Coal Ashes as a Manure. Without any pretensions to a practical knowledge of the subject we are tempted to give our experience in a small way.

In November we cleared out the cellar, ashes made the previous season from seven tons of anthracite coal, mixed with the ashes of one-half cord yellow pine wood used in burning; to this was added equal parts of horse-manure and loam, well mixed together.

A part of this was used at the time upon a piece of grass ground more than twenty years in the sward, put on about two inches thick as top dressing, which has this year produced two crops of fine grass, in place of white weed and other nuisances, and the ground has shown no signs of being affected by the dry either.

Results.—While in former years the early potatoes planted from the same kind of seed have invariably rotted before the time for digging, this year there has been the most productive crop of the largest and best quality. The sweet corn averages nine feet in the stock, the leaves of a clear green and the ear perfectly filled and so with all the other vegetables in the garden.

Buying Blooming Plants.—Please except from me this word of good advice about buying plants while in bloom.

Many, many people are tempted by the display of beautiful flowers, seen at this season in our market places, to buy the plants for cultivation, in the expectation of being able to reproduce the same sort of flowers in their gardens or parlor windows.

SOLON ROBINSON.

Liquid Manure for the Garden.—Every man who has a sick spot has a foundation of wealth at his back door. You laugh at the idea, for you have never tried it.

If you have nothing better sink a hog-head a foot or two in your garden, in the most convenient place and run a leader from your sink spout into it.

To preserve Strawberries.—To two pounds of fine large strawberries add two pounds of powdered sugar, and put them in a preserving kettle, over a slow fire, till the sugar is melted; then boil them precisely twenty minutes, as fast as possible; have ready a number of small jars, and put the fruit in boiling hot.

Strawberries and green peas have made their appearance in Philadelphia.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able to regulate the system as to secure permanent health.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid action of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters are unequalled.

Diarrhoea, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of the Bitters.

FEVER AND AGUE.—This trying and prostrating disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetter's Cathartic Bitters, and ask for Hostetter's Bitters, and the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted, and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; one strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humor, the blood will become choked and cease to act.
