From the Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

New Rochelle or Lawton Blackberry.

Dear Doctor.—We furnished you an article last spring on the above-named fruit, giving an account of its origin, characteristics of the plant and fruit, the soil to which it is adapted, its seasons of bearing, and its extraordinary productiveness. The past season has done much to establish the reputation of this remarkable fruit. Wherever it has been cultivated, as far as we have heard, it has not only given entire satisfaction, but exceeded all that has been said in its favor. Many who at first looked on it with distrust, fearing it was another Morus-multicaulis humbug, and would not touch it, are now convinced of its great worth, and are going into its cultivation very extensively. It has been satisfactorily tested in this neighborhood, and triumphantly sustained its high reputation. A great number of persons visited our grounds last summer during the fruiting season, among whom were not a few of those who were avowed unbelievers in it, and without a single exception, they were amazed and delighted with the vigor of the plants and the size, productiveness, lusciousness, and beauty of the fruit, and affirmed that though so much had been said in its praise, the half had not been told.

As this fruit is not only very palitable and wholesome—being generally regarded as medicinal—but can be devoted profitably to so many different purposes, the market will hardly ever be overstocked. A writer in the New York Tribune says five hundred acres of plants are needed in the immediate neighborhood of that city to supply the daily demand for berrys.

As it was thought by some that we were extravagant in our praises of the fruit in our last article—though we were sustained by such men as Charles Downing, and other eminent Pomologists of the country,—we ask the privilege of giving in this article the testimony of a few of those who have seen it in fruit during the past season—gentlemen who every way competent to judge of its character, and whose opinions will be received as satisfactory wherever they are known.

William Adalson, M. D., one of our best judges of fruits, thus speaks of it:

"In company with some friends, I visited the farm of Mr. Knox last summer for the purpose of seeing the New Rochelle Blackberry in fruit, about which a great deal had been said, and against which I entertained a prejudice. It is but just to say that this prejudice has been completely removed. To the previous marvelous tales told in reference to this fruit I had listened with stolied indifference. To be perfectly frank, I did not believe a word of them. But, to be equally honest now, that opinion I had formed in ignorance is entirely changed. I found on Mr Knox's grounds such a display of fruit as I was not prepared for, and but express the universal opinion of of the company, that to all lovers of fruit this is an immense stride in the way of improvement.

"All who are familiar with the wonders cultivation will work well, not be at all a prised at what may to effected by the intelligent labor of years; but here is a fruit that has not only attained an excellence that is truly wonderful.

"The New Rochelle Blackberry is not an almost delicious fruit, but a prodigious one. I cut off a bough about eighteen inches long, on which I counted seventy-six berrys, all perfectly formed, and of extraordinary size and beauty.

"Those who had the privalige of examining the fruit on Mr. Knox's grounds are unanimous in their opinion that it has not been overrated, and that in order to be appreciated it must be seen hanging on the plants in its abundant, rich and beautiful clustures."

M. W. Jacobus, D. D., Professor in the Western Theological Seminary says:

"Last summer I went to see the celebrated New Rochelle or Lawton Blackberry, in fruiting. I found them altogether exceed my expectation—the stalk tall and rank, loaded full of the largest berries, in all the various stages of ripening; and the yield was truly wonderful. I learned from a friend who had planted a small plot in the neighborhood, that they required very little care, and were constantly coming on through the season, so as to furnish the most prolonged supply.

"The berry is sometimes misjudged by being plucked as soon as it is black, without being allowed sufficient time to thoroughly ripen. If taken off prematurely it is sour; but when perfectly mature, it is as luscious as it is large.

"I am entirely satisfied that no fruit in our market will so amply reward cultivation—and in every garden a few of these roots would supply the table with a healthful and palatable berry, that needs only to be valued elsewhere.

The editor of the Pittsburg Chronicle gives the following notice of it:

"The New Rochelle Blackberry.—Accompanied by some gentlemen from the city, we yesterday paid a visit to the farm of Rev. Mr Knox in Lower St. Clair township and though we had heard much of the success which had attended his culture of the New Rochelle Blackberry, and were consequently prepared to see it in a high state of perfection we must confess that it more than met our anticipations; and that in size, yield, and flavor, it far excelled anything we had heard or read of it.

"The Rochelle Blackberry was first introduced here by Mr. Knox. He put down but a few plants at first, but their immense yield, and the superior quality of the berry, convinced him that it was just that the thing for this district; and the following year, at a very great outlay, he set several acres of the plants The result is easily told. Coming up to his warmest anticipations, he is now able to supply our market with this very desireable and beautiful berry in large quantities, and at a time, too, when Strawberries are not to be had, and Raspberries are out of date.

"The Blackberries grown by Mr. Knox are nearly as large as Plums, unusually sweet and palatable, and hang in most bountiful profusion on the bushes. On one small vine close there were some six hundred berries—some green, others red, more almost ripe, and not a few fit for gathering. They begin to ripen early in July, and continue in season six or seven weeks, thus furnishing us a delicious substitute for the Strawberry and the Raspberry, to either of which they are not a whit inferior. They are said to be admirably adapted for preserves, and make excellent wine—their juicy nature rendering them in this latter particular unusually productive. They have become a great favorite in the market; and as the plant is an exceedingly hardy one and a heavy producer, we do not see why every man possessed of a piece of ground should not have his "New Rochelle Blackberry patch." It would furnish him a delicious berry in the season, and the surplus he might send to market, where they will ever command a remunerative price."

We have abundance of other testimony of a like character, and could say even more in its praise than we have; but let every one who has a piece of ground, if only large enough for a single plant, try it for himself, and he will be amply repaid.

Horrible Outrage by a Negro.

More "cause and effect."—The negro equality doctrins of the fanatical Abolitionists, are producing their legimate effects all over the country. It will be difficult for any of our readers to peruse the following account of another horrible atrocity, perpetrated upon a white girl, without their blood boiling with indignation:

"Last week, a young girl, fiarely fourteen years of age, the daughter of a respectable carpenter, named Collins, residing in Xenia, Ohio, became the mother of an African child greatly to the amazement and horror of the relatives and friends, who had never doubted her purity for a moment. The poor girl forced to make some explanation, then told, with the deepest sense of shame, and in a perfect agony of mind, that ten months before she had gone about dusk one evening, to a cooper's shop to obtain some shavings, when she was approached by a stalwart negro, named Booker, who seized her, and choked her so that she could not scream, then brutally outraged her person! No one was near, and in his hands the poor child was compelled to yield to the will of the monster, and to endure what she would have died to avoid.

"So greatly was she horrified when she obtained her freedom that she dreaded to expose the negro, who had threatened to kill her if she revealed what had happened, knowing that by so doing that she would expose her own infamy. Believing no one would ever know the dreadful secret, except through her, she resolved to hide it in her own bosom, and even after she knew that would be impossible, she preserved the most complete silence concerning the great wrong she had suffered. Not indeed till the child was born did she reveal the horrid fact, that had crushed out her hope and peace and clouded her life forever.

"The negro, it appears, had left Xenia a few days before his crime became known, or the people of that vicinity, with all their morbid sympathy with the colored race, would have lynched him on the spot. A number of persons are now in pursuit of Booker, and will, if they capture him, hang the black devil, as he richly deserves. The infant, very fortunately, lived but a single hour."

Horrible Murder by a Mother.

The Newark Daily Mercury of Saturday gives the following details of the murder of a little boy by his own mother:

"It will be remembered by some of our readers that some weeks ago we noticed the arrest of a woman, named Mary Ann Brown, on a charge of vagrancy. She was found in a yard of a house in the Seventh Ward, with a son a promising boy of four years of age, in a state of utter destitution. She stated at the time that she was the wife of Joseph Brown, a hatter in Orange, who had deserted her.

"Since that time, she with her child, have been inmates in the Poor House in Orange. For some time past, she has been told that her child was to be taken from her and sent West. As she appeared to be perfectly wrapped up in the child, and solicitous of nothing but having him near her, these statements have greatly frightened the poor woman, and have made her double anxious to keep the child near her, no one, however thought the result would be such as it is.

"On Thursday morning Mrs. Brown called the child to her and as he approached, she seized him, and with a razor which she had on her person cut his throat from ear to ear, almost severing the head from the body. The child died almost instantly.

"The Overseer was soon apprized of the fact that this horrible tragedy had occurred, and proceeded to secure the mother, fearing that she would attempt her own life. The child's body was also taken care of by him, until the proper authorities should be apprized of the occurrence.

"Mrs Brown is a native of Ireland, and is apparently about 32 years of age. Her appearance indicates that she is addicted to intoxicating liquors, and that is the alleged reason why her husband deserted her. She appears to be perfectly sensible of the enormity of the crime which she has committed, and weeps continually for the loss of her beloved child. It is to be hoped that no one, more particularly a woman and a mother, could be guilty of such a crime unless laboring under a fit of insanity, but she has exhibited no symptoms of being in that condition. But this shows another of the many horrible effects of rum."

ANOTHER SICKLES TRAGEDY.—The Seducer Shot—The Rochester (N. Y.) Advertiser of Friday has the following:

At Batavia, this morning, David Curry shot John Foster. His wife had been keeping house for Foster some time, and Curry requestedher to come home She refused. They quarreled last night. Foster and two other men beat Curry badly. Foster was shot above the abdomen, the ball passing through his body and lodging in a fence post. Foster died in a few hours afterwards. Foster was passing on the opposite side of the street from Curry's house, and on his way to his work He was about 31 years of age, and a laborer Curry was immediately arrested and committed to jail. There is considerable excitement in Batavia in regard to it.

☞ A sailor being asked how he liked his bride is reported to have remarked—"Why, d've see I took her to be only half of me, as the parson says, but dash me, if she isn't twice as much as I.' I'm only a tar—she's a tar tar."

The Democratic members of the New Jersey legislature have, it is stated, resolved to vote for Commodore Stockton for U. S. Senator.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, in which we have labored to produce the most effectual alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumious complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruption, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even when no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is deranged or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation, of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is made a by-word, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall restore the name from the level of Quackery which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
