Democratic Creed.—The political faith of our Fathers.—Tried in the fires of eighty years—it continues in triumph the hope of every lover of free principles. A Pennsylvania President will never cause that hope to fail.

11. The rights of conscience.—Only traitors in soul and principle, and scoundrels, anathematized by the Lord seek, to impair them. Responded to by Gen. Joseph M'Donald.

12. The flag of the Union.—The glorious emblem of our national existence.—Saved to float in triumph, for four years, over our happy country. Responded to by T. P. Fenlon, Esq.

13. The Democracy of the Union.—knowing no North—no South—no East—no West—has consigned Black Republicanism and Know-Nothingism to one common grave of infamy. Responded to by M. C. M'Gague.

14. "Little Cambria"—Her star now shines brightest in the Western Constellation. Let her, with one accord, be now christened and hereafter be known and recognized as "the star of the West."

15. Woman and Washington.—A becoming alliteration—the virtues of the former secured to the nation the patriotism of the latter. Responded to by R. L. Johnston, Esq.

VOLUNTEER TOASTS.

By Andrew Lewis—James Buchanan—May his administration of the affairs of the General Government for the next four years be such as to justify the hopes of his personal and political friends in the nation.

By James C. Noon—Our lady friends, who by their kindly smiles and soothing words of encouragement, cheered us on to victory. They duly and properly appreciate the blessings of the Union.

By J. C. O'Neill—Hon. Wm. Bigler; One of the few who took a decided stand against "Know-Nothingism" in Pennsylvania. He now occupies one of the highest offices in the gift of the state. If he perseveres he will not be forgotten.

By John Lloyd—The Democracy of Pennsylvania; Their soil was made the battle ground in the last Presidential campaign, and nobly have they met the enemy and conquered them.

By Robert Litzinger—Henry D. Foster; The first and only choice of Western Pennsylvania for the next United States Senator.

By James Myers—Here is to the Constitutional Democrats and Whigs who went for "Buck and Breck" to clear the track for free born and foreign citizens.

By Edward Glass—Hon. James Buchanan; We supported him from principle, as he is opposed to all isms—Know-Nothingism, and all the lumburges of the day.

By M. Hasson—Franklin Pierce; The President of United States. History will attest the purity of his principles, and Cambria County "the Star of the West" in her late election sustained his administration.

By Henry Rager—James Buchanan President elect; He will meet the present emergency of the Democratic party as Jackson met the crisis of 1832.

By John S. Rhey—Stephen A. Douglass; His acknowledged ability, and stern integrity; his open and manly opposition to all forms of tyranny over the minds and consciences of men, give him a strong hold upon the affections of the democracy of the Union, and point to him as the next democratic candidate for the Presidency.

By Rees J. Lloyd—Hon. Wm. L. Marcy; The only gleam of light from the desert of the Philistines. The Democracy of New York patched his breeches heretofore, and befooled their own now.

By Harrison Knicker—The Democratic Party; Large enough to embrace mankind, pure enough to save the Union; the only hope of human liberty in the world, is in its perpetual ascendancy.

By M. C. M'Gague—Hon. James Campbell; The honest and indefatigable Post Master General. His friends can say "well done thou good and faithful servant." Higher honors await him.

By Joshua D. Parrish—Here is to the American Eagle that Col. Fremont broke the wing of by failed to kill.

By James Myers—Hon. Henry D. Foster; On his friends in Cambria he can always depend. His ability and integrity are duly appreciated.

By Andrew J. Rhey—Cambria County; Her citizens have nobly fought, and nobly won, and the immense majority she has given has been produced alone by her native talent Westmoreland concedes to her the title of "Star of the West."—May the jewel ever glitter upon her mountain heights.

By M. Hasson—Hon. Jeremiah S. Black; The intellectual giant of Pennsylvania. We like him, and are pleased with every distinction that may be conferred on him.

By Thomas A. Maguire—George Nelson Smith; Cambria's representative in the next Legislature. True to democratic principles as is the needle to the pole. We present him to our brother democrats as one who would honor the Speakers chair.

By J. C. Noon—Stephen A. Douglass; Our candidate for President in 1860—first, last, and all the time.

By P. S. Noon—The honest, the honorable, high minded and indefatigable democrat Dr. Wm. A. Smith. Long may he wave! To this toast Dr. Smith briefly responded, and concluded by offering the following sentiment:—

Supervisor Upper Western Division, Henry A. Boggs.

The members of Congress are arriving at Washington quite freely, and it is expected that a quorum will be in attendance on the first day. The President's Message is all ready. It deals largely in foreign affairs, and reviews the Crampton and Nicaragua questions at length, touches upon the Sound Dues, and concludes, on this head, with the assurance that our relations with other governments are on a very satisfactory footing.

Brigham Young has recently preached against "whining women," and will expel from the harem those who do not reform. He defends polygamy, and declares that it is unconstitutional to interfere with it.

PENNSYLVANIA.—From the returns of this State received so far, we believe Fremont is in a minority in Pennsylvania of nearly 200,000, and his minority may be still greater.—Abolitionism and sectionalism are at a low discount in Pennsylvania, and her vote clearly shows that Fremont has not received a majority of the votes polled in the non-slaveholding States.

LATER FROM KANSAS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—We have dates from Kansas to Wednesday last. The land sale at Leavenworth was passing off quietly. There were about 2000 purchasers in attendance, and the bidding was active and high.

Marshal Donaldson had refused to re-arrest Hayes, the murderer of Buffum. Gov. Geary had suspended Judge Leecompton. The trials were to proceed before Judge Cato.

INFAMOUS!!!

Elder Thomas Swann, of New London, Connecticut, says he wants a line of Telegraph wires constructed to Hell that he could send the first message over it to Judas Iscariot, asking him to stand aside and make room for Franklin Pierce.

The above we see copied extensively in the newspapers of the country, when Pastors such as BREWER & Co., and Elders such as THOMAS SWANN, are guilty of such irreverence, impiety and indecency, as they have exhibited during the late contest, what can be expected from the flocks of which they are "overseers"?

MR. BUCHANAN'S FAMILY CIRCLE consists for the present of Mr. and Miss Lane (his nephew and niece), Mrs. George Pitt, of Philadelphia, and Mr. Appleton, his late Secretary of Legation in London. Col. Ramsay is on a visit with him. Miss Lane, a beautiful and highly accomplished young lady, does the honors of the mansion with the same grace and affability which gained her so much popularity at the head of her uncle's establishment in London.

Chicago is a funny as well as a thriving place. It is original in more things than one. Recently a man committed suicide there by drowning. The body could not be found, but the coroner, not to be cheated out of his fees, held an inquest on his hat and jacket found on the bank of the lake. Verdict, "found empty."

The Russian government intend to make Sebastopol a magnificent city. A letter from Constantinople says the attempt made to get up the fragments of the vessels sunk at the mouth of the harbor appears likely to prove successful.

MINNESOTA.—The St Paul Pioneer of the 4th instant gives a list of the members elected to the Legislature of that Territory, from which it appears that both branches are Democratic. The Councils (Senate) stands—9 Democrats to 6 Republicans; the House; 19 Democrats, to 15 Republicans; and 4 Independents.

FALSE RUMOR.—We are happy to be able to state that the rumor of the death of a son of the Hon. J. C. Breckinridge, is untrue.—His second son was severely burned by an explosion of powder some days since, but is by no means dangerously injured.—Lexington Statesman.

Gov. Wise, of Virginia, has appointed fifty-two delegates from that State to the Southern Commercial Convention, to meet in Savannah, Ga., on the 8th of December. These are divided in the proportion of four from each of the thirteen congressional districts.—Senator R. M. T. Hunter heads the list.

George W. Johnson, one of the largest sugar planters of the Mississippi, below New Orleans, who died recently, left an estate valued at no less than $7,000,000. He has by his will unannounced all his slaves, 200 in number. They are all to be sent to Liberia in four years from his death, and each one is to be furnished with fifty dollars.

The N. Y. Courier expresses great esteem for Mr. Buchanan, and says, "in all the relations of private life he is a most estimable gentleman. His talents as a statesman are well known to the American people; and he is withal conservative in his individual opinions upon all the great questions of the day."

The population of Cuba is estimated at the present time at about 1,500,000. Of this number 650,000 are white, 750,000 are slaves black, and about 200,000 free black. By a royal order of the 12th of March, 1837, free colored people were prohibited from landing in Cuba.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.—A man named Church, visited Staunton, Va., last week, with a load of corn from Piedmont. He is 82 years old, and his mother, aged 107, and his father, aged 112 years are both living.

A COXCOMB, talking of the transmigration of souls, said:—"In the time of Moses, I have no doubt I was the golden calf."

"Very likely," replied a lady, "time has robbed you of nothing but the gilding."

A Commission merchant of New Orleans received from a Know-Nothing in Tennessee a dispatch somewhat like this:—

"Tennessee gone to hell; Kentucky right after her, three feet water on Cumberland Shoals; river (Salt water) rising."

Testimonial of Respect.

At a regular meeting of the Social Degree of Highland Temple of Honor No. 10, the following Resolutions were adopted expressive of the feelings of the Degree in reference to the death of our worthy and beloved sister ELIZA EVANS.

WHEREAS, it has pleased Divine Providence in its dispensation to take from our midst one whom we loved—loved as a worthy member, a bright ornament of the Social Degree, and a true Christian, therefore

Resolved, That while we mourn for her absence as a sister and member of the Degree, we sorrow not as those without hope, believing that for "her die was gain."

Resolved, That in her death, we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family, for in truth they have lost a dutiful and obedient daughter, and an affectionate sister.

Resolved, That each member of the Degree wear the usual badge of mourning for the space of thirty days.

Resolved, That the foregoing be published in the Democrat & Sentinel, and a copy be given to the family of the deceased.
