Summer Pruning of Apple Trees. It is a pretty well established fact that apple trees-and we would add pear treespruned from the middle of July to the middle of August sustain the operation with much more advantage than if pruned at any other period of the year. If pruned at this TOMBS. MANTELS, GRAVE time, the wound will heal over, and make, STONES, TABLE & BUREAU TOPS, what surgeons would say of a properly amputated arm or leg, a handsome stump. If the branches be lopped in winter or spring, the stump generally leaves a perpetual scar; and if after the sap has commenced flowing. a bare bone, as it were, projecting from the living parts of the tree, and remaining there until it rots away, when frequently the decay continues on, as a sort of gangrene, into the very heart of the tree, much to its inju- invites the public to call and examins his stock, ry. Who has not observed this in his experience? We have more than once witnessed the benefits of pruning in midsummer, and have always been impressed with the advantages over the system generally pursued. On one or two occasions, some years ago, we advertised to the fact, and now again call attention to it, especially as the season for trying it is at hand. Five or six years ago, a first-class farmer upon a leased place, trimmed the apple trees in midsummer, at which the landlord who had greater pretensions to farming than his suit for damages; but in one year after, town Telegraph

Summer Pruning the Grape Vine. When vines are properly pruned in the Fall or winter they will need only moderate pruning in the Summer. The first item in this work is rubbing off all superfluous shoots before they have attained to much size .--Where several push out at a single joint, all but one or at most two, should be rubbed off. Again, after the fruit has set, if there are more than two branches on a single spur, they should be pinched out. One good, heavy bunch is often enough for a spur, and certainly two are all it ever should be allowberries are half grown. Pinch off at two or nearer than this In a week, or ten days so as not to cause buds to break out prematurely lower down on the spur. Continue this operation every week until the fruit is full grown and begin to color well; then let them go. Summer pruning does not consist in pulling off the leaves of the vine. Many persons still continue this barbarous practice. But they should consider that the leaves are the lungs and stomach of the vine, and are as essential to its vigor and health as the same organs I WHE UNDERSIGNED having dissolved part well cared for, are to man The leaves are particularly necessary in the latter part of Summer, not only to finish the growth of the which the fine flavor of good grapes much | manufacture and keep constantly for sale depends. Give the leaves all possible sunlight, but do not tear them off in order to expose the fruit.

Currant Wine.

A palatable and wholesome wine-or at least usefu'll 'as a medicine,' in many casesmay be made from the current We have says the Albany Cultivator, in former years, made wine from the red currant by the fol-

To each gallon of clear juice was added two gallons of water, and to each gallon of the mixture was added three and a half ponds of brown sugar. After the sugar was dissolved, the liquor was put in good barrels placed in the cellar, and when fermentation had subsided, it was bunged tightly. In February, one gallon of the best fourth-proof brandy was added to the barrell In May to furnish farmers and others with following, it was bottled. Like other wines it improves with age-

White wine may be made with white currants, using the same proportion of white sugar as is named of brown, for the above,-the that no brandy is added.

Black Currant Wine.

This wine has always been regarded as highly usefull in "summer complaint," a most distressing and too frequently fatal disease. Some of it should always be kept on pound of very pure moist sugar.

Put it into a cask, reserving a little for filling up But the cask in a warm, dry, room, and the liquor will ferment of itself. Skim off the refuse, when the fermentation shall be over, and fill up with the reserved liquor. When it has ceased working, pour three quarts of brandy, to forty quarts of wine Bung it close for nine months, then bottle it, and drain the thick part through a jelly bag, until it be clear, and bottle that Keep it ten or twelve months.

Soap Suds for Current Bushes.

A correspondent of the Indianna Farmer says: "I have found the cultivation of curattention I greatly increased the size of the | delay. bushes and the quality of the fruit, My bushes are now about six or eight feet in height, and are remarkable thrifty. The cause of this large growth, I attribute in a great measure to the fact that I have been in once and that of some of my neighbors, that | street. Opposite the St. Charles Hotel, this treatment will produce a most astonishing effect upon the growth and product of the bushes, and would advise others to give it a trial." - Ohio Valley Farmer.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitu jon, descending "from parents to children unt the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it; ems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other discases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause. One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking in-fection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise.

Such a medicine we supply in AYER'S Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this every where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERUPHIVE and Skin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erystrelas, Pimples, Pustules, BLOTCHES, BLAINS and BOILS, TUMORS, TETTER and SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, RINGWORM, RHEUMATISM, SYPHILITIC and MERCURIAL DIS-EASES, DROPSY, DYSPERSIA, DEBILITY, and, indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITIA-TED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC, are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse, and invigorate every portion of the human organism, correcting its diseased action, and restoring its healthy vitalities. As a consequence of these properties, the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so nu- postage. merous are the cases of its cures, that almost Address, for Report or treatment, Dr. J. Sh every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and pro-duced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
