DISUNION.

There is no word that grates more harshly on the ear of American patriots, than that which heads this article. The Union has already conferred so many blessings on them, and they expect so many blessings from it in the future, that they almost instinctively cling to it with more than filial affection and reject with horror the idea that its dissolution is possible. It would be well for the country if every American citizen felt thus; it would be well if all felt that all their hopes of happiness in this world, were inseparably connected with the Union. But unhappily all do not thus feel. There is a class of men in our country who are constantly acting as if they regarded the Union as a curse. They are not willing that the States of the Union snall be. regarded as equale, but are constantly endeavoring to elevate one section of the confederacy and degrade the other. The practical workings of their doctrines, is illustrated in resistance to the execution of the Fugitive Slave Law in the Northern States, the underground Rail Road for assisting the escape of fugitive slaves, and the Harper's Ferry Insurrection. They are the only enemies of the Union in the country, and are accountable for the recent struggle in Congress, which shook the Republic to its very centre. Should the Union ever be dissolved they, and they only, will be to blame.

The author of the Declaration of Independence warned us years ago "that the price of Liberty is eternal Vigilance." It will not do for the patriotic portion of the American people to rest easy in the belief that the Union will endure forever, while its enemies are busily engaged in endeavoring to destroy it. It is in the power of its enemies to dissolve it, if its friends are not active, energetic and vigilant, when they perceive the enemy actively engaged at work. And certainly at no period in the history of our country did our political horizon look more dark and lowering than at the present time. The men who resist the execution of the fugitive slave law are pointed out as model philanthropists, the assisting of slaves to escape from their masters, is declared an act worthy of the highest commendation, and the murderer Brown is eulogized as a Martyr in the cause of humanity. Let the men who hold these doctrines triumph pext fall, and would not the Union be in danger of dissolution? Elevate to the Presidential Chair next fall a Black Republican holding and maintaining the doctrines of the Black Republican party, and would not the people of the Southern States have good reason to apprehend that the rights guarantied to them by the Constitution were about to be torn from them? The Union is a league of love and it can only be preserved by faithfull observing and carrying out all its com-

"The unity of government, which constitutes you one people, is also now dear to you. It is justly so; for it is a main pillar in the edifice of your real independence—the support of your tranquility at home, your peace ent causes and from different quarters, much pains will be taken, many artifices employed, ternal and external enemies will be most constantly and actively (though often covertly and insiduously) directed, -it is of infinite you should cherish a cordial, habitual, and immorable attachment to it; accustoming yourselves to think and speak of it as of the inglous anxiety; discountenancing whatever editorial article.

After perusing the above extract, certainly no American Patriot should be ashamed of being called a Union Saver, for the father of his Country was one. We think it is rather a matter of pride to stand on the Platform which he erected. The attempt is now being made to "weaken the links which bind together the various parts" of this Union, and certainly it is the duty of the Democracy as its friends, to indignantly frown on the attempt, and prevent the aiders and abetors of treason from laying profane hands on the ark of our rights as freemen.

It may be thought that we alluded to this subject too often, and that like the poet our "Harp has one unchanging theme." But it should not be forgotten, that this is the great political issue of the day, and that the approaching Presidential contest will be fought by the friends of the Union on one side, and its enemies on the other. The time for action has arrived, and it is right the democracy should know the kind of foes they will be called upon to battle with during the Campaign. They should be proud of being called Union Savers, and should not be afraid to style their foes DISUNIONISTS.

the season, the work of grading the Branch Rail Road still continues. Nearly three fourths of the Road is now graded, and the contractor is pushing the work forward with tion of his contract. The public spirit and liberality which the citizens of Ebensburg and vicinity displayed, in undertaking and carrying on this exterprize at and during a period when times were emphatically hard challenges admiration. The citizens of Ebensbnrg, Loretto, Carrolltown and Chest Spring Borough's, Cambria, Alleghany Clearfield, Carroll, Susquehanna. Munster and Blacklick townships, are deeply interested in the early completion of the Road, and those of the citithree fold degree by the enhancement of the value of their property in consequence of the construction of the Road.

Yesterday was St. Valentine's day the day on which according to an ancient tradition, the birds choose their mates. It is how ever understood that the feathered ladies and gentlemen merely meet on that day, and after a few remarks from that dignified and wise looking gentleman called the owl adjourn until the 1st of May regarding it as the

It is also the day on which sentimental lovers send "greeting" to each other in the shape of sentimental poems, which far surpasses the Strains of love-born sappho, or pictures of hearts pierced with one of cupid's arrows, all of which is of course very touching sentimental and refined. The romance is considerably "damaged" by the comic Valentines which are even more abundant than the sentimental, probably because they don't cost so much. The Valentine nuisance has been considerably abated of late years by the law which requires the prepayment of the Fire .- The small frame dwelling house in the East end of town, one door West of the old Toll House, was discovered to be on fire on last Saturday morning about half past eight o'clock. The alarm was promptly given and nearly all our citizens promptly repaired to the scene of action, bucket in hand, "Der Machine" known as the fire engine, was also on the ground in due time, but being unfortunately "frozen up" would'nt work. DIED .- At his residence in this place on the 12th inst., Mr. MICHARL C. M'CAGUE, in the 33d year of his age

The intelligence of the death of Mr. M'-Cauge, was received on last Sunday evening; with feelings of sincere sorrow by all the citzens of Ebensburg. He had resided so long in their midst; his life had been so blameless, upright and pure; be had been so hopest in all his dealings, so kind as a neighbor, so sin cere as a friend so unwilling to utter a harsh or unkind word under any circumstance, that many loved, that all respected him. "We have lost one of our best and worthiest citizens," was the spontaneous eulogium paid to his memory, by every tounge, when his death was first announced. The deceased commenced his carreer in this place as a Blacksmith, and wrought at it for many years. In 1853, shortly after the inauguration of Gen. Pierce as President, he was appointed Post Master for this place, which office he continued to hold up to the time of his death. As Post Master, he was prompt, attentive and obliging, and rendered perfect satisfaction both to the people and the government. He also at different times filled a number of important Borough offices, and always deservedly sustained the reputation of being a public spirited citizens. He was an active and influential member of the Order of the Son's of Temperance, and to him the order in this place, is principally indebted for its remarkable success and prosperity. His illness was brief. On Tuesday of last week state, that notwithstanding the inclemency of he distributed the mail at 1 o'clock P. M. and was then apparently in good health. On Sunday evening at half past 8 o'clock he was no more. A few hours before his death, a number of his intimate friends in compliance with his request, called on him and bade him farewell forever. The scepe is said to have been an affecting one. We also learn that his last moments did not belie his li fe; they were as calm and tranquil as the twilight of a long bright summer day. The Report of the State Superintendant of Common Schools for the year 1859, contains some excellent suggestions, among which may be found the following:

1. To allow County Superintendents in case of pressure of time arising from sickness or Steamship Glasgow, at Queenstown, and Ar- and worms be the result A few doses of these the bother to employ one or more assistants ago at Cowes. for a limited time.

2. To fix the salaries by law, according to were farnished by the steamship City of Balsome ratio, such as the number of square timore. miles, the number of taxables, or the number of schools. This would be just, though it would reduce the share of Cambria County to Vincent de Paul. about 400 dollars. In the State there are 600,000 taxables, while in Cambria County there are not 800. The amount paid by the State for that purpose being 38,000 dollars, would give Cambria 400 dollars, or thereabouts. This would at least reduce the number of applicants for the office.

3. To elect no man to the office but a tried practical teacher, "and not a disabled inert or unsuccessful member of the professions."

4. To grant the State Superintendent the power to remove subordinates, without being subject to a review by the courts. This however will not likely be done, as it would be an infringement upon the power and authority of the Judiciary.

5. To increase the State appropriation, especially this year, in order to relieve the Districts blighted by last spring's frost. This is a praise-worthy suggestion.

6. To allow a reasonable compensation to the State Superintendent for travelling and visiting the different Districts in the State. 7. The establishment of "Normal Schools" for the education of teachers, to be moddled after the "Lancaster Normal School" and aided with a small appropriation. There are many other important suggestions which we have not time to enumerate. Upon the whole, this is an able report, and reflects much credit upon its author, Hon. H C. Hickok, who, we are sorry to learn, intimates that he will not be a candidate for re-Yours,

On Wednesday last, whilst one of the servants was engaged in grinding a cutting knife, Dr. Coxton walked to where he was, and whilst looking on, without suspecting danger, another servant stepped behind him, gave him a violent blow upon the back of the head, which felled him to the ground, and then dispatched him. The two then dragged him behind the barn, and kindling a fire placed his body on it and burned it. They next cut the skirts of the saddle upon his riding horse and then turned the horse loose, expecting to create the impression that he had been attacked on the road and murdered. When the doctor was missing, his friends instituted a search for him, and in the pile of ashes near the barn discovered two or three of his fingers and a portion of one of his feet The murder has caused great excitement in the neighborhood in which it was committed .- Richmond Dis-

Napoleon's free trade programme is received very favorably in the French departments. The commercial treaty between France and England, it was expected, would be signed in a few days.

Changes in the French diplomatic corps are announced. M. Barrot will be changed from Madrid to Constantinople; the Duke de Grammont from Rome to Madrid; and Prince Latour Dauvergue will be sent to Rome. It is rumored that the Pope demands the recall of the French troops from Rome. The Parris correspondent of the London Post telegraphed that the current rumor that the Pope had demanded the evacuation of Rome by the French troops is absolutely false The Times' correspondent however, says that unless the French Government disavows the famous pamphlet-"Le Pope et le Congress," it will certainly be called on to withdraw its army. GREAT BRITAIN -The English news is not very important. It is said in the London Journals that the Ministerial reform measure is ready for Parliament and will be submitted to the House of Commons at the earliest opportunity. The Earl of Derby, at a banquit given by the Mayor of Liverpool, expressed the hope that the ensuing session would witness the adoption of a good measure of reform. He believed the conservative party would offer nactious opposition to it. James Smith, a sailor, on board the ship George West, who stabbed the mate of that vessel on the passage from New Orleans, has been delivered up under the extraordinary treaty to the American Consul at Liverpool.

Captain Williams, of the British bark Imogene, has been formally presented with a gold chronometer from President Buchanan. as a testimenial for his humanity to the crew of the wrecked ship Fleetwood, of Boston.

The Morning Chronicle says, the new com mercial treaty embraces, on the side of France the suppression of prohibitions and the reduction of the duties on coal and iron; on the part of England a reduction of the duties on wines, spirits, articles de Paris and silks.

FRANCE -With regard to Napoleon's free trade programme, he is represented to have said in reply to certain observations, "the manufacturers who exist solely because they are protected, have been aware of my intentions for five years, and have had plenty of Rail Road Company, and consaining about or time to prepare for the change. A solemn reconciliation is said to have taken place between Cardinal Autonelli and the prelates who have hitherto been opposed to him Attacks are reported to have been made upon the Swiss soldiers by the population of the Marches. A sharp contest took place between them at Macerata. Austria -It is rumored that the increased intimacy between Austria and Russia has in view the subjugation of Hungary. These governments are rapidly growing more intimate A despatch from Vienna declares that there is no truth in the reported desertion of the Hungarian soldiers from the Austrian garrisons of Venetia. The Bombay mail of December 27th has arrived at London. The Bombay journals say the rebel forces have been utterly annihilated. The London Star thinks it probable enraged a negro man, who vowed to have that the commercial treaty between France and England will be signed before the delivery of the Queen's speech.
