Principles are eternal. Certain Democrats in our County, are constantly endeavoring to sustain themselves, by appealing to the common sense of people. It is sometimes very difficult to tell where they really are. They evidently regard a Democratic President merely as the dispenser of a larger amount of patronage; and if he does not grant them the appointments they desire, they are prepared to denounce him, although he may have faith fully carried out the principles of the Constitation, in the administration of the Govern-

Principles are eternal, and consequently they should be watched with jealous care. Certain politicians believe that the days of the democratic party have already been numbered, and that it will be powerless in the Presidential contest next year. This is a great mistake. If the principles which it upholds are right, they will sustain it, and sooner or later, secure its success. The sober second thought of the people is always

We regret exceedingly the dissensions which at present exist in the ranks of the par ty in this County. The democracy here, if united, are invincible; but when divided they cannot accomplish anything which will redound to the success of the party. The opposition party "laugh in their sleeves" at those who have been "duped" by them.

Certainly no good can result to the party from electing Know Nothings to office. We cannot gain strength by placing in an influential position those who are hostile to democratic principles. If we are determined to stand by the landmark of the party in this county we must take a position at once. The only rallying point that we have is the County ticket. Its triumphant election will excite in the breasts of us all emotions of pride and pleasure. If all or a portion of it is defeated we will feel mortified and be compelled to confess that Cambria is no longer the Demoeratic Banner County of Western Pennsylva-

We cannot gain anything by electing Black Republicans to office. They are hostile to our principles, and always when in power, use their influence against us. Every democrat should therefore labor honestly and zealously for the success of the County and State ticket. By so doing they will prove to the world that they are sincere democrats and has publicly said that there is a perpetual war Tuesday of October: fare in this country between the slaveholding and non-slaveholding states, and that if slavery is not abolished in Virginia, Maryland & South Carolina, Pennsylvania will become a slave state. Many of our readers will doubt. Poor House Director. Not being eligible to less laugh at this as highfuluten nonsense. But it should not be viewed in this light, Senator Seward sincerely entertains the views which he has proclaimed, and if elected Pre. - ident would look to them for his guidance in the discharge of his official duties. To us all, this issue is pregnant with importance If the citizens of the slave & non-slave-holding states cannot continue to regard each other as brothren, as fellow countremen, the sooner the Union is dissolved the better. The Union between the northern and Southern states, then would exist only in name, because there would not be an equality of rights. The dissolution of the Union would certainly be the most direful calamity that could befal the American people; it would blot them from the book of Nations, and place them on an equality with the citizens of the South American States In order to avert this direful calamnity, all sincere democrats should stand firm. They should look to principles and not NEL," and the most influential and largest circu- to men. They should not degrade themselves lating Newspapers in the United States and into the position of man worshippers. But on the contrary they should at once assume the position of freemen, mantaining the dignity of man with soul erect.

> Our town at the present time is blessed with a very large assortment of dogs, of all varieties; from the dignified Spaniel, to the impudent snarling cowardly fist. We counted twelve in the "Dimond" one day last week at one time. They were all evidently wide awake and "full of fleas," and like Burns' "twa a dog" seemed bent on wearying each other in diversion. As our town contains a very large assortment of canines at the present time, it may not be out of place to inform their owners, that but few men like to be barked and snarled at by either full grown beagles or half grown puppies. Dogs which are permitted to prowl around the streets are always a nusiance in a town as large as Ebensburg.

We see it stated in several of our ex changes that Hon. Thomas Florence, of Philadelphia, has issued a prospectus for a new publication to be called the "Democratic Quarterly Review." Mr. Florence is a reliable Democrat, an able writer and a profound Statesman The Review will uphold the principles of the Democratic party as promulgated and defended by Jefferson, Madison, Jackson, Polk, Pierce and Buchanan Under the control of Mr. Florence it cannot fail in being a faithful exponent of Democratic principles.

A SINGULAR CASE. -Sometime during last winter Messrs. Strouse & Dahlman, Horse dealers of New York City, purchased a horse from Mr. Robert Williams, of Cambria township. They took the horse and a number of others they had purchased in this vicinity with them to New York City. Shortly after arriving there a gentleman from Massachusetts examined the horse carefully and then claimed him as his property. He stated that about two years ago the horse was stolen from his farm near Boston, and that he had heard nothing of him from that time until he accidentally recognized him in the manner we have stated. Messrs Strouse & Dahlman refusing to give him the horse, he brought an action of replevin against them, and they gave a bond for the property. One of the firm brought the horse to this place last week, and sent for Mr. Williams. He immediately identified the borse as the one he had sold a few months ago. He states that he raised him, and that he was never out of his possession for a single day, until he sold him to the above named firm. The Massachusetts gentleman is equally confident that he is the horse which was stolen from him. The case is a singular one, and as the witnesses all reside a considerable distance from New York. the losing party will be saddled with a pretty large bill of costs.

The late elections in Kentucky were attended by the usual amount of bloodshed. Since the Louisville riots of 1855, law and order seem to have been ignored in certain districts of that State, and that peaceful citizens are hazarding their lives when they attempt quietly to exercise the right of suffrage. As a capital illustration of the beauties of Kentucky Know Nothingism in the year 1859, read the following paragraph from the Cincincati Fuguirer:

"We were informed yesterday that a difficulty occurred at the Blue Lick polls on Monday, between two young men, William Abbott and Delaney, in which their fathers became involved, when the elder D. struck the elder A. with a piece of lead pipe, which so enraged the son of the latter that he drew a large bowie-knife, and thrust it twice through his breast, the blade passing out at his back. Delaney died almost immediately, but while he was breathing his last, the father of the youth snatched the knife from his son's hand and cut the dying man's face and head until he lost all human semblance An eye-witness says the deceased was literally carved and cut to pieces.

"J. W. Pennoyer, conductor of the Louis ville and Frankford Railroad, who was in town yesterday, informs us that as he was passing through Paris, in the afternoon of the election day, he saw a crowd running and a great excitement among the people, and learned that two men had been shot, one fatally; but he could not obtain names or particulars. Various localities in Kentucky were the scenes of fights, shooting, cutting, and homicides, as the election was one of unusual excitement in our sister State."

The Republican Convention of Kansas has nominated Marcus J. Parrot for Delegate to Congrees from that Territory.

It afforded us not a little pleasure yesterday, to grasp by the hand our old friend Mr. James Dougherty, of Philadelphia. He looks well and is still in the "Tobacco business." Give him a call if you visit Philadel-

Calumny Recoils.

The decided manner in which Mr. Buch anan, says the Patriot and Union, of Harrisburg, has expressed his determination not "under any combination of circumstances" to be a candidate for re-election, is inexpressible annoying to those who have been daily affirming that he was using all the power and patronage of the government to secure a nom ination from the Charleston Convention .-The picture of a President directing all his power to compel the party to minister to his enormous ambition afforded extreme gratification to those adversaries, who delight to call him a despotic and tyranical contemner of the will of the people. The very emphat ic announcement of Mr. Buchanan that he will not be a candidate spoils this stock in trade, and renders all the accumulated evidences so much worthless and unmarketable rubbish. It is true that upon accepting office the President announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election, and has stated the same thing on several occasions since that time, but the manufacturers of fictitious political capital did not stop at this It suited their purposes ta say that he was a candidate, and of course they did not hesitate to say so. Not that he has thought prop er to give these stories the most positive and formal denial, calumny must find some new

The Chambersburg Times, an independant newspaper with Opposition proclivities, expresses, with much force, the disgust of impartial men at the unmeasured abuse heaped upon the President. It says:--

It has been stated in some quarters, with considerable emphasis, that Mr. Buchanan is seeking a re-nomination for the Presidency. and that his name will be urged upon the Charleston Convention. There is certainly no truth in these statements. A very eminent citizen of our state, gave in our presence, a few evenings ago, the substance of a conversation on that subject, with the President at the Bedford Springs, in which he (the President) declared in the most empatic manner, that he was not a candidate for reelection. Like most of his predecessors Mr. Buchanan will no doubt rejoice when the term of his great office expires. The position is one worthy of the highest political aspirations, but its cares, and duties, and responsibilities are such as to wear down the best physical, as well as mental constitution and the incumbent seeks the repose of quiet and retired life, with most grateful and most pleasurable feelings. Mr. Buchanan has about twenty months yet to serve as the Chief Executive of the nation, and, we have no doubt, will in that time inaugurate and adjust many important measures for the advancement of his country's prosperity, and which will live in history monuments to his wisdom and patriotism.

We have to sympathy with that class of persons who, editorially and otherwise, delight in terms of personal denunciation and abuse of the Head of the Nation. Whilst it acts, and criticise their merits. It is certainexalted patriotism can never be detached.

General Houston and the African Slave Trade .- Gen. THE WASHINGTON MONUMENT-A Curious

Experiment -Work being about to be renewed on the Washington Monument at Washington, preperations were made last week for commencing operations. Only one rope was left by which the top could be reach ed, but it was considered unsafe to ascend by this, lest it should prove to be rotten, and loss of life ensue. It was therefore necessary to get a rope across the top. To do this a man was produced who, standing upon the ground outside the column, threw a stone over it, more than a hundred and seventy feet in height. Having ascertained that he could perform this feat, a small pack of resistance of the air to the thread prevented his casting the stone more than half the heighth of the column. Next an Indian bow and arrows were obtained, but the arrows, with thread attached, would not rise above a hundred feet. A rifle was next obis eminently proper to investigate his public tained, and experiments were made inside the column by shooting the ramrod, with a ly in bad taste, to make him an object of vi- pack of thread attached upwards, in the hope that it would fall across a particular brace, of the blackest crimes.
