

A NOBLE YOUTH.

The following anecdote was related to a gentleman during a night he spent in a farm house in Virginia, some years ago.

In December, 17-- toward the close of a dreary day, a woman, with an infant worn discovered half buried in the snow by a little Virginian seven years old. The promising lad was returning from school, and bearing the moans of some one in distress, threw down his satchel of books, and repaired to the spot where the sound proceeded, with a firmness becoming one of riper years. Baking the snow from the hunched body of the mother, and using means to awaken her to a sense of her deplorable condition, the noble youth succeeded in getting her upon her feet; the infant resting upon its mother's breast, turned its eyes towards its youthful preserver, and smiled, as it seemed, in gratitude for its preservation. With a countenance filled with hope, the gallant youth cheered the sufferer on himself, bearing with his tiny arms the infant child, while the mother leaned for support on the shoulder of her little conductor. 'My home is hard by, would he exclaim as off her spirits failed. And thus for three miles did he cheer onward to a happy haven the mother and child, both of whom otherwise must have perished, had it not been for the humane feeling and perseverance of this noble youth.

A warm fire and kind attention soon relieved the sufferer, who it appeared, was in search of her husband, an emigrant from New Hampshire, a recent purchaser of a farm in the neighborhood of -- near this place. Diligent inquiry for some days found him, and in five months after, the identical house in which we are now sitting was erected and received the happy family. The child grew up to manhood-- entered the army--lost a limb at New Orleans, but returned to end his days, a solace to the declining years of his aged parents.

'Where are they now?' I asked the narrator. 'Here' exclaimed the son. I am the rescued one; there is my mother; and here, imprinted on my naked arm, is the name of the noble youth--our preserver!' I looked and read 'Winfield Scott,' now Lieutenant General of the United States Army.

'THE NOTICE OF A CHRISTIAN.--Our ancient brother, Asa G. Dimmock, Esq., of the Cochoctone Democrat, probes the Disunionists after the following fashion.

'Every day we hear the abolition traitors charging demerits with being secessionists. A lie more false and infamous was never uttered; and if the lightning of heaven do not blister the mouths of abolitionists when they utter such lies, the fangs of demerits should break their jaws! This is no time for mincing matters--the Purse and the Sword are in the hands of the enemies of our liberty: the Abolitionists--demerits; they are the only secessionists in the North, and should never be permitted to justify their damnable usurpation by charging demerits with disloyalty! From Maine to Mason & Dixon's line, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there can be found no record of any Democrat being in favor of dissolving the Union and none in favor of secession or separation! But how is it with the abolition republicans? Every paper of that party in the North has been in favor of dissolving this Union, and a few more slaves is abolished by our arms.'

RETURNED FROM RICHMOND.--Mr. Julius Ding, a German who accompanied Senator Foster, of Connecticut, and other civilians, on the field of battle, and was made prisoner, returned to Washington on Friday afternoon. He says that having been forwarded to Richmond with other prisoners, he was released on the intercession of the British consul being a British subject. The consul furnished him with dispatches to Lord Lyons, which he found more effective in saving him from mob violence in the different villages through which he passed back to Washington, (via Fredericksburg and across the Potomac and through Maryland,) than the pass from Virginia military authorities he also bore. He reports that the Hon. Alfred Ely, of New York, and Col. Corcoran, of the New York Sixty-ninth, are both prisoners in Richmond, and, though confined, are not kept in the jail or common military prison, but in comfortable quarters. Col. Corcoran, if wounded, which he thinks is not true so slightly as not to be seriously inconvenienced by it. His impression, however, is that Col. G. had been sick, not wounded.--Post.

The Charleston Mercury, of the 3d, says it has been provoked beyond endurance by reading in certain Virginia papers most contemptible and gratuitous comments on the charming clarity and benevolence of certain citizens and officials in Virginia, towards the invaders of their soil and plunderers of their estates, and plunders of their houses and firesides, and plunders of their women. It demands that every prisoner be incarcerated and put in irons, Justice, humanity, and civilization, cry for the extension of retribution.

Richmond--Congress has been discussing a financial scheme, the probable result of which will be to advance the treasury notes on subscribed cotton, and when the market opens the cotton will be sold at existing prices for the benefit of planters.

St. Louis, August 8--Gen. Pope's military district has been extended so as to embrace two tiers of counties south of the Missouri river, including St. Louis where he has established his headquarters.

D. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS & IRON.

An aperient and stomachic preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctified by the highest Medical Authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it; it cures pale and otherwise sickly complexions, and restores its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Intoxication in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz: In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Anemia, Dysentery, Injunctive Consumption, Scrophulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Atrophy, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Adrenaloid Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c. In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic causes, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. It is a long held opinion as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world, as if just returned from a protracted tour in a distant land. From very general instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emancipated victims of apparent mania, sanguineous salivation, critical stagings, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name. In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to Medical men, the operation of this preparation of Iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the cold pills, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating, and gently, regularly, even in the most obstinate cases of constipation without ever being a gastric purgative or producing a disagreeable sensation. In this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably safe and permanent a remedy for Rheum, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by the persing the local badness which forms them. In Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and all its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often effected the most habitual cases, including the attendant constipation. In unchecked Diarrhoea, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed anaemia and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing. In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debility, and the general debility, which generally indicates impeded Consumption, the remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances. In Scrophulous Tuberculosis, this medicine has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparation of Iron, without any of their well known ill-effects. The attraction of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them. In Rheumatism, both Chronic and inflammatory--in the latter, however, more decidedly--it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles. In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West will probably be one of high renown and usefulness. No remedy has ever been discovered in which its story of maladies, which render one prompt, happy and a moderate degree of Good appetite, complete cessation of rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exertion, commensurate to allow its use. Put up in neat half ounce boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box, in gold and silver cases. Will be sent by mail on receipt of the price, all orders to be sent, should be addressed to R. B. LOCKE & Co., General Agents, 20 Cedar St., N. Y. May 29, 1861--ly.
