

AGRICULTURE

From the Country Gentleman.

SHOEP.
Among the most profitable stock kept about the farm is the sheep. No farmer should be without them. They may almost be regarded as indispensable to the good farmer. They rid the farm of briars, most kind of weeds and keep down the young growth of brush, &c. In addition, they enrich the ground wherever their feet touch it. The fleece is taken at a time of year when the farmer has but little, generally, to turn off, and it brings the cash readily and their carcasses for the table never comes amiss. Sheep will get their own living a month later in the fall and a month earlier in the spring than other stock. We give the South Down the preference over the Spanish Merino, as being the most hardy, and best carcasses, although not of quite so fine a fiber wool as the Spanish. The deep, broad chests of the South Down show them tenacious of life, and a further consideration of some importance is that the ewes are deeper milkers and better nurses than the others. While the South Down very seldom, if ever, disowns its lamb, the Spanish frequently do. The South Down are a beautiful symmetrically formed sheep, in condition for the shambles, the year round on ordinary feed, except ewes with suckling lambs. No farmer can afford to do without sheep.

Inquiries and Answers.

Saltpeter as Manure.—Can saltpeter be obtained in its crude state? The price per pound, and the best method of using it as a fertilizer? Any information to the above inquiries will be gratefully received by E. P. Walker. [We do not know where crude nitre may be purchased, nor the price. The impure article as it comes from India, is said to contain about 70 per cent. of nitre, and this crude substance doubtless can be procured at the large manufactories where it is purified. As a manure, applied at the rate of about 100 lbs. per acre as a top dressing early in the spring, or harrowed in, it has occasionally given very satisfactory results—but like all special manures, is sometimes highly useful and at others of no value. Warm and light sandy soils are said to have been most benefited.]

Estimating Hay in Bulk.

What number of tons of hay will the bay or now, as we call it, hold, when well settled, dimensions at follows—17 by 32 feet, 16 feet posts, and 14 pitch to the roof? The rule given by different writers, to estimate hay in tons by the bulk, varies greatly. We have seen in an agricultural paper claiming reliability, the statement that 700 to 750 cubic feet are required for a ton of common hay, which is obviously beyond all bounds. The bulk varies with the kind of grass, time of cutting, degree of curing, and depth of bay; nevertheless we think the following rule a fair average: For clover hay packed solid, about 225 to 350 cubic feet, good timothy about 275 cubic feet, but under a very heavy pressure, one-fourth less.—This rule should vary considerably with circumstances. The bay mentioned by our correspondent would contain over ten thousand cubic feet, and would therefore hold from thirty to forty tons, well packed away and carefully stuffed full.

Posts Should Be Inverted.

William Howe, of Allegheny county, relates, in the Genesee Farmer, and experiment made to test the comparative durability of posts set as they grow, or top end down. He says:—“Sixteen years ago, I set six pairs of bar posts all split out of the butt end of the same white oak log. One pair I set butts down, another pair one butt down, the other top down. Four years ago, those set butt down were all rotted off, and had to be replaced by new ones. This summer I had occasion to re-set those that were set top down. I found them all sound enough to re-set.—My experiments have convinced me that the best way is to set them tops down.”

How Much Hay will Keep a Horse,

A correspondent of the Wisconsin Farmer, states that he has found by twenty years' experience, that 15 pounds of hay and 12 qts. of oat meal per day, will keep a good sized horse of 1,150 pounds weight, in fine condition for farm or road work, and that, by using a cutting box, one third of the hay can be saved, and replaced by an equal weight of good straw or corn stalks. The usual estimate among farmers, is, that a horse will generally consume, 2,000 pounds per quarter, or 13 weeks, or 22 pound per day. This shows how much can be saved by a judicious method of feeding, as a horse will eat considerably more than is necessary for his well being.

Hogs and Horses.—

It is injurious to horses to have hogs kept underneath their stable to work over their manure? J. N. [Horses, to be healthy, must have pure, fresh air—and if the fumes of manure are allowed to come up from below and load the air, and taint the food, the result cannot be beneficial. A perfectly tight floor will exclude the vapor.]
Men with a strong appetite for land, generally take it by the acre and willingly swallow it by the thousand acres. They satisfy their appetite, at last, on six feet.

Live in hopes, Spring will come in the Summer.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; and with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of life at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters are unequalled.
Diarrhea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangement of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations who try these Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthening of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only to be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing her child, is indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words “Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters” blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

Above we present you with a likeness of DR. MORSE—the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. This philanthropist has spent the greater part of his life in traveling; having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depended upon this vital fluid. When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupt and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and our right of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in our reach, namely, Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs of the State of Maine, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these Pills are made is a Sudorific, which opens the pores of the skin, and assists Nature in throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an Expectant, that opens and unclogs the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty in throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives double ease and strength to the kidneys; thus encouraged, they draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, and thus, in a soothing manner, perform their duty in throwing out the impurities of the blood; the coarser particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up, and conveyed off in great quantities by the bowels. From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find a way to every part, and completely root out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and clear.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which passes to the afflicted parts, and which will open the natural passage for the disease to be cast out; hence, a large quantity of food and other matter is lodged, and the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing with the corrupted mass; thus undergoing a disagreeable fermentation, constantly mixing with the blood, which throws the corrupted matter through every vein and artery, until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. MORSE'S PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Yes, thousands who have been racked or tormented with sickness, pain and anguish, and whose feeble frames have been scorched by the burning elements of raging fever, and who have been brought, as it were, within a step of the silent grave, now stand ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead, had it not been for the use of the wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished, and absolutely surprised, in witnessing their charming effects. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work on the lungs, and drive the disease into the blood. Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these Pills, that they will cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty will again return, and the prospect of a long and useful life will be before you.
