From different sources we gather the experience of farmers with re lerence to the amount of seed which is profitable to use in planting potatoes Our readers should mark this artiels, and refer to it at planting time.

Johnson says: "For the main crops it is evident from experiment, that moderate sized whole potatoes are the best, from which all but two eyes have been removed; but especially having the crown, which is congery of small eyes, first removed; for from these proceed little spindle stalks, which are compar atively worthless, and injure the main stem .

"For the early crops, almost the very contrary to the above is the most advantageous to be practiced. The set should have the crown eye, which is the one growing in the centre of congery of small enes above mentioned, preserved. Some potatoes have two such eyes, but the generality only one. This is always the most prompt to vegetable, and if not known by this discription, may be evin ced by placing two or three potatoes in a pan of moist earth near the fire. If the earth is kept moist, the crown eye will be in a state of vegetation in five or six days.

"To obtain early crops when tubers are rapidly formed, large sets must be employed. In these, one or two eyes at most should be allowed to remain. If the sets are placed with their leading buds upwards, few and very strong early stems will be produced; but if the position is reversed, many weak and later shoots will arise, and not only the earliness, but the quality of the produce be depreciated " Another writer urges, that farmers do not waste seed by planting more than one or two eyes in a hill-unless it is desired to spoil the crop. He succeeds four-fold better than upon the whole potatoe plan. Would advise three or four eyes in a hill if planted two by three feet apart; if in drills, six inches apart in row, one or two eyes-five sixths of the seed is saved, and the proportion of large to small potatoes is increased three fold over the

A correspondent of the February number of the Valley Farmer gives the product of three potatoes to be ten bushels. From the large potatoe he says he raised five bushels, planted one eye in each hill. From the two smaller potatoes he grew the other five bushels, planting two eyes in each hill.

A recent writer in the New England Farmer says, where some hills of corn were miseing, he planted sprouts or vines picked from the potatoes in the cellar. They were picked off with the fingers as close to the potatoe as possible, being six or eight inches long, set out, and grew, and produced equally as well, as the same varieties did on the same ground a year previous. The varieties were the "Coburg" and "Sand Lake" potatoes. He believes the sprouts may be used and save the potatoe, obtaining an equal crop, and saving

A writer in the Farmer and Gardner says his experience favors the use of "splits" (as the Irish call the potatoe cuttings,] with only one eye, or with at most two eyes. He rejects small potatoes for this purpose, selecting tubers of medium size with long vigorous shoots. Plant the tubers at least twelve inches apart in the row, observing care to insert them so that they shall spring up even-

Horse Radish.

Growing horse-radish is generally consider ed a matter of very little consequence, in regard to the manner of cultivation; and the result is' in most cases, small roots which are inferior in flavor are raised:

It is very easy to grow this plant with roots as large as a man's wrist. Select a rich warm warm piece of ground, fully exposed to the rays of the sun, and early in the season dig it deep; mark it off for rows three feet apart, and haul the cath out of the rows, so as to receive a heavy manurcing; then cover the manure with the dirt taken from the rows, and set the roots about eight inches apart, and keep them free of weeds, as you would every other crop, and the result will be a growth of horse-radish that is worth growing.

Plant Peas Deep.

The theory recently advocated of planting peas very deeply in the earth, in order to pro long the bearing capacity of the vines, has al so been well tested in Williamstown, and found to be correct. A farmer told me that he ploughed a furrow beam deep; then seattared the seed peas at the bottom; after which he turned a deep furrow upon them with his plough, covering them if possible, to the depth of twelve or fourteen inches. They pushed their way up through the thick mass of earth very soon, and instead of turning yellow at the bottom and dying after the first gathering, they blossomed and bore until he was tired picking the pods. If such a result will Call and see. aniformly be realized from the plan, pea culture may be made more profitable than here-

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and For this purpose, Dr Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nau-sea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal. Diarrhoea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infalible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

FEVER AND AGUE .- This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mether while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourshment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomack Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION .- We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bettle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

Above we present you with a likeness of DR. MORSE-the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. This philanthropist has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America-has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered, Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IM-PURITY OF THE BLOOD-that our strength, health and life depended upon this vital finid

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted, and diseased thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in your reach, namely, Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs in Nature's Garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these Pills are made is a Sudorific, which opens throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an Expectorant, that opens and unclogs the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty in throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives double ease and strength to the kidneys; thus encouraged, they draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out bountifully by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, and accompanies the other properties of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood; the coarser particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up and conveyed off in great quantities by the

From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find way to every part, and completely rout out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and

Dr. Morse's PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood .-Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these Pills, that they will cleanse and take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty will again return, and the prospect of a long and
