HE CONDEMNS HIMSELF.

Our neighbor of the Alleghanian argues, that inasmuch as John C. Breckinridge, whom we supported for the Presidency in 1860, has recently become a secessionist, we are a secessionist also. Now it is plain he does not see the distinction between measures and men. While man is but the creature of a day, principles are eternal. Men may change, but principles never, Theirs are the eternal years of God. The Democratic party is an organization of well defined and clearly ascertained principles. While John C. Breckenridge or any other man continues to uphold these principles, he is a member of the Democratic party-when he ceases to do so, he is its enemy, and consequently has no longer any part or lot with it. Thus it is plain, that a man might by his course, entitle himself to be regarded as a reliable Democrat in 1860, and be its avowed enemy in 1861. For our part, we never pin our political faith to the coat tail of any politician or statesman, however distinguished he may be. We go where Democratic principles point the way-when they cease to lead we tebank, who pretends to edit the .Alleghanian is certainly not so stupid, as not to know that the secession doctrine was not incorporated into the which put forward candidates for the Presidency last year. It was not made one of the issues of the campaign. In fact it was not brought forward and publicly discussed in any Lincoln was announced. lished of the whole affair !"

Another Letter from Old Abe. WASHINGTON CHTY, Nov, 18th 1861.

Friend Charley .- Many thanks to you for your very kind letter. Its perusal afforded me both pleasure and amusement, and I intend profiting by some of your suggestions in preparing my message. I think, however, you go a little too far, when you advise me to renounce Black Republicansim altogether, and become a Demo-York, and 10 State street, Boston, are the au-thorized Agents for the "DEMOCRAT & SENTI-thorized Agents for the "DEMOCRAT & SENTIfor a shilling. You know I was elected by the Abolitionists, and it would'nt therefore look well to cut their acquaintance altogether. I must consequently, keep up a show of friendship towards them at least, It is true in my present position, I : esemble the Ass between two bundles of hay, which starved to death while hesitating as to which he should attack first, the inducements being clearly equal on both sides. The best plan now a days, I think, for a President to get along smoothly, is to carry water on both shoulders, or in other words, to please both parties if you can But it don't always happen that he can do that, as I have found out to my sorrow.

The future of our Country.

Our army and navy did a good thing when they bombarded and took Port Royal in the pesky State of South Carolina. Bill Seward and blow will bring the seceshers to their senses, and that they all will lay down their arms and beg for quarters in less than three months. As Seward and Simon can both see as far into a milistone as the next man, I entertain no doubt that we may look for peace about the first of next March. At least let us hope so. There is no harm in hoping for the best, if at the same time we prepare for the worst. I think t hings would go on right, and the secession cause s, on begin to loose ground in the Southern States, (for there are thousands of true Union men in the South.)if the Abolitionists would only keep quiet. But it is worse than vain to hope for that. " Arm the slaves and burn Charleston" is now their cry .-Now Charley, you know that this kind of talk will never do. The niggers in my opinion have, or at least ought not to have any hing to do with this war, and if we cannot put down this rebellion and save the Union without their assistance, have been successful in getting very unexpectedwe'd better quit. And what good would come Iy to the top of the heap; but I was a great of liberating the cussed darkeys? Our forefathers in their Declaration of Independence complained that king George had sent swarms of offi subscribing for three publications-the Democrat and Sentinel for myself, Godey's Lady's Book for Mrs. Abe, and the New York Ledger for my promising son Bob. I was truly surprised at hearing that Barker had become editor of the Alleghanian. Well, that is truly the best joke of the season. I know, Charley, something about last are still missing. his litea ry abilities I aving received several letters from him, and honesely, between you and I, would not trust him to write an advertisement for a stray Bull. But I understand the whole arrangement. Alick Mullin got ashamed of the concern, and Barker had egotism enough to agree to father his literary bandlings-for and in consideration of which the aforesaid Barker agreed to use his influence to secure the election of the aforesaid Mullin to the office of State Treasurer next winter. Of course Mullin will reciprocate next summer, by doing all he can to elect Barker to the important office of Congressman for your district. Good Lord ! Barker in Congress !--A bull in a china shop is doubtless bad enough, but it would be nothing to Barker in Congress. ed.

There is no limit to the man's egotism. Why he wouldn't even make a respectable Justice of the Peace. He has just enough sense to be a crazy Abolitionist, but not enough to be a pure patriot. He bores me with a long conversation every time he comes to Washington. He actually the last time he was here, asked me to introduce him to Mrs. Abe, and I sent in Bob to tell her to manifest herself. She excused herself on the ground that it was washing day with her and she wasn't therefore fit to be seen. Barker walked off looking rather huffy. I suppose he thought I was afraid to bt my wife see him, for fear she'd fall in love with him. Handsome men always have a very exalted opinion of themselves. What a glorious time we'll have when he gets to Congress, and what eloquent speeches he will deliver! "Yea, as it were, as I said before," won't the King's English be barborously murdered .-Truly if ignorance be bliss, then Barker must be the happiest man living.

Old Abe Weary of Playing President.

Charley, this thing of playing President ain't what it's cracked up to be. You doubtless think me a happy and fortunate man, because I deal happier when courting Mrs. Abe, then a bright and rosy cheeked girl, in the humble log dwelling of her father, than I was in the magnificent parlor of the White House last night. while bright the lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men."
