> HENRY D. FOSTER, OF WESTMORELAND COUNTY

FOR GOVRENOR,

HENRY CLAY.

Last Thursday was the birth-day of the illustrious Patriot and Statesman, Henry Clay. We are pleased to learn that the day was celebrated in an appropriate manner by the erection of three Statues of the "great Tribune;" one in Richmond, Virginia, one in his own loved Kentucky, and one in New Orleans. In Richmond an immense crowd attended the inauguration of the Statue, and an eloquent and impressive address was delivered by ex-Governor Barbour.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist in the minds of the American people with regard to the wisdom of certain measures advocated by Mr. Clay during his career as a public man, we think all are now willing to concede that he was a great and patriotic Statesman, and that he loved his country with all the fervor of a Washington or a Jefferson. That he was wrong in his advocacy of a National Bank and many other measures, we do not entertain a doubt But he did not think so. He believed that he was advocating measures calculated to preserve the liberty and promote the happiness and prosperity of his country. If he erred it was his judgment and not his heart that was to blame. Devo tion to the Union of the States, is after all the true test of American patriotism. The man who thinks or speaks lightly of that Union, may be an elequent orator, a profound and logical reasoner, but he is not a patriot. Mr. Clay was its fast and devoted friend during the long period he was a member of the Federal Senate and House of Representatives, and his love for it censed only with his life. In 1820 he may be truly said to have saved it from dissolution, by procuring the passage of the famous measure known as the Missouri Compromise. During the "Nullification" difficulties in South Carolina, although politically hostile to the administration of General Jackson, he with the illustrious Webster cheerfully leant the hero of New Orleans a helping hand in his efforts to put down the rebellion, and restore confidence and tranquility to the country. In 1850 when the Union was once more "beleagured and in danger," he voluntarily came forth from the home to which he had retired years before, with the intention of spending there the remainder of his days in peace and tranquility, and occupied a this he was successful. The compromise ted. Mrs. Eberstaller who is said to be a name. Governor Barbour in his address at Richmond very truly remarked that Mr. Clay committed the great error of his public life. when he accepted office under the administration of Mr. Adams. He thereby strengthened and gave character to charge that he had entered into a dishonorable arrangement to defeat Gen. Jackson and elect Mr. Adams. We presume no one at the present day believes that the charge was true. But the fact of his accepting the post of Secretary of State under Mr. Adams caused many even of his friends to believe it, and his popularity with the people received a blow from which it never fully recovered. The worst treatment he ever received at the bands of the Whig party was in 1840, when they refused to accept him as their standard bearer in the is being carried on with great spirit by both contest for the Presidency. bility the whig party would still be a powerful political organization. It is gratifying to know that his most devoted disciples are now members of the democratic party. They have not forgotten his patriotic teachings and how bitterly hostile he was to sectional doctrines and sectional parties. Like him they despise the treasonable doctrines of Abolitionism, and have accordingly become members of the only party in the nation which has adopted for its motto, "The Union in any event."

The Charleston Convention.

The Democratic National Convention wil meet in Charleston, South Carolina, on next Monday. The Democracy in every section of the Republic will await its action with feelings of intense anxiety. We entertain no fears that its members will prove themselves unworthy of the confidence reposlating Newspapers in the United States and ed in them by the American Democracy .-We confidently predict that their nominee for President will be everyway worthy of the sup port of every National man in the country, and that their platform will be broad enough to contain all who are in favor of Democratic principles, and narrow enough to exclude all who are opposed to them. The delegation from this State is composed of the ablest and best Sons Pennsylvania can boast of, and will we are confident act in the Convention in a manner that will entitle them to the thanks of their constituents.

> Hon. Stephen A. Douglas will certainly receive a large vote on the first second and third ballots, but we do not think he will be nominated It will be a difficult matter for him to secure the support of two thirds of the members of the Convention. It is far from improbable that Hon. R. M. Hunter of Va. will be the nominee. He is an able and conservative Statesman, and would make a strong candidate. Breckenridge and Guthrie will also have many and ardent friends in the Convention who will be slow to abandon them, The California delegation will support Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson of New York, who is decidedly the strongest man with the exception of Pierce, in the Northern States at the pres-

He states in his paper last week that he and the other distinguished members of the Huntingdon County Bar are not the least intimidated by the "proceedings," but are determined to come here and practice their profession whenever they see proper to do so. We are glad to hear this, and we assure them they will always be as welcome as flowers in May. We would respectfully suggest to R. Milton, the propriety of his paying us a visit during our next court. He will find an abundance of small beer here, of which he in common with all other eminent lawyers is doubtless very fond. M. D. Magchan, Esq., will move his admission to the Bar of this County, and deliver a few remarks appropriate to the touching and solemn occasion; after which he will be invited by the Bar to partake of a sumptuous banquet consisting of small beer and gingerbread. After the banquet is over, the Editor of the Mountaineer will, if he is good looking, (which is highly improbable-great men seldom are,) take him around and introduce him to the ladies We will furthermore covenant and agree, for and on behalf of the District Attorney, to allow him during the week to deliver a speech in an assault and battery case, which will of course enable him to take his light from under a bushel, and let it shine before men. So friend Milton don't forget to "call around."

Be Dr. Eberstaller of Carroltown, and another professor of the "healing art" of the same place, were lodged in Jail on last Saturday evening. It seems that the two physicians on the morning of that day, having nothing else to do, turned their attention to tanglefoot, and soon succeeded in getting gloriously tight. It then occurred to Eberseat once more in the U. S. Senate. His sole staller that his wife stood sadly in need of a and only object in appearing once more in flogging, and invited his "brother" to assist rolltown. The contest for Mayor in Philadelphia.

The great fight between Sayers the Eeglish bully, and Heenan the Benecia boy, came off, or was to come off in England on last Saturday. This disgraceful affair has created remarkable excitement on both sides of the Atlantic, and is the principal topic of conversation even with those who would feel insulted if classed with bruisers buffers and "sich like cattle." We hear it daily proclaimed that this is an age of religion, light, refinement, and knowledge, and yet we see a couple of fighting blackguards absorbing publie attention in England and the United States, and eclipsing the fame of the poets, heroes and Statesmen of those countries. Hurra for this ever glorious nineteenth century.

The State Journal still continues its assaults on the private character of General Foster. The Editor of that paper should remember that in so doing he is giving the lie, to the published declarations of Mr. Curtin in his Philadelphia speech. Mr. Curtin said in substance, that Gen. Foster was a high minded and honorable man, and that nothing could be urged against his reputation as a public or private citizen. Which are we to believe; Mr Curtin or the Journal. The malicious falsehoods which the Journal is endeavoring to give currency to, will, if we are not much mistaken, return to plague the inventors. Surely Mr. Curtin is not vile enough to secretly encourage these attacks on the private character of Gen. Foster!

LT The Hollidaysburg Standard says. that Ebensburg contains three of the spiciest newspapers and three of the handsomest editors this side of sun down and the jumping off place. Wouldn't our friend Traugh like to run for Congress next fall? If so we'll insure him 1000 of a majority in little Cambria.

The store of Jacob Stahl on High Street, Ebensburg, is decidedly the best place in Western Pennsylvania, out side of Pittsburg to purchase Jewelry, Clocks, Watches, &c., He sells none but the best of articles, and at the lowest possible price for eash. IT We have recently perused a highly interesting and rare work by that prodigy of learning Johannis Lantirnus. It is entitled "A Treaties on Apparitions." The following extract will give the readers of the "Democrat and Sentinel" an idea of the style of the work, and also may possibly be perused with profit by those who believe that spiritual rappings are not absolute humbugs, and that the spirits of the departed are in the habit of re visiting the glimpses of the moon

"It is much to the Discredit of Ghosts,that they doe so commonly revisit the Earth on such trivial Errands as would hardly justify a Journey from London to York, much less from one World to another. Grave and weighty ought to be the Matter that can awaken a Spirit from the deep Slumbers of the Tomb; solemn and potent must be the Spell, to induce the liberated Soul, divorced to suspend the departure with such mortal Agony from its human Clothing, to put on merely such flimsy Atoms, as may render it visible to the Eye of Flesh. For neither willingly por wantonly doth the Spirit of Man forsake its subterrane Dwelling as may be seen in the awful Question by the Ghost of Samuel to the Witch of Endor-"Wherefore hast Thou disquieted Me, and called Me up?" And yet, forsooth, a alking Phantom shall break the Bonds of Death, and perchance the Bonds of Hell to boot, to go on a Message, which concerns but an Individual, and not a great one either, or at most a Family, nor yet one of Note,-for Example, to disclose the lurking Place of a lost Will, or of a Pot of Money in Dame Perkins her back Yard, -Whereas such a Supernatural Intelligencer hath seldom been youchsafed to reveal a State Plot-to prevent a Royal Murther, or avert the Shipwrack of an whole Empire. Wherefore, I conclude, that many or most Ghost Stories have had their rise in the Self-Conceit of vain ignorant People, or the Arrogance of great Families, who take the Pride in the Belief, that their mundane Affairs are of so important a Pitch; as to perturb departed Souls, even amidst the Pains of Hell or the Pleasures of Paradise "

> TERRIBLE ACCIDENT .- Six Persons Killed -One of the most terrible accidents which we have been called upon to record for a long time, occurred on Thursday morning last, at the Coal Works of Hays & Co., near Irwin's Station, on the Pennsylvania Rail Road. It appears that six men entered the shaft for the purpose of going to work, and were being let down in the usual way, when the rope attached to the windlass, through which they were being lowered, broke, percipitating them a distance of some one hundred and twenty feet, to the platform below. The result i easily imagined. The entire party were killed, and their remains terribly mangled. They were all miners, and all worked in the pit. Three of them were married, and men of families. The casualty, was a most frightful one, and produced a deep sensation in the neighborhood where it transpired.
