DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET AUDITOR GENERAL, WICHARDSON L. WRIGHT, OF PHILAPELPHIA. SURVEYOR GENERAL, JOHN ROWE, OF FRANKLIN COUNTY.

Are White Men the Inferiors of Xe-

groes ?

The leaders of the Black Republican party are constantly boasting that their party is the great advocate and defender of the rights of man in this country. They charge the Democracy with being the advocates of slavery, and with endeavoring to deprive a portion of their fellow beings of the rights which the God of Nature intended they should enjoy. They are constartly weeping over the wrongs of the Negro, and never weary of denouncing the Southern planter who holds him in slavery. Their sympathy for the "colored gemmen" has gone so far in Massachusetts, the hot bed of Black Republicanism, that they allow him the right to vote, and it is nothing remarkable there too see a Negro marching up by the side of a white man to the ballot box, for the purpose of exercising the right of suffrage. But the richest part of the story remains to be told. In this same State of Massachusetts, an amendment to the Constitution of the State was recently adopted by a vote of the people which declares that no foreigner shall be allowed to vote at any election in the aforesaid State of Massashusetts until two years after he is naturalized : thus denving to those whom the Constitution and laws of the United States declare to be American citizens, the sacred right of suffrage. Negroes are allowed to vote, while the same privilege is denied white citizens, because they happened to draw their first breath in a foreign land! Who, after this, will doubt that the Black Republicans are enlightened philanthropists, friends of hu-Lafayette, Montgomery, Kosciusko and Steuben. of Black Republicanism, and we think that our readers will agree that we are right in saying so when we inform them, that the Black Republican and Know Nothing majority over the Democratic party in that State in 1856 was 88,576.

And will the American people endorse the enonstreus doctrine that Negroes are better men, better entitled to exercise the right of suffrage than white men who chanced to be born in a foreign land, but who have strictly complied with the provisions of the naturalization laws of the United States, and are consequently American citizens? Will they allow a party which is endeavoring to crush white men and elevate Negroes, to control the destinies of the Nation ?-Nothingism shall reign triumphant at Washington, and that patriotism and common sense shall be ignored in the administration of the National government? These are questions which the people must answer in 1860.

The Black Republicans are always ready to court the foreign vote during the excitement of a political campaign By their talk about "freesoil for free men," they succeeded in obtaining a majority of the German votes in the Western States for Fremont in 1856. We hope they will never again succeed in deceiving the men of whom they are the worst enemies.

The Black Republican party is nothing but the Know Nothing organization under a new name. The leaders of the Know Nothing party during its brief career, are now the most prominent Black Republican leaders, and if successful they would at once revive and endeavor to carry out in the administration of the government the bigoted and antirepublican doctrines of the midnight fraternity. Henceforth it will be only necessary to refer to Massachusetts in order to prove ihat Know Nothingism and Black Republicanism travel hand in hand.

When Senator Bigler insults the most reliable portion of the Democratic party, as he did by urging the appointment of the Know Nothing Quiggle, we are not restrained from speaking our mind, either because our denunciation does not suit Lecompton editors or because Republican papers copy our articles. Not even if the appointment is made to forward the pecuniary interests of the Senator." - Mountaineer.

We know nothing concerning Mr. Quiggle's political history, and therefore cannot say whether he should or should not have been appointed U. S Consul to Antwerp. Of course Mr. Buchanan would not have appointed him if he had not been well recommended by the Democracy of the county in which he resides. As we remarked a few weeks ago, the appointment is worth but little in a pecuniary point of view, and we presume there were but few applicants for it. But our neighbor asserts that the appointment was urged by Senator Bigler, and insinuates very plainly that in so doing he was seeking to forward his "pecuniary interests." Our neighbor having given publicity to these charges through the columns of his paper, we now call on him to prove them. We ask Quiggle was urged or procured through the influence of Senator Bigler. We challenge him to prove that, if Senator Bigler did urge the appointment of Mr. Quiggle, he was endeavoring by so doing to advance his own pecuniary interests." Come, neighbor, face the music, and no "wriggling" if you please.

e the Sellie

Senator Bigler is no stranger to the Democracy of Cambria county, and they know that his own talents, energy and integrity placed him in the exalted position he now occupies. They know that if, in 1855, he had consented to enter the dens of the Know Nothing party, he could have secured his election as Governor that year, and they also know he was the first victim offered up on the unhallowed shrine of Know Nothingism in this State. His enemies supposed at that time that they had "exterminated" him. But they were mistaken. The Know Nothing party is dead and gone, but Bigler "still lives."-The Mountain Democracy entertains too exalted an opinion of Senator Bigler to believe charges against his integrity and Democracy unless they are proved. We presume our neighbor has nothing personally against Senator Bigler. But Forney is constantly engaged in maligning him, and of course, the "faithful disciple" must "do likewise."

Our neighbor also informs his readers that the "Lecompton Editors" of Western Pennsylvania were "gathered to receive instructions" at Pittsburg a few weeks ago. This is another charge which he will please prove. We know that it is not true. Publicity was first given to it by the low scurileus vagabond who occupies the position of "Washington Correspondent," of Forney's Press, and we believe with the exception of our neighbor, no Editor in the State stooped so low as to assist in giving currency to it. Even several of the opposition Editors of Pittsburg, pronounced the charge a scurrilous falsehood-We wonder if our neighbor did not a few months ago, entertain some faint hopes that he could secure the appointment of Deputy Marshall for this County. There is nothing that makes men so desperate and savage, as visions of broken hopes and honors lost for-

As we are not disposed to kick at nothing, we will endeavor to dispose of the leader in the last Mountaineer in a very few words. Our neighbor asserts that we keep a stereotyped edimanity and the rights of man! The adoption of | torial article on hand, & that we published it last this amendment shows that the Black Republi- week. This assertion is simply untrue, and he cams of Massachusetts regard a Negro as vastly knew it was false when he penned it. We chalthe superior of a naturalized citizen-certainly a lenge him to point out a single paragraph in the very exalted compliment to the countrymen of article refered to which ever appeared in our paper previous to last week. It is very easy to We have said that Massachusetts is the hot-bed | make assertions, but it is not always equally easy

We return our neighbor our sincere thanks, for the very interesting account he furnished us with, of the three individuals to whom the world is weekly indebted for the appearance of the Mountaineer. We cannot imagine what could be his object in dragging his publisher and apprentice into a controversy with which they never had and probably never will have anything to do. Mr. Litzinger is a good workman and a gentleman, and Jeens we have no doubt is a very good boy. Of course we did not refer to them when we spoke of the Mountaineer clique last week. We refered to the power behind the throne, to the men who ewn the stock and pull Are they willing that Abolitionism and Know | the wires. Our neighbor then very gravely proceeds to inform us that he does the "Editing," Well, who ever said that he didn't. He need not labor under any apprehensions of being robbed of his Editorial laurels, as we are certain no man living would be willing to father his literary bant lings. They all bear an unmistakeable mark of their parentage, for twaddle is stamped on all of them in characters so plain, that the most careless and superficial reader cannot fail perceiving

We last week charged our neighbor with inconsistency. We proved that although last fall and winter, he denounced democrats as traitors and disorganizers because they opposed a portion of the Democratic County Ticket, he is now the apologist and defender of the men who recently assembled in Convention at Harrisburg, and repudiated the Democratic State Ticket and the Democratic platform. He should have met this charge of inconsistency and "given a reason for the faith that is in him." instead of boring his readers with a twaddling rigmarole, about his publisher and apprentice. But per haps he could not do so without offending John W. Forney, and of course that wouldn't do.

that we hold ourself individually responsible patch says: for everything which appears in the Editorial columns of this paper, and that we are opposed or supposed injuries. Yet we always stand ready or thrice, and convulsions ran through the to defend ourself, and the man who undertakes either to insult or assault us, may possibly find before he is through, that he is "barking up the wrong sapling."

She had been sent to the basin for a pail of water, and accidently slipped into the basin, while enhim to prove that the appointment of Mr. When the body was recovered life was extinct.

The War in Europe.

The war which has just commenced between France and Sardinia on the one side, and Austria on the other, is now attracting the attention of the civilized world. It will, in all probability, be a protracted struggle, and exert a powerful influence on the future destinies of Europe. Louis Napoleon, Francis Joseph and Victor Emanuel are three ambitious monarchs, each anxious to extend his dominions, and secure for himself an immortal page in the records of history. The assertion that the war on the part of Sardinia is a struggle in behalf of Italian liberty is absurd. Victor Emanuel and his ally, Louis Napoleon, if victorious, would afford the Italians the protection only which vultures give to lambs. England still continues to occupy a neutral position, and will probably continue to do so as long as the war is confined to Italy. We clip the following description of the posture of the belligerents, according to the latest news received, from a late number of the Pittsburg Post :

"Thus far the Austrian Emperor has bro't his troops to the lines of the Ticino, a small tributary of the Po, and the boundary between Sardinia and the richest possessions of Austria. If she cross this river with her forces and invade Sardinia, as some accounts say she has already done, she could send her troops to Turin in four or five days, but it is questionable if they could get back again .-The Sardinians could not resist them, but before they could have accomplished their designs, the French cohorts would be on their or three days from Genoa by steamer, and thence a railroad by Allessandria, leads direct to Turin, which would flank the Austrians, and the other army at Lyons crossing the Alps would throw themselves in front of the Austrians. If Austria has invaded the Sardinian territory, there has been, ere this, a tremendous battle.

SUMMERHILL.

Our readers are respectfully referred

The following article taken from the Cincinatti Enquirer will doubtless be perused with interest by all our readers.

Within the last seventy years there have been five wars between France and Austria on the continent of Europe. Austria was one of the first nations that took up arms against the French Revolution In connection with Prussia, in 1792, her armies invaded France. After a desperate struggle they were driven out by the energy of the French Republican Assembly, and by the valor and military skill of Gen Demourier. The French Assembly, by a conscription, called out one million two hundred thousand men for the defense of the country, a military exertion which has seldom, if ever, been equalled in military annals.

Prussia and Spain withdrew from the coalition, and, in 1696, Austria was left to sustain the shock of the French in Italy .-She was supported by the King of Sardina. a state which is now her bitterest enemy -The French army, under Napoleon, in two campaigns detached Sardina from her alliance, drove her troops out of Italy, and pursued them into Germany, nearly to the gates of Vienna. Under the walls of that capital France dictated peace to Austria in 1796 -By that peace she made large cessions of territory and influence in Germany. As a recompense, Napoleon assigned her Venice and Lombardy, and first made her an Italian

In 1799, Austria and Russia took up arms against France, and for a time they were successful They drove the French out of Italy. In the latter part of that year, however, Napoleon returned from Egypt. He induced the Russian Emperor Paul to withdraw from the Austrian alliance. Having accomplished this, he led his army into Italy. On the plains of Narengo he fought a decisive battle, the result which expelled Austria from Italy. It was soon followed up by the victory of Hohenliden, in Germany, gained by the French under General Moreau. The and again France compelled Austria to sue for peace. In 1804, the Emperor of France became the King of Italy. Immediately after, Austria and Russia attacked France Such, however, was the power of the latter, that in six months one Austrian army was destroyed at Ulm, and another together with

In 1809, Austria and France met in collision on the tented field. The French however, under Napoleon, marched down the most, of the wind, and in one campaign took up their quarters in Vicons.
