

SETT LEMENTS OF CLAIMS DUE ON BEHALF OF DEAD SOLDIERS.

The following circular, of very general interest, has tately been issued from the Treasury Department: -

To enable those who may have claims on the United States for money due deceased officers and soldiers, on account of military services rendered, whether in the federal or volunteer service' to obtain the same with the least delay the following information is furpished:-

ORDER OF PAYMENT.

payment will be made first to the widow; second, if no widow, to his child or children; if miners to the guardian Order Second .- If he died unmarried, first to the father, if the father is dead, to the mother; if both parents are dead, to the brothers | Wise was in full retreat, and consequently it and sisters collectively; lastly, to the beirs in was buried to keep it from falling into the general.

APPLICATION, PROOF AND AUTHENTICATION.

Application .- The claimant or claimants must make a written application, under oath, and over his ber, or their own signature, stating his her, or their own name, age residence, connection with the deceased, with the letter or name of the captain of the company or regiment to which he belonged, time of his death and the nature of the pay claimed, whether arrears of pay, and one hundred dollars bounty, under the act of July 22, 1861, or three months extra pay, under the act of July 19, 1861.

Proof -To satisfy the accounting officers that the person or persons thus claming is or are entitled to the money, in the character he she, or they claim, the depositions of two credible witnesses will be repaired, stating that they are acquainted with the claimants, the connections held to the deceased, and that the deponents are disinterested.

Authentication -The application and depositions above are to be required to be subcribed and sworn before a Judge, Commissioner, Notary Public, or Justice of the Peace. duly authorized to administer oaths, accompanied by the certificate and seal of a Court of Record, as to the fact of the said Judge being duly commissioned, and acting in his official capacity at the time of the execution of the foregoing papers. Proof of marriage, record evidence if possible, must always accommpany applications of those claiming to be widows.

Iu all cases where the soldier has been discharged, the captain's discriptive certificate must be forwarded to this office, or its absence satisfactorily accounted for.

The certificate of an officer of the army as to the soldier's idenity, in addition to his own affidavit, will be deemed sufficient. Where the certificate of such officer can be procured, the tesimony of two credible disinterested witnesses must be adduced, as in the case of deceased soldiers.

MODE OF PAYMENT.

Payments will be made by an order from the accounting officers on any Paymaster of the army. Such order will require the signature of the claimant on its face before it will be paid

MODE OF PRESENTING CLAIMS.

All claimants wishing to obtain information, or to present claims, can communicate with this office by mail, and will receive as speedy a reply as the business of the office will allow. POSTAGE.

The Government pays all postages on such communications, whether received or trans mitted by this office.

A compliance with the above rules will ensure prompt settlement of all claims without unnecessary delay Address Ezra B. French. Second Auditor of the Treasury Department, Washington City D. C.

A ZOUAVE LETTER.

The following is worthy of the pen of the original Doesticks, and is a pretty good "take off., on telegraph reports: - 'I've just returned from witnessing one of the most mournful sights that ever made man feel as though he had been pealing ontons all the week and grating horse radish on Sunday. It was the dying scene of one of the Pet. Lamme's down t own at Alexandria, and as one of the Five's chaps remarked, it was enough to make the eye of darning needle weep. Jim was the name of sufferer-if he ever had any other it had slipped bis memory -though his affectionate relatives sometimes called him 'Shorty.' He was out on picket guard when the Southern Confederacy attempted to pass him. He chalenged the intruder and called to his comrades for help, but before the latter arrived, the Southern Confederacy drew a masked battery from his pocket, and fired six heavy balls through the head of the unfortunate Zouave' nearly fracturing his scull, and breaking several panes of glass The cowardly miscreant then fled to an adjoining fence, closely pursued by Sherman's battery.

"Upon discovering that he was wounded Mr. Shorty examined the cap on his musket and stood it carefully against a tree, buttoned up the jacket to the neck, and asked his comrades for a chew of tobacco. To full of emotion to speak the gentlemanly comrade handed a plug of tobacco to the dying man, who cut off about a half an ounce from it, placed it thoughtfully in his mouth, and then stuffed rounnenced to smoke it, at the same time giv- will be about twenty-five thousand men.

ing us a history of his lite and career. Aftee finishing the pipe and history, he asked us to wrap bim up in the American flag, and died. "P. S .- Sines writing the above I have heard that no such occurence took place at Alexandria. The alarm was occasioned by the falling of a bundle of hay is the officers quarters - the noise having been mistaken for artillery. I have since learned that no such an accident has occured, and that Shorty did not come with the regiment, but remained in New York"

A REBEL IMPLEMENT OF WARFARE -The Cincinnata Gazette says that a few days ago Col. Guthrie of the First Kentucky regiment, now commanding at Charleston Va., learning that a revolving cannon, invented by two men named Woods of the rebel army, was secreted somewhere in the town of Malden, a little place about six miles above Charleston, caused a vigorous search to be made for it, and succeeded in unearthing it. He embraced the first opportunity of forwarding it to Cincin-Order First - If the deceased was married, | nati, and it is now in Collector Carson's office in the Custom House. It is impossible to give a satisfactory description of the gun, for the reason that it is in an unfinished condition, and also some of the pieces have been lost. The workmen bad not time to finish it before hands of the Union troops. We may say, however, that it is composed chiefly of sixteen short cylinders, each containing twelve chambers, and that is desinged to throw onnee balis through rifled barrels about eighteen inches long. It seems to be worked by a lever similar to that of a locomotive. At each discharge it would throw one-hundred and ninety-two balls. If the principle upon which it is constructed be correct, we see no reason why one might not be built that would throw five-hundred, or even a thousand balls. Col. Tom-Point, pronounced it one of the most destructive engines of war ever designed. Col Guthrie, thinking that "there might be some thing in it" and believing there is ingenuity enough in Cincinnati to find out what that something is, requests that it be delivered to iron worker, for examination. We shall most probably learn whether it is a valuable arm, or simply "a weak invention of the enemy.

> HOW THE ENEMY GET INFORANTION .- Col Forney writes from Washington to the Phila.

· It is the frequent boast of the Southern traitors that every movement of our armies is immediately made known to them, that the free States abound with their spies, who, under the cloub of loyal professions, obtain possession of the confidence of the Union men, which they use and abuse without hesitation. Washington city is the very nest of these vermin. They are often the very loudest shout hosannas for the Union; but let a battle be lost to the American flag, and they can hardly restrain their joy. The female secessionists who shelter themselves behind the immunities and privileges of their sex, delight every kind of demonstration against the government, and are only dangerous when they irritate their lords and musters by pretending to sympathize with the cause of the country. Then they become the efficient and vigilant auxilaries of Davis and his crew. It is believed here that, immediately after the movement at Munson's Hill had been described on by the military an thorities and Cabinet, information was conveyed to the rebel troops across the Potomac. and upon this admonition they retreated without the loss of a man."

MORE MEN NEEDED.

The Philadelphia ' Ledger" says that every Northern man wishes to see McClellan advance without delay against the rebels, but as vet he cannot do it for want of men. If he were willing to expose his men to unreasonable hazard by advancing with an inadequate force. the case would be different, but until he has such a number he must wait What greater inducement can be offered for enlisments than this? Here is the best General in America at the head of an imposing force, requiring only a comparatively small number of additional hordes and scatter their armies never to be reunited. The battle that is to be soon fought will be remembered centuries hence as a decisive epoch in the history of the world, and there will be no prouder boast than to have been present when McClellan struck down the great army of the rebels. That army is now decimated by sickness, distracted by reports of expeditions directed at the weak points of Something for the Times!! all tastes and all purses. with neatness add dispatch. their own neighborhoods, and weakened by dissensions and heart burnings between the A Hebbooll II LVLL Hold III men of different States. Now is the time to strengthen the General's hand, that he may strike it -The man who has organized a demoralized mob" into a brave and resolute army, who taught them confidence, first in him and then in themselves, under him is the man to take them to Richmond in good time, and further. Then let him bave the requisite force at the earliest possible moment.

-- A frightful stampede of cavalry horses took place at St Charles Mo., on the third inst .- It appears that Col. A GRAND ARMY FOR THE WEST .- It is dehis hankerchief in the hole in his head made cided by the Government to push sixty-nine by the shot. Is any of my brains hanging thousand Eastern troops into the West-the out? he asked of his comrade. 'No Shorty, half through Kentucky and the other into answered the other bursting into tears, 'you Missouri. Those, with the Western troops never had any to hang out.
