Let us be Thankful.

A great light has been vouchsafed to a people who sat in darkness. A. A. Barker, the great Apostle of political Abolitionism, all the way from the State of Maine, has become the editor of the world renowned thunderer, the Ebensburg Alleghenian. He last week ascended the tripod of that paper, and in a lengthy address, made his best bow to the public, with all the rude familiarity of an impudent clown, and the uncouth manners of a dancing bear. After doing this he proceeded to demolish the Dem. & Sentinel, and its editor—start not, gentle reader—not by means of an infuriated mob, but with the apparently harmless goose quill of his deputy scribbler. Under the circumstances it will be gratifying to our friends to learn that we still live and that the Dem. & Sentinel is still a "permanent" institution. As we have never, according to the best of our recollection, said or written anything harsh concerning Mr. Barker, we cannot imagine what could be his motive for signifying the commencement of his editorial career by a grossly personal attack on us. It is expected by all, that an editor, on entering the editorial fraternity, should in his first issue at least, treat his brethren of the press with common courtesy and respect. But Mr. Barker is too great a man to pay any regard to this rule. He accordingly last week proceeded to inform the public, that we are a "drawing self conceited editor, a whilom apostle of Secession, and apologist of rebellion." Now is not this as grossly personal and insulting, as any vander-of fish market-slant in the land could make it. Mr. Barker through his deputy possessed the undoubted right to comment on our course as a partisan editor, but this he could have done in courteous language. We might retort by being as personal as he has been—but that is a piece of work which we scorn; although perhaps, even his friends would thank us for jerking the monkey down before he has climbed the pole so high, as to expose himself to mankind, and render himself the laughing stock of the community. But that is a task which we leave to others; merely remarking that it is hardly fair to hold him responsible for the editorial articles in the last Alleghenian. He is just as well qualified for writing them, weak and puerile as they are, as we are to translate the Psalms of David, from the original Hebrew into the English language. He is one of the most illiterate and ignorant men in the County. This every citizen of the county knows, who has heard him deliver one of his famous political stump speeches, always more remarkable for drawing bit fierce assaults on the King's English, than patriotism and common sense. A friend informs us that a few months after the aforesaid Barker became a resident of this region of the county, he directed a letter to Carrolltown as follows: "Carrolltown Kaunbury County." After this, who will believe that he is capable of writing an editorial article? But as he doubtless dictates what to write to his deputies, he is after all, the responsible party. We will therefore, consider him as such, and if he is now at leisure, we'll have a little friendly talk with him.

heart tell you that they are false, and are you not conscious that in making them you are guilty of violating the commandment of God, which declares "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." When or on what occasion did we of the paper which we edit, defend the secession doctrine and movement, or Jeff. Davis and his rebellion? You surely did not wantonly make these infamous charges without proofs to sustain them? Then sir, produce them. If you fail to do so, the public will naturally suspect that you are the wanton and malicious maligner of the character of your neighbor. Mr. Barker, has not this paper always condemned the secession doctrine as a political heresy? Has it not since the commencement of this insurrection sustained the constitutional efforts of President Lincoln to put it down by force of arms? Did it not praise and commend our gallant young men for volunteering as soldiers to save the Union from dissolution? Did it not exhort the Democracy to be as true and steadfast to the Union and Constitution in this contest as they had ever been in days gone? Have we not recently defended President Lincoln in the Fremont controversy, while nearly every Republican paper in the land was abusing and maligning him for his letter? These things the files of the "Democrat and Sentinel" will prove. As for you, Mr. Barker, who made you a judge and juror, who gave you the right to sit in judgment on the character of your neighbor? When did you become the embodiment of pure and immaculate patriotism? Are you not, or have you not been until recently an Abolitionist of the deepest dye? Are you not a disciple of Horace Greeley, and do you not regard the New York Tribune as your political Bible? Is not the Chicago platform in a political point of consideration "all the world to you?" Were you not last winter opposed to the "Crittenden compromise?" Have you not repeatedly asserted since you became a resident of this County, that the fugitive slave law is unconstitutional and therefore a nullity, and that it is therefore no crime to resist its execution? Do you not, or at least did you not, regard old John Brown, as a martyr in the cause of humanity? These are questions which you can answer at your leisure. We know from having listened to your stump speeches and heard your private conversations, that you are in heart and soul an Abolitionist of the straightest sort. You wish to see the war carried on for the extermination of slavery; see for the preservation of the Union. We have stood by the President in the Fremont controversy. You or at least the prominent organs of your party, have opposed him in this matter. If sustaining the President be the test of loyalty then we are more loyal than two thirds of the Republican editors in the land. We wish him to carry on this war actively and energetically, and to use all the forces of the Government to restore tranquility to the country. We are for the Union in any event, but never, never, in order to establish a reputation for patriotism and loyalty will we consent to become fanatical Abolitionists, or like A. A. Barker, the advocate of negro equality. Never like him will we consent to regard a nigger as good, if not a great deal better than an Irishman or a Dutchman.

In keeping it in his "breaches pockets" and treating it with contempt, he acted the part of a very sensible man. He knew that every man on the Democratic ticket was a Union man, and that a better Union ticket could not be nominated. He therefore in common with the Democracy, determined to stand by it, to the bitter end. Mr. Barker accuses us with having made a personal assault on Daniel J. Morrell, James M. Swank and M. S. Harr. This is untrue. We have never alluded to them, save as politicians. There is no man in the County for whom, aside from politics, we entertain a higher regard, than Col. Swank. But as a politician, he is a horse of another color.—We last week spoke of Mr. Morrell as a useful and energetic citizen, but as a politician very small potatoes. Mr. Harr is our neighbor and we know him to be a very good man, who although not a scholar, would have been a revolutionary soldier had he been born a hundred years sooner. They are all our friends, and we respect them as such. And now Mr. Barker farewell for the present, at least. We are both editors. Why then should we not be brethren, dwelling together in unity. Let there therefore, henceforth, we pray thee be no strife between us. We neither shun or court a controversy with you. We wish to treat you and your deputies with the respect which is due to fellow members of the editorial fraternity. However if you continue flourishing your rusty old blade about our ears, we will have to regard it as a declaration of war, and feel in duty bound to exclaim "Lay on Macduff And damned be he who first cries, hold enough!" To the Polls! As the election takes place on next Tuesday, this is the last opportunity we will have of saying a word to our readers on the subject. The contest is decidedly the most important that has occurred in our County for years. It is essentially necessary in order to secure the future ascendancy of Democratic principles in little Cambria, that we should achieve a complete victory over our opponents on next Tuesday. This we can accomplish without any difficulty, if every man will do his duty—his whole duty on that day. Go to the Polls early, see that Tickets are carefully folded and properly distributed—vote early, and then turn your attention to seeing, that every Democratic vote in your district is polled. If any of your Democratic neighbors are absent from the election ground, go to their homes, and reason the matter with them, urge on them the necessity of their not only voting but lending their influence also to upholding the cause of right. If on next Tuesday the Democracy act thus, they will be rewarded by a brilliant and never to be forgotten victory. Our opponents are carrying on the contest with energy and vigor. They are lavish of both time and money, and will leave no means untried to secure success. Democrats will allow them through your indulgence and indifference to triumph, when you can confidently boast of at least seven hundred of a majority over them, if the entire vote of your Party is polled? Remember that the battle is not always to the strong—but to the firm, the vigilant and the active. The ticket which is presented to the Democracy of Cambria for their support, at the approaching election, is composed of a portion of the very best men in the county. Our candidate for Assembly, Cyrus L. Pershing, Esq., is one whom the tongue of calumny dare not assail. His private character and political record are alike spotless. His abilities too, are of the highest order, and thoroughly developed by an excellent education. If elected, as a Legislator, he will be a sleepless and vigilant guardian of the rights and interests of his constituents, and our noble old Commonwealth. He will not be found among that class of Representatives who are ever ready to contaminate their "fingers with base bribes," and vote for a measure, however corrupt and injurious to the people, if well paid for so doing. The conduct of the last Legislature is a good illustration of the beauties of Black Republicanism—surpassed only by the rotten clothing, wooden soled shoes and stinking beef contracts of Governor Curtin, for equipping and feeding our gallant volunteers. That body, almost unanimously Republican, was so recreant to the trust confided to it, that many of the most influential of the newspapers of that party in this State, denounced it as the most venal and corrupt Legislature that ever disgraced the Continent of America. It is the reins of Government in Pennsylvania should once more be in the hands of the Democracy. This alone will save her from infamy among her sister States, bankruptcy and ruin. Democrats of Cambria, do your part towards redeeming the House of Representatives from the grasp of Black Republican misrule, by electing on next Tuesday your candidate—the talented, firm and incorruptible Pershing. To John Buck, our candidate for Sheriff, we feel confident every Democrat in the County will extend a cheerful support. He is an honest, intelligent reliable and energetic man. He commands in a remarkable degree the esteem and confidence of his neighbors, and all who know him concede that he is the very kind of a man to make a model Sheriff. He has always been a working Democrat. Vote for him, and elect him by an old fashioned majority. It is unnecessary for us to say anything to the people of Cambria in praise of Thomas Callan, our candidate for County Treasurer. His name, wherever he is known, is synonymous with honesty and probity of character.

Both north and south of the county will testify their appreciation of his worth as a man, and his fidelity as a Democrat, by rolling up a vote in his favor that will astonish Barker and his deputy editors. As Mr. Barker remarked in a stump speech on a certain memorable occasion, "O yes! as it were, and as I said before, won't they be astonished when they see it?" In nominating Peter J. Little for Commissioner, the County Convention made an excellent selection. He is emphatically the man for the times, and if elected will make a popular and influential officer. The Republicans boast that theirs is a better Union Ticket than ours. This is untrue.—There is not a man on our ticket, who does not love the Union, with all the sincerity and fervor of a true patriot. The Republicans have not a man on their ticket, who can furnish such evidence of devotion to the Union in this dark crisis, as Hon. Geo. W. Easley, one of our candidates for Associate Judges. He has testified to his patriotism, by deeds and not by words; not like A. A. Barker & Co., by denouncing at street corners his loyal neighbors as secessionists, but by buckling on his sword, the moment the President called for volunteers to guard the National Capitol. He raised and led a company of volunteers to the seat of war immediately and served with them until regularly discharged, under the three months requisition. This he did, although he had passed the meridian of life, and was much older, than many of the stay at home patriots we wot of, who have been so active in urging others to volunteer, but who never seemed to think of volunteering themselves. And yet A. A. Barker and his sub editors of the Alleghenian, tell us, that Messrs. Parsis and Evans are better Union men than Judge Easley. People of Cambria, do you believe that this is true. Record your answer at the ballot box on next Tuesday. He is a man of the strictest integrity, and has during the last five years, filled the office for which he is now a candidate, with ability and fidelity. He richly merits the compliment of a re-election. H. C. Devine, his colleague on the ticket has always been deservedly popular with the Democracy. He has "done the party some service," as an editor in days gone by, and merits the enthusiastic support of its members. If elected, he will make an excellent Judge. Democrats, rally to his support, and secure his triumphant election. George Delany, our candidate for Poor House Director, is emphatically "an honest man, the noblest work of God." He possesses all the qualifications necessary to make a careful, economical and at the same time a humane officer. There is no better man on the ticket. Vote for him. E. R. Donnegan, our candidate for Auditor, is a son of the gallant and ever faithful township of Clearfield, and she has just reason to be proud of him. He is one of the most talented and promising young men of our County, and has always been a true Democrat. He is an excellent accountant, and well qualified for the important office of Auditor. His election we set down as a certainty. Such, fellow Democrats is the ticket that is presented to you for your suffrages on next Tuesday. Is it not worthy of your united support. If you so will, you can elect it without any difficulty. We say then, "Once more unto the breach, Dear friends come more!" Vote the whole ticket. Let there be no scotchling of any candidate. Let your motto be— "The ticket, the whole ticket and nothing but the ticket." What can any Democrat gain by voting for all or a portion of the Republican ticket. It is composed of men, all of whom are the enemies of our party and its principles. If elected they would wield all their power and influence in office, to break down the Democratic party, and make Republicanism a "permanent institution" in little Cambria.—What can you gain, by enabling Daniel J. Morrell and A. A. Barker, to insolently boast that they have completely revolutionized little Cambria, and changed it from a Democratic to a Republican County? They charge you with being traitors, and secessionists, merely because you are Democrats. To sustain them and their ticket under the circumstance would be like "licking the hand that spurs you, and the foot that kicks." Stand by your party and its ticket. By doing so, you will perform your whole duty as patriots and friends of the Union. County Commissioner. We heard a prominent Republican leader state the other day, that his party had abandoned all hope of electing their County ticket, with the exception of County Commissioner. They intended, he said, to make a desperate effort to elect James Conrad their candidate for that office. They want to get control of the County board. As they have already one member, the election of another this fall, would secure them a majority. This matter therefore merits the serious attention of every Democrat in the County. Mr. Conrad is a very decent and quiet sort of a man, but one of the most bitter partisans in the County. We do not believe that any consideration that could be possibly named, would induce him to vote for a Democrat. Why then should Democrats vote for him? After the dissolution of the Whig Party, he acted with the Know Nothings or Americans, and when the Republican party was organized became one of its most active and working members. He has always, we repeat, as a politician, been bitterly hostile to Democratic men and measures, and has, therefore, no claims on the elements of our party. If any Democrat should, on next Tuesday, vote for him, he will forever thereafter have to reproach himself, with having voted for the most uncompromising enemy of his party in the County. In saying this we mean no disparagement to Mr. Conrad, as a man or a citizen. We speak of him merely as a politician. Mr. Little our candidate, is a man of strong practical common sense, a good Democrat, an excellent business man, and possesses all the qualifications both in point of integrity and ability, necessary to make an excellent Commissioner. He was fairly nominated, and will, we know, receive the united support of the party. The boasting Republican to whom we alluded at the beginning of this article, will find himself woefully mistaken in his calculations, the morning after the election. No Democrat in the present crisis will desert a meritorious nominee of his party, in order to vote for an ultra and rabid Black Republican like James Conrad. Sustaining Mr. Lincoln. Barker & Co., tell us, that it is the duty of all true patriots to sustain the National Administration, right or wrong, and that the man who finds fault with any of its measures is a secessionist. If this be so, then the worst secessionists in the country, are Republican editors. While we have been defending Lincoln's Fremont letter, almost every Republican paper in the land, has been engaged in maligning him for writing that letter. Take the following from the Pittsburgh Dispatch, the leading Republican Journal in Western Pennsylvania. The Press from which it quotes, is edited by the Republican clerk of the U. S. Senate, now strongly Republican. If the following had appeared originally in the Democrat & Sentinel, it would be pronounced the very essence of treason.— But as it appeared in a Republican sheet, it is of course all right and patriotic. Read carefully Mr. Barker. We are sure that secessionists not only your sentiments exactly, but those of every Lloyd Garrison Abolitionist, in the land. "The Bull's Run affair has been reported and worse than reported, in discrepancy, in Missouri, and that too, solely on account of the impudence of our army in that State. Yet Fremont is called upon, and is actually making forward troops to the capital, and our Eastern cities are teeming with unemployed, able bodied young men, who refuse to come forward in defense of their country. This thing is a mystery to all who are here.— The very States whose representatives in Congress were the most ready to vote the President an array of 500,000 men, have not sent in their quota of men for an army of equal half that size. Massachusetts is offering 50,000 men, and with that amount only 10,000 men's equipment is filling up slowly. With a month, and other Northern States are way backward in sending forward men, and the indications are not at all favorable for a full army at an early day without a draft, or at least from some of the States." The above is certainly far from complimentary to President Lincoln and his cabinet, for if anything is wrong in this matter, they are the parties who are responsible. Is there no danger in fort Lafayette for Republican editors who assail malign and embarrass the Government? We hope not. They should not be deprived of their personal liberty for speaking their sentiments like freedom.

THE CHURCHMAN or MASSACHUSETTS.—Among the special delights which so richly repaid our visit to New England, was the inspection it was our privilege to make of Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co's Laboratory, at Lowell. Although we know by hearsay that it was large, yet we were surprised when we came into view of its real magnitude, and still more by the extent and complication of its truly immense business. The whole massive structure is in fact one vast chemical laboratory, in which the processes of the wonderful art are constantly going on. Most of the chemical science has found that the elastic property of any substance exists in a greater or more of its component parts. Thus the elasticity of iron consists in the ability of the molecule it contains, although this is for one-eighth part of its weight; the other seven parts are gun, extractive and inert or offensive matter. Dr. Ayer's system separates the elastic properties of each substance employed, and we are here shown the processes by which the elastic of each chemical agent are chased through the alchemical until they come out completely pure as gas. These concentrated purified medical properties, or virtues, are finally combined together to produce the remedial which have made themselves a reputation for medicinal excellence all over the world. Not only drugs, but also certain artificial mineral waters, are made or given to us, and every particle of each is made up of its own kind, but by a machinery which the people can hardly imagine. It is a possible remedy for the rheumatic disease.—The formula by which these remedies are made are published in the medical journals and are presented to a large part of the medical Faculty of the United States and are generally sent by mail, such people as apply for them, Dr. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
