

BOYER'S

To Make Butter in Five Minutes.

A correspondent highly recommends the following receipt:—After straining the milk, set it away for about twelve hours, for the cream to rise. After standing as above, set the milk without disturbing it, on the stove, let it remain there until you observe a coating of cream on the surface assume a wrinkled appearance, but ere it does not boil, as should be the case, the cream will mix with the milk, and cannot again be collected. Now set it away till quite cold, and then skim off the cream, mixed with as little milk as possible. When sufficient cream is collected, proceed to make it into butter, as follows:—Take a wooden bowl, or any suitable vessel, and having first scalded and then rinsed it with cold spring water, place the cream in it. Now let the operator hold his hand in water as hot as can be borne for a few seconds, then place it into cold water for about a minute, and at once commence to agitate cream by a gentle circular motion.—In five minutes or less, the butter will have come, when, of course, it must be washed and salted according to the taste; and our correspondent assures us that no better butter can be made by the best churn ever invented.

To those that keep only one cow, this method of making butter is really valuable; while quite as large a quantity of butter is obtained as by the common mode, the skim is much sweeter and palatable. In the summer it will usually be found necessary to bring the cream from the cellar (say a quarter of an hour before churning) to take the excessive chill off; in winter place the vessel containing the cream in a vessel of warm water to warm it; then continue to agitate the cream until the chills have departed.—Before washing the butter, separate all the milk you possible can, as the latter will be found excellent for tea cakes. Butter made in this manner will be much firmer and less oily in warm weather than when made in the ordinary way.—Scientific American.

A VARIETY OF CROPS.

A farm does not generally consist of one, two or three acres; neither does a farmer's revenue commonly accrue from one, two or three. If it does, I hold it should not. I have always observed that experienced and successful farmers raise a variety of crops; so that, by reason of drought, an overstocked market, or any other casualty, there is no pecuniary return, there may be something else upon which to fall back. By raising a variety of grains we obtain a succession of crops. In this locality, farmers when they break green sward, commonly plant it the first and sometimes the second season with corn, then follow with oats, then seed with timothy or clover, and let the land rest for some time. In this way good crops may be commonly obtained in ordinary seasons. Besides, by raising a variety of grains, the farmer's labor is more equally distributed, throughout the year. It does not all come together and hence he does not have to hire as much help as he otherwise would. No farmer should depend on one crop alone for a living, as any one crop is liable to be cut off. I have the acquaintance of some farmers who seem to be rather fickle in their system and notions of farming. They operate something in this way:—If, in the spring, potatoes, on account of scarcity, bring $1 per bushel, they put in as large a breadth as possible of the aforesaid crop, and the result is that the next spring, potatoes bring from one dime to fifteen cents more, and then the potato farmer says that "farming is unprofitable." Again wool brings from forty to fifty cents per pound, and the one-crop farmer buys all the sheep that he can find for sale. The next season wool is down to twenty-five cents per pound, and straightway the one-crop farmer cries out that "farming is unprofitable." As a general thing, a farmer should keep some hogs, some sheep, some cattle, some horses, and should raise a variety of grains and some roots; and then no drought nor fluctuations of the market will reduce him and his family to want, or prevent him from having a surplus of some sort to dispose of.

RYE FOR MILCH COWS.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, one of the best dairymen of Orange Co., claims that rye makes more milk than corn or oats, or other meal. Brewers grain, formerly cost six cents per bushel at the farm, now they cost one shilling, and are not so profitable as rye at six shillings per bushel. Oats he estimates the poorest kind of grain for cattle. His daily allowance to each cow is 5 lbs of meal, given with out hay, wet with warm water. Ho feeds corn and oats, buckwheat and wheat bran, changing the kind frequently, thinking his animals thrive best on frequent changes.

Pickled Mushrooms.—Select small mushrooms, commonly called *button*s. Cut off the end of each stalk; scrape, wash and spread them out to drain. Take as much vinegar as will cover them, put into it some stick cinnamon, mace, cloves, allspice, and just enough to taste. Put the mushrooms in jars. Boil the spices and vinegar, and pour it over the pickles while hot. Cover them close, as soon as they get cold.

Pickled Onions.—Select small white onions, put them over the fire in cold water with a handful of salt. When the water becomes scalding hot, take them out and peel off the skins, lay them in a cloth to dry; then put them in a jar. Boil half an ounce of allspice, and half an ounce of cloves in a quart of vinegar. Take out the spices, and pour the vinegar over the onions, while it is hot. Tie up the jar when the vinegar is cold, and keep it in a dry place.

DR. MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. Above we present you with a likeness of DR. MORSE—the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. This philanthropist has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depended upon this vital fluid. When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted, and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every nature; our strength, our vitality, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And this is the object of the pills we give you, to put a medicine in your reach, namely, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs in Nature's Garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these pills are made is a Sulfuriferous, which opens the pores of the skin, assists Nature in throwing out the fluids, and completely renews within. The second is a plant which is an Expectant, that opens and unclogs the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty in throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives double ease and strength to the kidneys, and cleanses the blood, drawing large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out plentifully by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, and accompanies the other properties of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood; the corner particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are here scooped up and conveyed off in great quantities by the bowels.

From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find their way to every part and completely re-circulate the system from all impurity, and cleanse the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and clear.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which will pass to the afflicted parts, and which will open the natural passage for the disease to be cast out; hence, a large quantity of food and other matter is lodged, and the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing with the corrupted mass; thus undergoing a disagreeable fermentation, constantly mixing with the blood, which throws the corrupted matter through every vein and artery, until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. Morse's PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to becoming healthy and happy. Yes, thousands who have been racked with rheumatism, stiffness, pain and anguish, and whose feeble frames have been scorched by the burning elements of raging fever, and who have been brought, as it were, within a step of the silent grave, now stand ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead, had it not been for this great and wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished, and absolutely surprised, in witnessing their charming effects. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood. Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these Pills, that they will cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty again return, and the prospect of a long and happy life will cheer and brighten your days.
