The African King's Verdict. Alexander of Macedonia once entered into a neighboring and wealthy province of Africa. The inhabitants came forth to meet him, and brought their robes filled with golden apples and fruits. Eat this fruit among yourselves,' said Alexander, 'I am not come to see your wealth, but to learn your customs ' They then conducted him to the market place where their King administered justice. A citizen just then came before him and said 'I bought of this man, oh King, a sack of chaff, and have found in it a secret treasure. The chaff is mine but not the gold; and this man will not take it again. Command him, oh King, that he receive it for his own.' And his antagonist a citizen of the place, answered:

'Thou fearest to retain anything unjustly, and should not I also fear to take such a thing from thee? I have sold the sack with all that is in it, for it is thine. Command him.

oh King.' The King inquired of the first one, if he had a son. He answered, 'Yes' He then inquired of the other if he had a daughter and the same answer, 'Yes,' was returned. 'Well, then' said the King, 'you are both just men; marry your children to each other and give them the discovered treasure as a marriage portion. This is my verdict.' Alexander was astonished when he heard this decision.

'Have I judged unjustly,' said the King of this remote country, 'that thou art thus astonished?" 'Not at all,' answered Alexander, 'but in our country they would have judged far oth-'And how would you have judged?' asked the King. 'Both parties would have lost their heads,' answered Alexander, and their treasure would have fallen into the hands of the King.' Then the king clasped his hands together and said, 'Does the sun then shine upon you?

And do the heavens still shower their rain upon you?' Alexander replied 'Yes.' 'It must then be,' continued the King, 'for the sake of the innocent beasts that live in your country; for upon such men no sun should shine and no rain should fall.' Auful Condition .- Well there is a row over at our house.'
