THE MERRY HEART.

'Tis well to have a merry heart," However short we stay; There's wisdom in a merry heart, Whate'er the world may say. Philosophy may lift its head And find out many a flaw, But give me the philosopher That's happy with a straw.

If life but brings us happiness, It brings us, we are told, What's hard to buy, though rich ones try, With all their heaps of gold;

Then laugh away, let others say Whate'er they will of mirth, Who laughs the most may truly boast He's got the wealth of earth.

There's beauty in the merry heart, A moral beauty, too; It shows the heart's an honest heart, 14

That's paid each man his due; And lent a share of what's to spare, Despite of wisdom's fears, And makes the check less sorrow speak, The eye weep fewer tears.

The sun may shroud itself in cloud The tempest wrath begin ; It finds a spark to cheer the dark, Its sunlight is within; Then laugh away, let others say & Whateler they will of mirth 1121 all all Who laughs the most may truly boast He's got the wealth of earth.

NAT HARRISON,

THE REPRESENTATIVE FROM HAMILTON.

BY HAZEL GREEN, ESQ.

"In early days old Nat Harrison was elected to the Legislature from this county," said an old fellow, as we were all seated around the stove, in the little hotel at M'Leensboro'. Hamilton county, Illinois.

"Old Nat was a regular old brick. He was forfeit the same to the Society. And the person transferring or receiving such tieket, with intense to defraud the Society, shall not thereafter enter the enclosure upon any condition whatever.

"I've been well, Tom," said he, "but I got awfully seared the first night I staid in this ere darmed place."

"How was that?" I inquired. "Well," said Nat, "I'll tell you all about ciety will be left under e, which might have a it. Ebensburg, July 15, 1857.

The know where to sleep when I d come in atter awhile. He took me up stairs to a little room, and said I could sleep there, and then be went down. I took good notice of it—brown door, with yaller streaks here and there—and a white yearthen lock handle. I star--and a white yearthen lock handle. I started down, a thinkin' about this, and I would not look at no other door, for fear I'd kinder get 'em mixed in my head, and then forget which was mine.

"About twelve o'cleek that night I came in with a kind of half growin' hummin in my head, and the very first thing I found at the top of the stairs was my own identical door, with the yaller streaks and white lock-handle-'Good,' says I, and in I lumbers. I walks up to the bed, and what do you think? Why, I finds one of your long legged, black whiskered town fellers in it-fast asleep. I takes him by the beard, rears him up on his end, and gives him a short sarmint-tells him to leave as quick as double triggers or I'll be d-d if I wouldn't kick him down stairstell's him I don't want to do it nuther, for I am a member of the Legislature—the Representative from Hamilton—but if I git to fighting he'd find me to be a full team. The follow looked orfully scared, and without saying a word he got up very humble like, and started for his dry goods, which hung on a chair up in one corner. I sot down the light and begun to undress; and says I to him, draw on them duds and toddle from here, or I'll be cussed if I-turning around at the same time to look fierce at him-I sees him a comiu' at me with one of the dod drottest butcher knives in the world.

"Well, thought I, Nat you've got yourself in a close place, by Jingo! and so we begun to lumber around the room like the very nation. Here I went, and here he come. last I got between him and the door, and out in bed and ready to go to sleep. I had not been in bed long before the door opened, and a young man and woman came into the room and took seats by the candle stand.

"Something else on hand, Nat," thought I to myself, "but let 'em rip."
They looked very serious at first, but finally it were off, and they got to chatting very lovingly, and to huggin and kissen a little. I was delighted with the performance, and thought the feller in bed with me ought to see it and enjoy the fun too; so I whispered him—

"Say, Captain—old hoss 'jest look up,"
They both started up, like a shocken mill had touched em, and they seemed to be orfully seared, till the gal said, "it was only the wind blowing agin the winder."

They soon got to huggin and kissen again and as I could not rouse my friend I thought I'd jest have a little fun to myself.

"Slips," says I, jest as they was a fetching their lips together, and up they sprung like lightning and sloped for the door; but as fortune would have it, the young feller had dropped the key and he couldn't git out.

"Never mind," said I, "its fun for me as well as you. I love to see sich thin.

well as you. I love to see sich things a goin n."
This seemed to scare them more than ever.

It was rich—too rich to enjoy alone, and so I determined to wake my bed feller: I slapped my hand on his chin—it was as cold as ice. "Thunder and St Louis, Nat," said I, "you're in bed with a dead man," and without waiting to consider the matter I sprung to the floor. The youngsters gave a loud squall fetched agen the closed door, and I pitched with em, which resulted in smashing the darned thing open. Without waiting for ceremony or formalities we all bolted for the stairs. Hearing the tacket, the landlord who occupied a room still further back, came bolting after us. Catching a glimpse of him I took him to be the dead man, and so I put all the steam on, and ran close in the wake of the lovers. I could not pass them, however, for they were frightened out of their senses having no idea but I was the deceased in close pursuit. In this condition we all tumbled promisenously down stairs in to the bar-

" Now let's go and take somethin, old hoss." said Nat, "but don't say anything about this when you get home, or Sally may be uneasy about me.

Wit and Bumor.

Mr. Buchanan on Polygamy.

Major Jack Downing thus relates a conver-sation he had with Mr. Buchanan on Utah; Old Buck is a good deal railed with Brigham Young, who, with his one hundred wives, have created a rebellion-when the old Buck hasn't one that he can call his own. If one woman created a rebellion in the garden of Eden when she had a man and ought to bin satisfied, it isn't wonderful that one hundred should do the like in Utah, having only one man among 'em all! Says I, Bucky, did you ever see union and harmony where there was a hundred wimen and but one man-it's agin all nater to expect it-and the only way to bring matters to a good sartin point, is to see each woman has her arm. Yes, but said old Buck, then every man would be obleeg'd to hev his woman. Yes, sartin, sez I. Well, then, sez he, they'd blane me for the hull of this trouble and say I'd sot'em a bad example. That's so, sez I, and since you druy so many woman to take up with one man be-kase you refused to take your sheer, its your duty to make 'em live peaceable as they are, or else break the hull thing up by reforming and setting every old bachelor a good exam-ple by takin one of these deluded woman for your sheer, to once.

PROMISING YOUTHS .- A celebrated ciergy. man was spending a Sunday at Greenport, R. I., not long since, and of course preached a sermon. Returning from church, he passed a number of specimens of "Young America." amusing themselves with a game of ma bles, rather intimately mixed with fancy swearing.
