

CONFECTIONERY

From the Working Farmer.
Milling Corn, Potatoes and Cotton.
 Until within a few years Farmers of the North have killed their corn and potatoes, and believed it necessary; more recently they have found that roots may be induced from the operations of the corn stalk and the earth killed about it, but that this earth and the roots it contains, cannot contribute in sustaining the corn stalk, while it merely deducts from the growth of the top-root and other deep penetrating roots which can do best service to the sub-soil in the bringing of organic matter to give strength and health to the plant. That with flat cultivation corn-stalks will stand higher gales than when killed up. With the potatoe a different rationale but tending to the same result, has proved true.—The original tubor throws up stems, and instead of the potatoe being a tuborous rooted plant, (as most of our books in error call it,) it is a tuborous stem plant, for no potatoe ever grew upon a stem; and therefore the original seed, when it furnishes the first set of tubers, does all that nature intended if we earth up the stem, we cause a new exorbitant growth from the stem, of new tubors, and these take part of the pabulum, namely, the starch contained in the original tubor, all of which should be given to the forming of the first tubers. For this reason, we find potatoes when killed giving urripe results in part and potatoes of all sizes; whereas when cultivated flatly so as to form no new tubors, the crop is alike or nearly so in size, all those originally set perfect, and both in pounds and measure, the crop is greater and less liable to disease. Now all the truths that are to be found in this practice in the growing of corn is applicable in degree, as we apprehend, to the growth of cotton. We can see no reason why cotton should be grown on raised beds, unless it is to furnish a larger amount of surface for the suns influence. And if this be the true rationale, we should recommend such a treatment of the soil as would change the color, rather than the adoption of these raised beds.

Broken Wind or Heaves.
 "Heaves," the common name for broken wind in the horse, is susceptible of great alleviation by the attention to the character and quantity of food to be eaten by the animal, as every one knows. If a horse suffering from this disease is allowed to distend his stomach at his pleasure, with dry food entirely, and then to drink cold water ad libitum, he is nearly worthless. But if his food be moistened, and he be allowed to drink a moderate quantity only at a time, the disease is much less troublesome.

A still farther alleviation of the "heaves" may be obtained from the use of raw, fat, salt pork, from time to time. I do not say that heaves can be cured by the use of salt pork, but alleviated still more than by feeding wet food without the pork.

Commence with a piece of pork, say a cubic inch, chopped very fine and mixed with the wetted grain or cut feed, twice a day for two or three days. Then from day to day increase the quantity and cut less fine, until there is given with each feed, such a slice as usually by a farmer's wife is cut for frying, nearly as large as your hand, cut into fifteen or twenty pieces. Continue this for two weeks, and the horse is capable of any ordinary work without distress, and without showing the heaves. I have experience and observation for the past ten years as proof.—Country Gentleman.

Packing Apples in Leaves.
 A few years ago Mr. J. W. Boynton, of East Hartford, while gathering up the leaves under an apple tree, in the spring, observed beneath them a few fresh, unfrozen apples.—It suggested at once that dry leaves would answer well as packing material for fruit and the next fall and every season since he has used them for this purpose. We saw a few days ago some specimens thus preserved, seemingly as fresh and as piquant in flavor as when first gathered; yet he assured us they were varieties that would have decayed months ago if unprotected. His plan is to pick the apples carefully at the proper time, but not to pack them until the former leaves are perfectly dry and the weather quite cool. Then the apples and leaves are packed in alternate layers, and the last layer crowded in as loose as possible by placing any convenient weight on the cover of the barrel. The leaves are of such elasticity that the whole may be compressed so tightly as to prevent all shucking, &c., and yet not bruise the apples in the slightest degree. In this latitude Mr. Boynton has never found it necessary to keep these barrels of fruit in any place warmer than an open shed. It would be advisable, of course everywhere to keep them in as cool a place as possible. In the spring they are to be removed to a cool, airy cellar, or to an apartment especially for fruit, in connection with the ice-house.—Homestead.

Keeping Horses Feet and Legs in Order.
 "If I were asked to account for my horses' legs and feet being in better order than those of my neighbors I should attribute it to the four following circumstances: First that they are all shod with new nails, so placed in the shoe as to permit the foot to expand every time they move; second, that they all live in boxes instead of stalls, and can move whenever they please; third, that they have two hours daily walking exercise when they are not at work; fourth, that I have not a head-stall or rack-chain in my stall. This is the mystery."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Above we present you with a likeness of DR. MORSE—the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. This philanthropist has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depended upon this vital fluid. When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted, and discolored, thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be thrown out. How important then, one of the roots, which is a Cathartic, made as a Sudorific, which opens the pores of the skin, and assists Nature in throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an Expectoant, that opens and unblocks the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty in throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives double ease and strength to the kidneys; thus encouraged, they draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out bountifully by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, which cleanses the other parts of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood; the coarser particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up and conveyed off in great quantities by the bowels.

From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find way to every part, and completely rout out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and clean.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which will pass to the affected parts, and which will open the natural passage for the disease to be cast out; hence, a large quantity of food and other matter are taken into the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing with the corrupted mass; thus undergoing a disagreeable fermentation, constantly mixing with the blood, which throws the corrupted matter through every vein and artery, until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have acted with wonderful power upon the sick, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Yes, thousands who have been racked or tormented with sickness, pain and anguish, and whose feeble frames have been scorched by the burning elements of raging fever, and who have been brought, as it were, within a step of the grave, are now standing ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead, had it not been for this great and wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished, and absolutely surprised, in witnessing their clearing effects. Not only do they give relief in ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood.—Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these Pills, that they will cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and will give the youth and beauty which again returns, and the prospect of a long and happy life will cheer and brighten your days.

Sold by Thomas Devine, Ebensburg, and by Medicine Dealers generally throughout the country; B. Lake Johnson, successor to A. J. White & Co., No. 59 Leonard st., N. Y., Proprietors; William Mulge & Co., (Proprietors of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment,) Earlville, Madison county, N. Y., General Agents.
